

Semi-Weekly Sentinel.

GOD BLESS ABE LINCOLN!—President Lincoln rises higher and higher in the estimation of the loyal people with every new difficulty he encounters, and with every new triumph our home or foreign relations assume.

His reply to the Albany (N. Y.) Committee has presented him in a most advantageous light, as a calm, unflinching patriot and able statesman; while the victories of Vicksburg and Gettysburg cast the shadows of their glory directly upon him. But above and beyond all is his answer to Davis's demand for an interview on behalf of Stephens, Vice President of the rebel States. There is nothing to compromise—nothing to negotiate—nothing to consult over. If they are tired of fighting, let them stop, and peace, with all its blessings, come at once. If they are beaten, let them say so and have done, and there is an end of it. They have said that they would not return to the Union if they were to give them a blank sheet and let them write their own terms. That was when they hoped for success by force of arms. Now that hope has fled, and they would be rejoiced to have the blank which before they affected so much to despise.

It is well that there are a President and Cabinet at Washington who know how to treat treason and traitors—who cannot be driven from their duty by appeals for undeserved mercy any more than they can be forced at the cannon's mouth to compromise, by one jot, the national dignity. It is well, too, that California has at least one Senator, and will have a full delegation in the lower house, who will stand by the President in this matter at all times and under all circumstances. This is a proud day for the nation, for liberty, for humanity; and this distant limb of the great republic has cause to be doubly proud: first, that she has stood by such a President; and second, that she is in a condition to stand by him while an armed foe remains in the field. Again we say, God bless Abe Lincoln! God bless the Generals in the field, the soldiers under arms, and all the loyal people; and nerve them to strike down treason whenever, wherever, and in whatever form it may appear.—Sac. Bee.

TRAITOR'S CARAVAN.—Under the above head the Sonora Flag describes the procession:

To be sure, the Democracy are moving, as Judas moved when he went to kiss his Master—moving they are like ghostly phantoms through the mirage of the traitors' hell. And coming to meet their peaceful overtures, are their "Southern brethren" holding their confederate noses, lest, as the Richmond Enquirer says, they should be offended by the stench of a Northern laborer's greasy perspiration.

We think we can discern that imposing Democratic procession on their winding way, together with the waving of innumerable olive branches. On they come, a vast army of moral persuaders who would reason with our misguided Southern brethren. Towering in front, like Ajax Telamon, is the great and good Dr. Gwin, with a violated parole of honor in his bosom, and a rough east of the Pacific railroad in the tail of his coat. David S. Terry, bearing aloft Broderick's scalplock. Dan Shoalwater, Phil Herbert and a division of thieving treasurers and absconding postmasters, each with a wampum belt of ears cut from the heads of cowardly abolition Yankees. Next, Leander Quint, with a back load of White Mountain poles and lastly, Dan Patterson, dragging the Stars and Stripes in the dust. The Democratic fleet is seen in the distance; the pirate Chapman, with belled sail and the Skul' and Marrow Bones, floating on the gentle breasted sea of peace.

GLORY TO GRANT.—Gen. Grant, the hero of Vicksburg, Donelson, etc., is so far the hero of the war. If A. S. Johnston said, the capacity of a general is to be measured by his success, then Grant fills the bill in all its parts. Never yet has he been defeated. His untiring energy and firm faith in the holiness of his cause have overcome all obstacles, great as they were. He has cut the rebellion into halves, opened the Mississippi, and it is safe to say will hold Vicksburg against all assaults, no matter "wha they are, whence they come, or with what power armed." To him and his brave fellows the whole country owe a debt of gratitude which it can never repay. Glory to Grant.—Sac. Bee.

If a man speaks or writes against our Confederacy cause, he is branded and expelled as a traitor or public enemy.—Mobile Register.

We manage these things differently up this way. The bitterest and most insidious defamers of the War for the Union are made Governors; the next worse are sent to Congress.—N. Y. Times.

HISSING.—Copperhead love for the foreigner is a thing of circumstances. As long as foreigners do their will they are very patronizing and pleasant; but when they have, and exercise a will of their own in opposition to the dictates and interests of "the party," the Copperheads cannot conceal their hate and venom. This was illustrated at a Peace Democratic meeting, recently held in Philadelphia, where the name of Gen. Corcoran was received with hisses.
