

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSABLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.

SATURDAY EVENING, - - - JULY 25, 1863.

The great drama of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is being played with great success, at the Willamette Theater, Portland.

The people of Florence, Idaho Territory, have contributed $1,300 to the Sanitary Commission.

The Yreka Journal of the 2d says Mr. J. E. Strong will be there in a few days for the purpose of commencing operations on the Oregon telegraph line from Yreka. The wire is now on the way from below.

John Moxley and John P. Anderson, were severely injured at Port Ludlow, W. T., on July 4th, by the premature discharge of a cannon which they were assisting to load. Anderson died on the following day.

SUFFICIENT returns have been received to show that George E. Cole, copperhead, has been elected Representative to Congress from Washington Territory. The result of the election is a burning disgrace to that Territory.

BIBLE MEETING.—Rev. Wm. Roberts, agent of the American Bible Society, will deliver an address on the Camp ground, tomorrow, (Sunday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The friends of the Bible Cause are respectfully invited to be present.

I. O. O. F. CELEBRATION.—The Odd Fellows of Jacksonville design celebrating the third anniversary since the institution of their Lodge, on the 18th proximo. The order of exercises can be seen in the advertising column.

As an evidence that Gen. Lee expected to hold his headquarters in Pennsylvania until he dictated terms of peace, the fact is stated that the wives of rebel officers went to the Sulphur Springs, near Carlisle, with all their hand-boxes and Saratoga trunks. How ungallant in the "Pennsylvania geboren" to disturb them!

"LIGHT UP."—The horizon begins to light up," says T'Vault, when the smoke of battle clears away "from the battle field of Gettysburg," and it is discovered, as he says, that "our loss, that is the Federal, was greater than the rebel." The words "rebel" and "Federal" should evidently be transposed, for surely so humane a patriot as T'Vault, could not find consolation in the fact that "our loss" was greater than that of our enemies. Oh! no.

A VERY WELCOME PRESENT.—We have received from Mrs. J. Lingenfelter a photograph likeness of her son, James Lingenfelter, Captain of Co. B, Col. Baker's California Regiment. He fell a sacrifice to the cause he so dearly loved, on Oct. 8th, 1863, while on picket duty before Washington, on the Derby road. He is the only citizen of Jacksonville who is known to have fallen in the war. Those of his many friends who fondly remember the young patriot hero, can procure a copy of the likeness by calling on Mr. Peter Britt, photograph artist.

A very sad accident occurred at Milwaukie, Oregon, on the 11th inst. While Mr. David Moll was in the act of shooting a weasel, his gun went off prematurely. A little girl came running to Mr. Moll, inquiring if he had shot the weasel, when she came upon the dead body of her young brother, lying in the path, and Mr. Moll was then first apprised of the effect of his shot, by her crying out, "Oh! you have shot Johnny." The poor boy had been completely hidden from Mr. Moll by the tall fern, and was struck by thirteen shots in the head and face, killing him instantly. The deceased was named John Scott, and was near ten years of age.

The News—Good news still continues to crowd upon us. The limits of the so-called Confederacy are fast being contracted, and its power waning. The month of July has thus far been prolific of victory to our gallant defenders, and of discomfiture and ruin to the rebel hosts. Lee, the boasted Napoleon of the rebel army, has been driven from Pennsylvania, with the irreparable loss of one-third of his veteran army. Vicksburg surrendered to the immortal U. S. Grant, and Fort Hudson to the "mackerel catching" plow-boy of Massachusetts; and we may hope to learn, before the month expires, that Charleston, the foul nest of double dyed traitors, has succumbed to the united efforts of our land and naval forces. Surely the nation may give thanks and rejoice.

The dispatches in to-day's paper tell us that the riotous uprising of the New York "Democracy" has been effectually quelled after terrible havoc to the rioters and considerable loss to the State troops. The ringleader, a Southern spy, has been arrested and will probably be hanged. The supremacy of the law will be asserted in New York city, and the draft rigidly enforced. Both the Federal armies are in Virginia—Lee retreating and Meade apparently pressing after him. Jeff. Davis has again called out all whites between the ages of 18 and 45, "but will they come?" As was generally predicted, guerrilla Morgan's raid resulted in the dispersion and capture of almost his entire army. But 300 of his large force have as yet escaped. Yazoo city, Mississippi, has been captured and is now occupied by the Federals. The rebels abandoned Jackson, at which place is General Sherman's headquarters. Natches is held by Federal Gen. Ransom. The rebels will soon be effectually driven from the great valley of the Mississippi.

We have credible reports that a great battle by land and sea had been commenced at Charleston. With the fall of Charleston, the long prayed for time will soon come—"when the cruel war is over."

Gold in New York, on the morning of the 22d, was quoted at $1.23—lower than it has been in the six months past.

We received no news last night.

CANYON CITY.—The Mountaineer, of the 19th, says: Numbers of persons who have been carried off by the Boise and Owyhee excitements have returned to Canyon City, and say the mines in that vicinity promise quite as well as those that led them away. Business at Canyon City is fair, and everything moving along quietly and prosperously.

A GOOD SHOWING.—The Oregonian says that the exhibit of the financial affairs of Multnomah county, for the year ending July 1st, 1863, shows a balance in the county treasury unappropriated of $11,867 99. Besides this there are $3,000 taxes yet to be collected.

At Benicia, California, on the 17th inst., a soldier named Glenkoff, who attempted to rob and murder another soldier last February, and then deserted, was shot, in accordance with a sentence of Court Martial.

Rev. A. C. Edmunds, of the Universalist Church, and editor of the "Herald of Reform," at Eugene City, will preach in the Court House, tomorrow, at 11 o'clock.

COPPERHEAD CHIVALRY.—Killing defenceless and innocent negroes, because they are unable to protect themselves. "Charge! Chester, Charge!"

The weather has been intensely hot for the last three days, the thermometer, in cool places, ranging from 96 to 104 degrees. "O, for a retreat in some vast wilderness, Some boundless continuity of shade."

READ THIS.—DeBow, in a late number of his Southern Review, says on the new order of things to grow out of the rebellion if it succeeded: "The real civilization of a country is in its aristocracy. The masses are molded into soldiers and artisans by intellect, just as matter and the elements of nature are made into telegraphs and steam engines. The poor, who labor all day, are too tired at night to study books. If you make them learned, they soon forget all that is not necessary in the common transactions of life. To make an aristocrat in the future we must sacrifice a thousand paupers. Yet by all means we must make them, make them permanent, too, by laws of entail and primogeniture. The right to govern resides in a very small minority; the duty to obey is inherited in the great masses of mankind. All government begins with usurpation, and is continued by force. There is nothing to which the South entertains so great a dislike as universal suffrage. Whenever foreigners settle together in large number, there universal suffrage will exist."

Let the professors of Democracy, and foreigners supporting the rebel cause, study the picture.

Union Song of the Celt.

Hail, brightest banner that floats on the gale! Flag of the country of Washington, hail! Red are thy stripes with the blood of the brave. Bright are thy stars as the sun on the wave; Wrapt in thy folds are the hopes of the Free; Banner of Washington! Blessings on thee! Mountain-tops mingle the sky with their snow; Prairies lie smiling in sunshine below; Rivers, as broad as the sea, in their pride, Border thine Empires, but do not divide; Niagara's voice far out-anthems the sea; Land of Sublimity, blessings on thee! Hope of the World on thy mission sublime When thou didst burst on the pathway of time. Millions from darkness and bondage awoke; Music was born when Liberty spoke; Millions to come yet shall join in the glee; Land of the pilgrim's hope, blessings on thee! Traitors shall perish and treason shall fall; Kingdoms and thrones in their glory grow pale! Thou shalt live on, and thy people shall own Loyalty's sweet, where each heart is thy throne; UNION and FREEDOM thine heritage be; Country of Washington! blessings on thee!

RAISING NIGGERS.—As a jolly agriculturist looks at his yearlings of young beavers, the kindly overseer, lolling in his saddle, pointed with his whip to the glistening fat ribs and corpulent paunches of his woolly-headed flock. "There's not a plantation in the State," quoth he, "can show such a lot of young niggers. The way to get them right is not to work the mothers too hard when they are near their time; to give them plenty to eat, and not to send them to the field too soon." He told me the increase was about five per cent. per annum. The children were quite sufficiently clad, ran about round us, patted the horses, felt our legs, tried to climb up on the stirrup, and twinkled their black and ochrey eyes at Massa Seal. Some were exceedingly fair; and Mr. Seal, observing that my eyes followed these, murmured something about the overseers before Mr. Barnside's time being rather a bad lot. He talked about their color and complexion quite openly; nor did it seem to strike him that there was any particular turpitude in the white man who had left his offspring as slaves on the plantation.

A tall, well-built lad of some nine or ten years stood by me, looking curiously into my face. "What is your name?" said I. "George," he replied. "Do you know how to read or write?" He evidently did not understand the question. "Do you go to church or chapel?" A dubious shake of the head. "Did you ever hear of our Saviour?" At this point Mr. Seal interposed, and said, "I think we had better go on, as the sun is getting hot," and so we rode gently through the little ones; and when we had got some distance he said rather apologetically, "We don't think it right to put such things into their heads so young, it only disturbs their minds and leads them astray."

Now, in this one quarter there were no less than 80 children, some 12 and some 14 years of age. No education—no God; their whole life—food and play, to strengthen their muscles and fit them for the work of a slave. "And when they die?" "Well," said Mr. Seal, "they are buried in that field there by their own people, and some of them have a sort of prayer over them, I believe." The overseer, it is certain, had no fastidious notions about slavery; it was to him the right thing in the right place, and his summum bonum was a high price for sugar, a good crop, and a healthy plantation. Nay, I am sure I would not wrong him if I said he could see no impropriety in running a good cargo of regular black slaves, who might clear the great backwood and swampy undergrowth, which was now exhausting the energies of his field hands, in the absence of Irish navvies.—Russell's "Diary North and South."

CHARLESTON.—The Boston Journal, of May 25th, quotes the following from a letter written by a soldier on Folly Island, Charleston harbor, who intimates that the rebel forts are to be reduced by a regular siege:

Folly Island, which we hold, runs along the coast from Stono Inlet north, and is only separated from Morris Island by a narrow stream, which at low tide is almost fordable. The island is about eight miles long and a mile and a half wide, and commands Morris Island, and on which we can plant batteries that, with the aid of the gunboats, we can shell the rebels off of Morris Island in eight hours time; and once in possession of Morris Island, we have Cumming's Point, on which we can plant siege guns with which we can batter down Fort Sumter—the sand hills being perfect protection from the shot and shell of Forts Sumter and Moultrie.

ARBITRARY ARRESTS.—Grant has reduced himself in the estimation of the copperheads as low as Burnside, by the arbitrary arrest of Pemberton and 27,000 other Democrats at Vicksburg. The Constitution gives the right to every citizen to bear arms. Grant violated this plain constitutional privilege by depriving a whole army of Democrats of all their arms. The Democracy of the free States won't stand this unconstitutional way of abridging the liberties of the people—see if they do.—Nevada Transcript.

HOARING.—The Express says:

It would not be two generations under Abolition rule till our people, or the miserable remnant of them, would be running wild and naked in the wilderness a race of cannibal savages. England and France have been under "abolition rule" for several generations, and are considered tolerably tame, well clad and averse to "cannibal" practices. Now England has tested "abolition rule" a long time, yet was able to furnish even the South with clothing and school books from her superabundance, and her people were never known to eat anybody, except when they devoured Charles Dickens and Jeff. Davis with kindness. Still, if the Express is sure that "abolition rule" will make us naked "cannibals" in two generations, perhaps we had better go into the slave-breeding and whiskey drinking business, and elect Democrats to office.—Marysville Appeal.

The American Miss Taylor, brought twenty-nine religious, whose future field of work will be in Oregon, Washington Territory, and Vancouver Island. Fourteen of the ladies, Sisters of Jesus and Mary, proceed to Portland; seven Sisters of Charity go to Vancouver, W. T.; and eight Sisters of St. Ann will join the house of the Order in Victoria. They are all from Montreal.
