

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSIBLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.
WEDNESDAY EVENING, - APRIL 8, 1863.

The April Term of the County Court, sitting for civil purposes, adjourned yesterday.

Portland and Oregon City are now connected by telegraph.

An affray between two Germans, named Burger and Englemann, near Canyon city, resulted in the killing of the former by the latter. Deceased formerly lived in Yreka.

Governor Briggs, Receiver of the Land Office at Roseburg, honored us with a visit on Monday last. On Tuesday morning he left this place for San Francisco.

STARTED.—On Monday last quite a number of men started from Phoenix, to the northern gold-fields—some by way of Rogue River, across the mountains, others by way of Portland.

FISH.—Harry Buckingham has been supplying our town-folks with mountain trout, from the pure and pellucid waters of Squaw Lake. He reports the Cohogs, Bandicoots and Gorillas in that region as wonderfully docile this season.

MAIL FROM WALDO TO CRESCENT CITY.—We are highly gratified to learn that Mr. George P. Johnson has been awarded a contract to carry a semi-weekly mail from Waldo to Crescent City. It is to be hoped that this mail route will hereafter be kept open.

CRESCENT CITY ROAD.—G. P. Johnson, the newly appointed mail carrier from Crescent City to Waldo, on Thursday last went over the mountain road on snow shoes. He reports from five to eight feet of snow on the road. The snow is very soft, and is melting fast. He thinks freighting will commence in three weeks.

INDIANS.—The citizens in the vicinity of Phoenix having petitioned Mr. Rogers, Indian Agent, to remove a squad of Indians who had become a nuisance there, that gentleman, on Monday last, went out and ordered them to leave by Wednesday. This order will be obeyed, as the Si-washes are in fear of the soldiers at Camp.

SNOW.—Notwithstanding the mildness of the winter, more snow has accumulated in the section of the Cascade mountains east of the valley than has been found at this season for many years. Winter before this the snow was swept away by the almost constant occurrence of warm rains, but this winter the temperature of the mountains has been cold and equal.

THE CHANCES.—In the bloody battle of Stone River, the loss of the rebels in killed and wounded, was, according to the official report of the hero Rosecrans, 14,560. The Union loss was 8,778. The Federals fired 20,000 rounds of artillery—hitting 728 rebels—averaging 27 cannon shots to one man hit. Two millions rounds of musketry hit 13,832 men—making 145 musket shots to one man hit.

BELLIGERENT.—On Monday last two individuals, named Conly and Rook, met on California street, and proceeded to settle some difficulty between them according to the rules of "rough and tumble." But, alas! for the fun of the lookers-on, the prime rule of the game (non-intervention) was openly violated by the Town Marshal, who proceeded to arrest the pair. Conly being very violent, owing to the excessive cheapness of "red-eye," was committed to the lock-up. However, after having broken up the mantle in the calaboose, and with it beating off the lock of the door, he was discharged on bonds to appear and answer next day. Their trial came off before the Recorder yesterday, and they were fined $12 each, including costs.

The News.

The telegraphic news, which we are able to lay before our readers this issue, will cheer the heart and rekindle the patriotism of every loyal American. Charleston—contumacious, rebellious and defiant. Charleston—the dark retreat of treason, and the infamous mother of rebellion and insurrection, has at last felt the puissant justice, majesty and power, of the Government which she has so long derided. Sumter's insulted flag has been vindicated, and the nation will rejoice. The majesty of law has been insulted, and the patriotic will respond, amen. If, in the excess of patriotism, the contumacious city should be reduced to ashes, and be doomed to eternal desolation, we do not suppose that it would disturb the peaceful repose of the patriot dead. The news is almost too good to be true—may the confirmation soon come, with all the particulars of a victorious desolation.

There are other items of interest in the dispatch of Tuesday night, but the Charleston victory absorbs them all. The report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War is damaging to "Little Mac" in the highest degree. He can no longer remain silent. He owes it to himself, his country and his friends, to demand an investigation.

Col. Drew left for San Francisco yesterday morning, for the purpose. It is understood, of hastening and perfecting arrangements to proceed with the erection of a military post in Klamath country, on the eastern boundary of this county. It is hoped that success will attend him; and we have every confidence that if he is continued in this section, this much-needed move will be consummated at an early day, and that adequate protection will be offered to the frontier and to travel.

A MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—Governor Briggs has favored us with an account of the following fatal accident: On Saturday last, a wagon containing a man and his wife and infant child, while ascending the big hill in the Canyon, was turned over, throwing the occupants violently down the hill, instantly killing the child in its mother's arms. The mother and father were slightly injured. Our informant had forgotten the name of the family. They were from California, bound for the Northern mines.

PRICE OF BEANS IN YREKA.—Bell, the stage-driver between Yreka and this place, one day not long since, was stopped by an old farmer who wished to ascertain the price of the above named commodity. The astonishment of the old gentleman may be imagined, on hearing the announcement, that "beans in Yreka are ten for a half in all the games I have seen."

COPPERHEAD AUDACITY.—On the 31st ult., (says the Independent,) the people of Red Bluff were thrown into a state of wild excitement, which at one time threatened to end in the spilling of blood. One Burnett, alias Osgood, rode through the town, carrying a secession flag. A Mr. Powell met and fired a pistol shot at him. Burnett drew a revolver and returned the fire. Three shots were fired at each, neither hitting the other. Burnett was stopped, taken from his horse, amid cries from the excited crowd of "Hang him, hang him," and it was with difficulty that the incensed and outraged people were prevented from laying violent hands upon the rebel. He was put in jail; an order was soon received from General Whight to have him sent by the steamer Victor to camp Union, at Sacramento; and in about twenty-two hours after he rode through the town, he was imprisoned and in irons, in a military camp, 200 miles from the point at which his offence was committed.

The Sacramento Union remarks of this occurrence: "There are several reasons for believing that this transaction was part and parcel of the general plan by which the secessionists aim to inaugurate civil war in this State, which, if commenced, must inevitably result in the wholesale butchery of Union men, or wholesale hanging of traitors. The flag was very neatly made, about two feet in length—material silk. Burnett says it was made by some ladies who reside in the town. When he first rode down the street a number of secessionists cheered for Jeff Davis as he passed. Burnett further says that upwards of twenty secessionists had pledged themselves to stand by him and see him through with his enterprise. He was greatly disappointed that not one of them came to the rescue when the Union men surrounded him and his life was imperiled."

On the day that the ship Griswold arrived in Liverpool, laden with food sent by us to the starving operatives of Lancashire, the English steamer Dolphin sailed from that port for the seceded States with a cargo of war munitions. An ill return for a kind deed, and a striking commentary upon English neutrality.

LOYAL SENTIMENTS FROM THE RIGHT QUARTER.—The following is an extract of a private letter from a Democratic General of Volunteers in the Army of the Potomac:

Camp near Falmouth, Sunday, February 22d. When I see the terrible use made of a political organization to which I have devoted the best years of my life, and which I have always thought noble and patriotic, I am tempted to depart from one of the fixed maxims of my military career and enter the arena, just once, and say what I think of the infamous use now made of the Democratic party by bold, bad men, who are prominent in it. I will not yet believe that these men lead, for as yet the masses do not seem to follow. Although I have written much privately to friends, as yet I have contented myself with such exertions and an occasional allusion, when proper, to my troops.

It seems to me there are two men upon whom, in their respective spheres, vast responsibility rests at this moment for the course and current of public sentiment—General McClellan and Governor Seymour. Seymour can bring New York loyally, cordially and unconditionally to the support of the war in men, money and heart. McClellan can, in two or three trumpet-tongued appeals to the people, fill up our armies and rally the military enthusiasm of the North and West. If he should make himself President by this—and this would be the better way—so be it. He is now ruining his fame and future by association with men who are conspiring for the defeat of our armies and the separation of our land. This I deplore as his admirer and friend, for I am one of those who deem him to be a General, if we have one, and have always wished to see him Commander-in-Chief.

RETURNED.—We learn from the Miami Tribune that a party of six or eight persons who left the Dalles some two weeks since for Boise and Canyon City, returned to the Dalles on Friday last. They succeeded in going some 50 miles beyond Canyon City, when they found the trail obstructed with snow which obliged them to return. They left about 75 men at Canyon City waiting for an opportunity to get through.

CIRCULAR.

HEAD-QUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF PACIFIC, PROVOST MARCHAL'S OFFICE, San Francisco, April 2, 1863.

SOLDIERS—regulars or volunteers—who have deserted, or absented themselves from the companies or regiments without leave: The opportunity is now afforded you to wipe out the stain attached to yourselves, and from your families and friends the shame and reproach consequent upon your desertion or unauthorized absence from your regiments. The President of the United States, by his proclamation, dated March 10th, 1863, offers to restore you to the service without punishment, except forfeiture of pay during your absence, provided you report yourselves on or before the 15th inst. It is known that many of you in times past, were induced to desert the service, with the vain hope of making your fortunes speedily in the mines, and have often since desired to return to duty in the army.

It is believed that since treason and rebellion have involved our once happy country in all the horrors of civil war, and drenched the land in blood, evil disposed persons—traitors in the guise of friends—have enticed you to desert the noble flag, your fathers and you once revered. Rally again around that flag—assist your country in maintaining the supremacy of its Constitution and laws—nay, even its national existence, and show by your zealous devotion that the enemies of your country are your bitterest foes.

Report yourselves in person at once to the commanding officer of the nearest military post, or to any recruiting officer; or by addressing a letter to the undersigned, you will be instructed to whom you may report.

HIRAM LEONARD, Lieut. Colonel U. S. A., Provost-Marshal.

CAMP BAKER, April 8, 1863.
