The Case Stated.

[From the Sacramento Union.]

The Marysville Express declares that "to support the war is to support the Administration." Taking this proposition as its text, it goes on to say:

"Nothing can be more obvious or true than the above proposition; still there are many persons who favor the prosecution of the war, but who profess to be earnestly opposed to the policy upon which it is conducted. We maintain that these two positions are wholly inconsistent. Indeed, to advocate the policy of the prosecution of the war, and at the same time oppose the policy which controls and directs it, involves an absurdity so glaring that one may well wonder that any sensible man could occupy so inconsistent a position."

The Express, as is usual with the class of Democrats to which it belongs, essays to show by what some editor has said that the war is solely prosecuted for Abolition purposes, an absurdity greater than supporting the war and opposing the Administration. The Express candidly admits that to oppose the Administration is equivalent to an opposition of the war to put down the rebellion. With the class of Democrats which that paper represents, its position is true. They oppose the Administration because they are opposed to a war to suppress a rebellion inaugurated by their former Democratic friends and associates. This may be very natural, but it is not very loyal in sentiment or action. Every man, says the Express, who supports the war is a practical Abolitionist. This is equivalent to pronouncing every soldier in the Union army an Abolitionist. They are all denounced as Abolitionists by the rebel leaders, and so are those who sustain the Administration and the National Government in its efforts to suppress treason and punish traitors. The anti-war Democrats, North and South, agree in applying the epithet "Abolitionist" to all those who are for upholding the Union and crushing treason. These coincidences are suggestive of a coincidence in sentiment, if not in action. The people should know and watch them. The Express closes with this paragraph, which we copy, in order to let our readers see the kind of Democracy they have among them:

"Notwithstanding these facts, there is a class of men who profess to utterly repudiate the policy of the Administration, but who in the same breath declare their readiness to assist in the further prosecution of the war. As we said in the beginning, their position is absurd. If they are sincerely opposed to the policy of the Administration, how can they advocate a continuance of a war prosecuted under that policy? What cares Lincoln or the Abolition party for objections to his Emancipation proclamation so long as the discontents give their aid and influence to carry out that policy. No matter what his profession may be—indeed, no matter what his honest sentiments may be to the contrary, the man who sustains the war must necessarily sustain the policy of the war he is a practical abolitionist, an enemy to the freedom of speech and of the press—a foe to personal liberty. He indorses by his acts every outrage which has been perpetrated. He is the friend of despotism because he assists it in accomplishing its ends. Is not this so clear as to admit of no doubt? Let every one who professes to be a Democrat, but favors a continuance of the war, reflect on these thoughts, and if, after deliberation, they find that they cannot indorse the policy of the war, we feel assured that they must discern that in order to change the policy and prevent the consequences they fear, they must oppose the prosecution of the war. Nothing is more certain than that the policy of the Administration is fixed. As long as the war is conducted that policy will remain unchanged. Therefore, to avert the consequences the war must be stopped."

I. O. O. F.—The Grand Lodge met at San Francisco on the 6th. About four hundred representatives were in attendance. The Order has one hundred and fourteen Lodges in the state, with a steady increase. Tucker's Hall has been purchased by the order in San Francisco, for $95,000, and has cost $15,000 for alterations. It contains two Lodge rooms. A procession of 2,000 Odd Fellows was formed and celebrated the dedication of the new Hall—the largest in the city. David Kendall, of San Francisco, was elected Grand Master, and James A. McClellan, of San Francisco, Deputy Grand Master.—Sac. Union.

RATHER IRREVERENT.—The Hudson Gazette says a citizen of that village wrote to a soldier friend in the Army of the Potomac, closing with the friendly and sound advice, "Put your trust in Jesus." In his reply, the soldier irreverently wrote "Jesus is played out; Joe Hooker commands this army!"

GEN. STONEMAN is an officer of the regular army, and was Major of the Fourth United States Cavalry at the opening of the war. His present command is the largest and most efficient body of cavalry ever set in motion upon this continent.

Says the Louisville Journal: "Whatever any man or woman has of property or security must and will sink or swim with the Federal Union."

RULES OF HEALTH FOR MARRIED LADIES.—Here is some advice which married ladies can bet high on:

Get up at three o'clock in the morning, clean out the stove, take out the ashes, sweep the front sidewalk, and scrub the front steps, nurse the baby; put things to warm, see the shirt aired, broil the mackerel, settle the coffee, set the table, rouse the house, carry up some hot water for shaving to that brute of a lazy husband, and dry the morning paper. By this time you will have an appetite for breakfast. Hold the baby during the meal, as you like your breakfast cold.

After breakfast, wash the dishes, nurse the baby, dust everything, wash the windows, wash and dress the baby—(that pantry wants cleaning out and scrubbing)—nurse the baby, draw the baby in his wagon five or six miles for the benefit of his health; nurse him when you return; put on the cabbage and the potatoes (nurse the baby) and the corn beef, (don't forget to nurse the baby) and the turnips, and (nurse the baby) sweep everything; take up the dinner, set the table, fill the castors, change the table cloth, (there's that baby wants nursing,) eat your dinner cold again, and—nurse the baby.

After dinner, wash the dishes, gather up all the dirty clothes and put them to soak, nurse the baby every half hour; receive a dozen calls, interspersed with nursing the baby; drag the baby a mile or two; hurry home; make biscuits, pick up some codfish, cut some dried beef. Catnip tea for baby's internal disarrangements; hold the baby an hour or two to quiet him; put some alcohol in the metre; baby a specimen of perpetual motion; tea ready; take yours cold, as usual.

After tea, wash up the dishes; put some fish to soak; chop some hash; send for sugar, (gracious how the sugar does go—and 20 cents a pound) get down the stockings and darn them; (keep on nursing the baby) wait up till 12 o'clock nursing the baby, till husband with a double shuffle on the front steps, a decided difficulty in finding the stairway, and determination to sleep in the back yard, comes home. Drag him up stairs to bed; then nurse the baby and go to sleep.

Women in delicate health will find the above practice will either kill or cure them.

HEAD-QUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF PACIFIC, }
PROVOST MARSHAL'S OFFICE, }
San Francisco April 2, 1863.

SOLDIERS—regulars or Volunteers—who have deserted, or absented themselves from their companies or regiments without leave: The opportunity is now afforded you to wipe out the stain attached to yourselves, and from your families and friends the shame and reproach consequent upon your desertion or unauthorized absence from your regiments.

The President of the United States, by his proclamation, dated March 10, 1863, offers to restore you to the service without punishment, except forfeiture of pay during your absence, provided you report yourselves on or before the 1st of June next. It is known that many of you in times past, were induced to desert the service, with the vain hope of making your fortunes speedily in the mines, and have often since desired to return to duty in the army.

It is believed that since treason and rebellion have involved our once happy country in all the horrors of civil war, and drenched the land in blood, evil disposed persons—traitors in the guise of friends—have enticed you to desert the noble FLAG, your fathers and you once revered. Rally again around that flag—assist your country in maintaining the supremacy of its Constitution and laws—nay, even its national existence, and show by your zealous devotion that the enemies of your country are your bitterest foes.

Report yourselves in person at once to the commanding officer of the nearest military post, or to any recruiting officer; or by addressing a letter to the undersigned, you will be instructed to whom you may report.
