The Draft in Baldinsville. BY ARTEMUS WARD.

If I am drafted I shall RESIGN. Deeply grateful for the unexpected honor thus conferred upon me, I shall feel compelled to resign the position in favor of some more worthy person. Modesty is what ails me. That's what kept me under,

I meanter' say, I shall have to resign if I am drafted everywhears I've been inrolld. 1 must now, forrinstus, be inrold in upwarnds of 200 different towns. If I'd kept teaselin I should have eventooally becum a brigade. In which case I could have held a meetin' and elected myself a Bregadeer-gin'ral spaite onanimiss. I had no idea there was so many of me before. But, serisly, I concluded to stop exhibitin' and make tracks for Baldinsville.

My only dawter threw herself onto my boosum and said, "It is me, father ! ]

She reads the New York Ledger. " Tip us your bunch of fives, old faker." said Artemus Jr. He reads the New York Clipper.

My wife was to the sewin' circle. I Foroign & Domostio knew she and the wimin folks were lavin' a pleasand time slanderin the females of the other sowin' circle (which likewise met Wines, Syrups & Cordials, that afternoon, and was doubtless enjoyin' themselves ekally well in slanderin' the first named circle), an' I didn't send for her. I allers like to see people enjoy their selves. My son Orgustus was playin' onto a floot.

Orgustus is an otherial cuss. The twine was bildin' cob-houses in the corner of the kitchen.

It'll cost some postage stamps to raise this family, and yet it 'nd go hard with the old man to lose any lamb of the flock.

An old batchelor is a poor critter. He may have learn the skylark or (what's nearly the same thing) Miss Kellogg and Carlotty Patti sing ; he may have hearn old Ball fiddle, and all the Dadsworths toot, an' yet he don't know nothin about music—the real genuine thing—the music of the laughter of happy, well fed children! And you may ax the father of such children home to dinner, feelin' very sure there will be no spoons missen' when he goes away. Sich fathers never drop tin five

The happy married mun dies in good stile at home, surrounded by his weepin' wife and children. The old batchelor don't die at all-he sort of rots away, like a pollywog's tail. My townsmen was sort of demorolized. There was a evident desire to ewade the draft, as I obsarved with sorrer, and patriotism was below Par-and Mar, too. [A jew desprit.] I had't no sooner sot down on the piazzy of the hotel than I saw sixteen solitary hossmen ridin four abreast, General Freemont's there. The editor of the Bagle Horn of Liberty here arose and said : " I do not wish to interrupt the gentleman, but a important dispatch has just been received at the telegraph office here. I will read it. It is as follows : ' Gov'ment is about to take vigorous measures to put down the rebellion.!"

[Loud appplause.] That, said I, is cheerin'. That's soothin'. And Washington will be safe. [Sensation.] Philadelphia is safe. General Patterson is in Philadelphia. But my heart bleeds patrioticly for Washington. My wife says so too.

There is money enough. No trouble bout money. They've got a lot of first class bank note engravers at Washington (which place I regret to say is by no means safe) who turn out two or three cords of money a day-good money, too. Goes well. These bank note engravers make good wages. I expect they lay up prop-erty. They are full of Union sentiment. There is considerable Union sentiment in Virginny, more specially among the honest farmers of the Sheaandoah Valley. My wife says so, too.

Then it isn't money we want. But we "What's the matter with the eminent over the head with slung shots, and stabin' putter was afterwards killed. physician ?" I pleasantly inquired. "Phis," he said ; " this is what's the em qualk. We must introduce a large

She said she and her chikiren had come to plead for her husband's exemption from the draft on account of physical disability. The commissioneer bashfully suggested that her large family was not very good evidence of disability, and declined to grant her request.
