Protection and Allegiance.

That it is the dary of every Government to protect its loyal citizens, to the extent of its power, is a proposition too palpably self-evident for argument. The principle is recognized and enforced alike in international and municipal law. It is a fundamental axiom, imbedded deep in the bed-rock of every organized society. Courts are organized to enforce, for you :- Democracy steeped in Treason, unpencefully, its universally recognized obligaof faction, or the temporary triumples of military mobs, the power of the sword is invoked to restore public tranquility, and to

Torontso Incinest .- A correspondent of the San Francisco Alta writing from New lowing patriotic and touching incident :

But I must mention a little incident that occurred to-day, when our army was drawn up in line of battle. McClellan rode along the lines, and such deafening cheers were the lines, and such deafening cheers were GROCERIES, PROVISIONS tallion to battallion, with his head uncovered. he looked like Mars, holding in his hand the LIQUORS, thunderbolt of war, and the smile which played so honest'y upon his radiant face, gave prophetic assurance to his valiant troops, who looked and left worship as he passed. As he Hardware, rode by the 12th New York, he noticed that their flag was riddled by bullets. He neared it, and taking a fold of it within his grasp, he pressed it to his lips. Then rose to heaven's very arch the sublimest shout that ever broke Lining Tools. upon the sur of man, and cheer after cheer followed with an intensity of enthusiasm totally indescribable.

But hark ! he speaks -a deathless stillness reigns: "Brave boys, you have fought well, and every man of you is a hero. We are all right yet, and I'll soon have you out of this and, and in better quarters." Again cheers greated him as he passed down the line. " Little Mac" is all right yet; and knows what he is about. I am content ; our river communientions are ample, supplies will be abundant, and reinforcements are to arrive within fortyeight hours, of 120,000 men. Then with our great water base, and our wings and center complete, we shall again advance to the grand consumation of our campaign. I don't know what the papers say : but I suppose there will the a diversity of opinion, with regard to Me-Clellan's change of position. Some will es.
