

Semi-Weekly Sentinel.

"I wonder what is coming next," said Mrs. Partington, in surprise, as she laid down the paper. He looked up from the floor, where he was making a siege battery out of the old lady's lignum vitae mortar, with the question: "What's broke?"

Some amusing things occur even in the midst of the roar of battle. When the tide of battle was turned, on the 31st ultimo, and the Rebels were being driven over the same ground where they had driven our men, a wounded Rebel, with a ball through leg, set up against a tree with few contents of water in his hand, and smilingly saluted Dave Lalande, of Chicago, (of the Forty-second), as that regiment was charging by. Said he: "Good mornin', boys; how'd ye do? This is regular hell, ain't it?"

A good anecdote is related of a well-known vagabond who was brought before a magistrate as a common vagrant. Having harpooned a good idea, he pulled from a capacious pocket of a tattered coat a loaf of bread and half a dried codfish, and holding them up with a triumphant gesture to the magistrate exclaimed:—"You don't catch me that way—I'm no vagrant! Ain't them visible means of support, I should like to know?"

McClellan's Peninsula Campaign.—A Washington letter of February 16th to an Eastern paper says Senator Wilson stated in debate in answer to a question addressed to him as Chairman of the Military Committee, that the report of General McClellan on the Peninsula campaign will soon be made public.

How the Fort Donelson Victory was Won.—The late victory at Fort Donelson was won, it now appears, by the gunboats, which reached the scene of action and commenced throwing shells among the rebels after our forces had been entirely surrounded by the enemy. Our men had their last round of artillery ammunition in the guns when the gunboats arrived.

"In a word or two will render a man happy," said a Frenchman, "he must be a wretch indeed, who will not give it. It is like lighting another man's candle with your own, which loses none of its brilliancy by what the other gains." If all men acted upon that principle, the world would be much happier than it is.

A new no-cracker has just been patented. It is so contrived as to crack jokes along with nuts. A very liberal discount will be allowed to extremely depressed persons ordering large quantities.

"Take what did the Israelites do when they crossed the Red Sea?" "I don't know ma'ma, but I guess dried themselves."

WILLAMETTE RIVER STEAMBOATS!

THE UNION TRANSPORTATION COMPANY have a first class Stern Wheel Steamboat leaving Corvallis every Tuesday and Friday at 1 o'clock, p. m., arriving at Portland at 4 o'clock, p. m., next day. We have also an irregular boat running above Corvallis, which passes down every week, giving three departures every week from Corvallis for Portland.

For any further information, address THEO. MYGANT, Sec'y Union Transp. Co., Oregon City, Feb. 25, 1863.

To the Traveling Public.

THE undersigned has established a FERRY Across the North Umpqua River, about one mile below the old Wheelmaster Ferry. The boat is large and safe, and is in good running order. This ferry is located on the west road, leading from Roseburg to Willabar. The main object of this road is to shorten the stage road on the old road, so much decayed during the rainy season, and which is impassible during several months in the year. This is warranted to be a good and practical road, or no ferrage will be charged. The route being new, the grass is good for loose stock and pack animals.
