

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSABLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.
SATURDAY EVENING, . . . JUNE 13, 1863.

A little girl, daughter of Jacob Boehm, of Oregon City, swallowed a pin on the 7th, causing her death in a few hours.

Prof. J. H. Rogers, of the Roseburg land office, is on a visit to his many friends in this vicinity.

A PUBLISHER IN LOVE.—U. B. Frenanor, a few years since publisher of this paper, is known to have made not less than $50,000 in the Washoe Silver mines.

Rev. P. M. Starr will preach the funeral sermon of Charles F. Jones, at the M. E. Church, in Jacksonville, to-morrow, at eleven o'clock A. M.

The draft is about to be enforced in the Eastern States. California and our own State will be exempt, provided a foreign war does not make the raising of troops a necessity.

The Portland Times says the steamer E. D. Baker, on the 8th, brought down to Portland, from the northern mines, one hundred pounds of gold dust, all in charge of the Purser of the steamer.

Our able correspondent, "Hibernia," does not like the "Miller's Combination," and in a communication to be found in this paper, sets forth his objections to it. It will trouble the millers to rebut his arguments.

MATCH RACE.—A match race, single dash of a mile, for $500 a side, will be run over the Lykes course, on Saturday next, June 20th, between the well known cream-colored horse, "Tex," (owned by Plymouth Bros. and matched by Ad Helms,) and Esq. Simpson's sorrel horse, "Jeff."

FOURTH OF JULY.—The citizens of our town and vicinity are requested to meet at the Town Recorder's office, on Monday evening next, for the purpose of taking measures for the celebration, in a becoming manner, of the approaching anniversary of American Independence. A full attendance is solicited.

WAGON ROAD MEETING.—A meeting of the people of this vicinity is called, by advertisement in this paper, to meet at the Court House, on Monday, the 15th inst., for the very laudable purpose of taking measures for the construction of a wagon road via Rogue River Valley to John Day mines. We confidently expect to see a rousing meeting on the day named, as all our citizens appear alive to the great necessity of the work. We believe that with proper efforts the object of the meeting will be attained.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The Circuit Court of Jackson County commenced its session at this place, on Monday last, and will probably continue in session for two more weeks. Most of the jury cases have been disposed of, and the jury will probably be discharged on Tuesday next. Judge Prim is hurrying on the business with all possible dispatch. The Hon. J. F. Gazely, Prosecuting Attorney, is in attendance, and is diligently looking after the rights of the State—is for the preservation of the matrimonial as well as the national Union, and for a vindication of the penal laws of the State. There are a large number of chancery cases on the docket, bristling all over with technical law. The lawyers sleep with the code under their heads, eat with it under their arms, and never make a motion nor file a paper without consulting this legal Koran. The Grand Jury found but three indictments; two for selling liquor without license, and one for petty larceny.

From Hibernia.

APPELATE, JUNE 7, 1863.

Our mother, Earth, to laboring man was given
In peripato, by the King of Heaven,
Under free Labor's brow and manly hand
The Indian corn grows fast o'er all the land,
The golden wheat in wavy seas is seen,
And charms the landscape with its emerald sheen.

The nobbling oat, on countless spires of green,
Will thresh its sixty bushels yet, I ween,
The bearded barley rustles in the breeze,
And "lager beer" will make our farmers sneeze.

Cheap flour holds labor to our placer mines,
And in the sluice the yellow metal shines,
Even the Johnny's have give up India's rice,
And live on flour when sold at a low price,
Thus thousands of dollars in circulation start.

That erst did go to China's distant mart,
But to! five speculating citizens take the field
To monopolize the grain our farms yield,
They fix the price of flour and corn meal,
And pay so much to farmers for their grain,
They hold the mills that grind our human food.

To grind from us extortion's pay in gold,
To blight the land, to accumulate pelf, and beg
To kill the goose that lays the golden egg,
Sir, the combination of the millers to monopolize the wheat and flour market affects, constitutionally, every man, woman and child, in Southern Oregon. As flour forms three-fifths of the food consumed by our people, and that a low price will alone hold the placer miners to this section of country, and assist in the development of the quartz mines, any combination of men to enhance its price, beyond the laws of supply and demand, should be firmly resisted, and the millers made to feel that there is a power behind the throne greater than the throne itself, and that is the power of the people and of public opinion.

The assertion of the millers that the sale of flour and purchase of wheat belongs to them, and them alone, has no foundation whatever in fact, and I defy them to place their finger on the map of the United States and point out the place where such a condition exists. On the contrary, the farmers well know "that competition is the life of trade," and consequently wheat enters into all the business relations of our people. The store keeper receives it in exchange for his goods; the printer for his newspaper; the lawyer and doctor for fees, and the community, generally, for debts. There is but one legitimate right on the side of the millers, and that is to receive their tariff for grinding either in cash or in kind, and if their motive power is more than sufficient for the wants of the neighborhood, and they desire to manufacture flour for the northern mines, they can go into the market and purchase wheat on an equality with other citizens. When they decline to receive wheat from any one to grind either for cash or in kind, except from the farmer to the extent of his family use, then their action is illegitimate, and tho' the common law may not reach them, there is a law that will surely bring them to grief, and that is the general incorporation law of the State, by which shareholders can establish a custom mill on the Applegate, a most suitable location, and presenting, a now, nearly all the requisites, and in the same manner build a steam mill within, or near, the corporate limits of Jacksonville, and to which might be attached a carding and spinning machine, some Jacquard looms for the weaving of carpets and coverlets, some power looms for the weaving of blankets and tweeds, a Woodworth planing machine, and a lathe for the turning of legs, rounds, and sets of chairs; for bed-posts, tables, etc., and it is entirely within the power of our business men, farmers and miners, to take the wind out of the sails of the combination by the first of October, when the growing crop will be fit to grind, and tho' the dividends may not be as large as speculations in greenbacks or Washoe stock, it will, in its general results, pay a hundred fold.

There is a fable that a man named Sisyphus spent a large portion of his time in endeavoring to roll a huge stone up a hill, and after incredible labor, having got it half way up, his strength gave way, and the stone rolling down killed him, and the millers may profit by his example.

HIBERNIA.

A drunken fellow, who was riding on top of the stage, fell off, and received so severe a shock as to render him nearly sober. In the excitement he began to berate the driver for upsetting the stage.
"Why, look here," said the driver, "this stage isn't upset at all."
"Ain't it!" inquired the unfortunate passenger, rubbing his eyes. "If I'd known that, I wouldn't have got off."

INDIANS THIEVING.—During the week the Indians have been committing a number of petty thefts. The clothes Pines of Mr. J. T. Glenn and Mr. John Love were robbed. The former gentleman had, also, a fine carpet destroyed by them. The Indian camps were visited and the most of the missing property found. We suppose, now, that the old, played-out promise that "The Indians are about to be removed from the settlements," will be reiterated, but the removal will be like the leopard changing his spots—from place to place, back and forth. We cannot conceive of what use the Indian red devils are all w'd to live in the settlements, at the expense of the settlers.

Father Waugh, founder of the "California Youths' Association," is now here, and will remain a few days, and then go back—not having time at present to make a tour of our State.

His effort, as we learn, is to enlist and interest the youth against habits of drunkenness, tobacco, using profane language, etc. He has a book of constitution, odes, etc., and a diploma happily designed and neatly executed. We can heartily recommend the cause, and hope Father Waugh may soon find it convenient to make the tour of our State.

THANKS TO THE UNKNOWN.—The former editor of the SENTINEL desires to return his thanks to some persons, unknown to him, in Major Gen. Rosecrank's, and Major Gen. Hooker's armies, for a constant receipt of files of Southern papers. They show what the rebels think, and contain their version of passing events. Send them on.

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE, Vancouver, W. T., May 25, 1863.

Ed. Sentinel:—The Sisters of Charity request a place in the columns of your paper to acknowledge the sum of $148, received through the kindness of Capt. Kelly, U. S. A., and collected by his exertions from the generous members of his company and others. To all those who have thus given towards the support of the poor orphans, they return their most heart-felt thanks, and hope that the Father of the fatherless may repay them in his most abundant manner.
SISTER JOSEPH,
Superior, Sister of Charity.

THE SENTIMENTS OF A YOUNG SOLDIER. The following are extracts from letters of young Townsend Connolly (only son of Richard B. Connolly) to his mother. He is now on the staff of General Corcoran, at Suffolk.
I hope to heaven the North will give up the idea, fraught with death to so many, that "we must wait for the next Administration to end this war." Think of the millions that will be wasted meanwhile—think of what is worth a million times more, the thousands of lives and limbs to be sacrificed in the interval of over a year of warfare on the present tremendous scale! Such a state of feeling, if it holds any place at home, is horrible, inhuman toward those who are now in the field ready to perish for their country, that forgets them. If those at home cannot make up their minds to bend instantly every energy toward putting down the rebellion for their own sakes, for God's sake (who is for all that is good and true), let them for our sakes,
I wish the President would put his conscription in force for one million of men—five hundred thousand to fill up old regiments, and commence fighting immediately; five hundred thousand to fill up gaps and man forts. Make "putting down the rebellion" the business of the nation until it is accomplished. I don't believe in peace founded on any other basis than whipping the rebels and their laying down their arms. Compromise, Copperheadism, or any other doctrine of the weak-kneed, will ruin the nation for centuries to come. If the South are to lose their institutions, power, lands, heads, everything—all is the just penalty of the greatest crime committed on the greatest scale by them—treason. Look at the land that two short years ago was full of peace, "flowing with milk and honey;" compare its condition then with the present. Armies, like locusts, are laying its fair borders in ruins; deep debt is piling its burdens on the Government; death is reaping a rich harvest, spreading seeds of sorrow over North and South alike—and all the fruit of treason. Down with the traitors, cry I!
Your affectionate son, TOWNSEND.

At a meeting of the California and Oregon Railroad Company, lately held at Marysville, the following persons were chosen as a Board of Directors: F. J. McCann, S. Belcher, A. M. Shields, G. W. Prescott, C. G. Elliott, B. P. Avery, of Marysville; A. J. Binney, of Oroville; Benj. Shurtleff, of Shasta; John Berry, of Yreka; Gov. A. C. Gibbs, of Portland, Oregon; Judge J. C. Tolman, of Jacksonville; S. Ellsworth, of Eugene City; I. R. Moores, of Salem. The enterprise, says the Appeal, has been taken hold of in earnest, and a full presentation of its merits will be made to the next Congress, coupled with an application for aid.

Died.

At the residence of O. D. Hoxie, in this county, on Friday last, CHARLES F. JONES, aged thirty-six years and nine months. His disease was the consumption.

The deceased was one of the oldest residents of this county, honored and respected by all who knew him. In his death, the community loses a useful member, and the State a faithful and honorable citizen. He died with the full assurance of a blissful immortality.

The deceased was buried in Jacksonville Cemetery this forenoon. C. O. S.
