BILL H— took his jug to the shop and asked for a gallon of whiskey. He gave his promise to pay for it on the spot. The jug was not empty, Bill stating that he had already bought a quart, but wished the concern filled as full as it could hold. When the gallon was poured into the jug the money was not poured out of Bill's pocket, for the latter was as empty as the former was full. Promises were not received, and the grocer poured the gallon back again into the measure, leaving Bill to trudge off with his quart of rum, not much worse for the little water with which it was diluted. The grocer's gallon was a little weaker, but Bill's quart had become a great deal stronger.

SINGULAR SHOT.—At the Washington Navy Yard recently, an experiment was made with a ten inch Dahlgren (smooth bore) gun. A solid shot weighing one hundred and thirty pounds, was thrown at an iron clad target, at a distance of five hundred yards, perforating the iron plating four inches thick, as also ten inch oak plank, passing out the other side. The plank was torn into fragments, one piece flying backward into the joiner's shop, two hundred yards in the rear of the gun, and seven hundred from the target.

If you want a pair of boots to last four years, melt and mix two ounces of rosin and four ounces of mutton tallow; apply the mixture while warm; rub it in well; put the boots in a closet, and—go barefoot.
