Order of Gen. Banks.

Here is an "order" with a ring to it— one that does honor alike to the head and heart of the mill-boy of Lowell, now Major-General Banks. It was made April 25th:

Sergeants Brady, Stapleton, McCord, Reinhardt, Sieble, Neal, Harris, Baker, and two hundred and sixty-nine of the Regular Army of the United States, having been exchanged by the Rebel Government, whose prisoners they were, arrived at New Orleans on the 25th of February, 1863, and a portion of them, under command of Lieut. Col. Amory, Fourth Cavalry, reached this post on the 25th inst., to share with us the honors of this campaign. It has been deemed but an act of justice to these gallant men to relieve them from this service and to expedite their return to the North. They separate from the command this day. In honor of their departure from Opelousas, the commanding General has ordered a national salute, and a similar honor will be paid them upon their departure from New Orleans. Capt. Bainbridge at Opelousas, and Lieut. Gen. Sherman at New Orleans, are charged with the execution of this order.

These gallant men of the army of the United States in Texas were shamefully and unconditionally surrendered to the rebels by their superior officers, on the 9th of May, 1861. Separated from their officers, divided into squads and removed to different posts on the frontiers of Texas, debarred of pay for more than two years, they were subjected to degrading labors, supplied with scanty food and clothing, and sometimes chained to the ground, or made to suffer other severe military punishments. Recruiting officers visited them daily, offering them commissions and large bounties to desert their flag. Notwithstanding the false reports of the overthrow of their Government, which seduced so many men of higher pretensions and positions, unswerving by counsel with each other, with few exceptions they repelled the bribes and avoided the treason. Those who chose a different course did it to escape their prison.

No Government has ever been more faithfully served than by these men. Of the army and navy, to whom they had right to turn for counsel and example—who had been educated by the Government, and who never received a month's pay that was not drawn from its coffers, we owe an honor that it did not confer— at the first suggestion of treason betrayed the mother that nursed them, and deserted the flag that protected them. With every branch of the Government within their control, and the continent under their feet, they yielded to the indecency and folly of rebellion, and without the shadow of a case they sought to blacken the name of America and Americans by fastening upon her the greatest crime of human history—that of destroying the best Government ever framed, and annihilating the well founded hopes of humanity in republican liberty. Thank God! the officers could not corrupt the men they commanded! Not a soldier of the army, nor a sailor of the navy voluntarily abandoned his post. The poisonous subtleties of secession never touched the heart of the people, nor led them to substitute the guilty ambition of vulgar, low-bred provincialism for the halcyon hopes of national patriotism.

Soldiers! let the gallant men that part from us to-day receive the honors they deserve—the pearl of the canon and the shouts of the line! Let them receive, wherever they go, the homage of the army and navy together. The army and navy forever.

A good many years ago an Ohio newspaper printer, whose wife was not at all noted for beauty and gentleness, was obliged to set out on a journey and leave his work in the hands of his apprentices. The evening succeeding his departure, when the boys came in to supper, the wife, in addressing the eldest in an unusual kind tone said, "William, while your master's gone you must take his place." William confused and horrified, his face burning with blushes, in a voice of abject beseechingness, stammered out, "Please, ma'am, I'd rather sleep with the boys!"

THE COPPERHEAD.

When the sweet rose, blushing red,
In Eden their first fragrance shed,
A traitor and a copperhead Came in disguise,
Diffusing knowledge; and he said,
"Eat and be wise,
And wisdom shall abound thine eyes."
And when the woman saw the tree, Suppliants for the eyes to see, She ate forbidden fruit. Thus she Hath man misled.
Now, 'neath the tree of liberty,
This copperhead
Appears in blue and white and red.
Under the silent grass he hides, Among the weeds and flowers he glides, Down by the brook he most abides—
A treacherous thing;
The stars and stripes that deck his sides Conceal a sting.
Venom and death are in his spring.
Satan would it, and he fell,
In shame and darkness doomed to dwell,
With other traitors who rebel In act and word,
Because he'd rather reign in hell
Than serve the Lord,
Who guards us with his flaming sword.

CHANGING THE NATURALIZATION LAWS.

—Speaking of the proposition before the rebel Congress to exclude from the privileges of citizenship all persons not living within the bounds of Jeff. Davis' bogus Government at the time of its organization, a Richmond Journal says:

"The bill meets with very general approval, and will, we trust, soon become a law. Ethnologists have decided that the admixture of an inferior with a superior race of the human species degrades the latter to the level of the former; and it is very certain that, unless we restrain immigration by the most stringent laws, we shall, in a few years after peace is declared, be overrun by foreigners, and that the next generation of Southerners will be the vilest mongrels." etc.

J. H. Chaffee.

NOTICE—J. H. Chaffee will hear of something to his advantage by addressing Allen F. Farham, of the Ashland Mills, Jackson county, Oregon.

To the Afflicted.

Of all diseases, the first great cause

Springing from neglect of Nature's laws.

SUFFER NOT WHEN A CURE IS GUARANTEED

In all Secret Diseases, self-poisoning, nervous debility, syphilis in all its stages, scrofula, gland, gravel, diabetes, diseases of the kidneys and bladder, hereditary rheumatism, erysipelas, pains in the bones and aching diseases of the lungs, throat, nose and eyes, glands, skin eruptions, cancer, dropsy, erysipelas,

St. Vitus' dance, and all diseases arising from a disarrangement of the secret organs, such as nervous headache, loss of memory, loss of power, general weakness, dimness of vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, loss of sight, wakefulness, dyspepsia, liver disease, eruptions upon the face, pain in the back and head, female irregularities, and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and rooted all their means of cure.

The medicine prescribed are pleasant and without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury and balans. During twenty years' practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians; which was not due to me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a perfect and speedy cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is assuredly ever effected, a majority of the cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into rapid consumption. But should the disease and treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, cancer, ulcers, eruptions, and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consequently their death.

SELF-POISONING is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system, drawing life thousands of victims through a few years of suffering, to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly waters away the energies of life, causes mental depression, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wretched in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils sure to be dreaded by the sufferer. With the fullest confidence, I can say the unfortunate victims of self-abuse that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and, with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust and vigorous health. Irregularities, and all diseases of males and females are treated on principles established by twenty years' practice, and sanctioned by thousands of the most respectable names. Medicine, with full directions, sent to any part of the State, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter. Business correspondence strictly confidential. Address,

L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco.

The Doctor offers free consultation, and asks no remuneration unless he effects a cure. je24w4
