PORTE CRAYON.—The Wheeling Intelligencer, in notice of Governer Pierpont's recent visit to Washington, makes mention of Lieutenant Strother, better known to the reading World as Porte Crayon."

At Washington Governor Pierpont met with the famous Porte Crayon—a loyal Virginian of the strictest and straightest sect. He is serving on General Banks' staff, and is one of the most thorough and unconditional fighting men of the war. He entertained the Governor's company with some fine sketches of Virginia history and life—not such as he used to embody in his sketches for Harper, fine as they were, but with solid, practical, statesmanlike portraitures. He is devoted to Virginia, and especially to the idea of her regeneration. He believes in her capacity for a newness of life beyond that of any other State in the Union, provided only that the old corroding and withering policy of the past can be forever broken in this war. Said he, at the close of one of his conversations: "I have traveled in every civilized country in the world, and I have been in every State in this Union. I know what their capacities are for the sustenance of population, for the accumulation of wealth, the enjoyment of health, the beauties of nature, the development of art, science, and industry, and enterprise of every possible sort, and I tell you that Virginia as she could be, and as she will be, exceeds them all—immeasurably exceeds them. But we have labored under under a curse from the dawn of our existence. As a State we have talked politics—wrote politics—dreamed politics—sublimated politics—abstractionized politics—just as John Smith's men at Jamestown "dug gold, washed gold, refined gold and shipped gold," and starved at last, because their gold was not gold, but only counterfeit trash. So with us. We have politicalized the life and marrow and fatness and capacity of the State away, and depended all the while on the nigger to make a living for us, and to achieve the work that none but Anglo Saxons can achieve. All this is changing at race horse speed, said he, and the change will soon be complete, despite all the cries of nigger! nigger! in the mouth of blatant Secession sympathizers, and out of the change will come forth, like pure gold from the fiery ordeal, a great State, ready for a great future.

WHY THE SIX DAYS' CONTESTS WERE VICTORIES.—Says the Washington Star, of 8th July: Newspapers having already mentioned that Gen. Andrew Porter, Provost Marshal General of the Army of the Potomac, and also General Marcy, chief of Gen. McClellan's staff, have recently been here, we may no longer restrain from noticing the fact, more especially as it enables us to state that they concur in the belief that the seven [six] days' battles were a succession of substantial Union victories, inasmuch as they resulted—

1st. In the successful achievement of the purpose of McClellan, viz: so to change his base as to secure the co-operation of the gunboats.

2d. In the defeat of the two ends aimed to be accomplished by the enemy, viz: the prevention of McClellan's move for the James river basin, and securing our immense supplies at the White House.

3d. In the fact that the rebel loss in killed, wounded, prisoners, and men otherwise put hors du combat, was, at the very lowest calculation, two for one of our side.

4th. In the fact that the rebels' loss of arms and expenditure of munitions cannot be replaced, while ours can, instantly almost.

5th. In the relative condition in which the battles left the sick and wounded of the two contending forces. Our wounded and sick are all being admirably provided for, while theirs are dying like rotten sheep, through their entire lack of any and every description of hospital stores and supplies, and thus creating a state of things in and around Richmond appalling to the whole South.

We may add that the general officers named above unite in declaring that it is not true that the enemy captured a single one of McClellan's siege guns, or any munitions or stores to speak of. On the contrary, while they lost more field artillery than they took from us, they got nothing worth notice in the way of supplies of any description as an equivalent.

Reflecting men will see in these facts proof that our army has, indeed, substantial reasons for regarding, as they certainly do, the seven days' battles as a series of Union victories.

THE PRE-ADAMITE EARTH.—The discoveries of modern geology show conclusively that the luxuriance of the animal and vegetable kingdoms was most surprising during the long ages preceding the advent of man. The trees in those vast forest, of which our coal beds are the remains, could not have been less than three or four hundred feet in height and proportionately large, and they must have grown with far greater rapidity than any vegetation of our own times. It is believed that there were fishes in the sea hundreds of feet in length and ten times larger than the largest whale; and that there were land animals of such gigantic proportions that an elephant would seem but a mere insect in comparison with them. All researches among the fossils of extinct species demonstrate that the animals of the ancient world were of the most tremendous description, bulky monsters in the luxurious wilderness of vegetation; and that the fabled dragons of antiquity were in reality outdone by the colossal beasts and reptiles of the pre-Adamite world.—Helmsley's Researches in Primeval History.

THE Circuit Court of New York have been engaged in hearing a divorce case, brought by a mother to dissolve the marriage of her son, on the ground that he was insane at the time of his marriage. A crusty old batchelor at our elbow trusts that the plea will not be granted, as he believed it would separate half the young couples in the country.

WE have all read of the scare-crow which was so frightful that the crows, on beholding it, went and brought back the corn they had previously stolen. We wish that something like it could be set up before the eyes of the Treasury thieves.

Of all diseases, the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

Suffer Not! When a Cure is Guaranteed in all Stages of Secret Diseases.

Self-abuse, Nervous Debility, Strictures, Gleets, Gravel, Diabetes, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, Diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus' Dance, and all Diseases arising from a derangement of the Sexual Organs.

SUCH as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, loss of sight, wakefulness, dyspepsia, liver disease, eruption upon the face, pain in the back and head, female irregularities, and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure. The medicine prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or poison. During fifteen years of practice, in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted who may place themselves under my care, a perfect and speedy cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected, a majority of the cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption.

But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, corruptions, and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a belief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy of health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system, drawing its thousands of victims, through a few years of suffering, down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption, and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence, I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patient can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities, and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice, and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures. Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of the State, Oregon and Washington Territory, to patients communicating their symptoms by letter. Business correspondence strictly confidential.
