

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSABLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, - SEPT. 8, 1863.

Geo. B. Dorris, Esq., has been commissioned Notary Public for Jackson county, by Governor Gibbs. A good appointment.

The Times of the 5th, records that the steamer of the evening previous brought down eight hundred pounds of gold dust.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.—Madison B. Morris, Esq., has been appointed Postmaster at Kerbyville, Oregon, vice J. R. Prindle, resigned.

CROWDED OUT.—A letter by Senator Harding denying the reported assertion that he would vote for Vallandigham in Ohio at the pending election. It will appear on Saturday.

MONKEY.—T'Vault says he is the only editor of a newspaper in Southern Oregon, and the best newspaper man on the coast. Malone should secure his services to conduct the forty column daily paper he has in his "mind's eye."

DROWNED.—The body of a man known as "Spanish John," was found in Rogue River on Tuesday last, and after examination by the Coroner, Dr. L. S. Thompson, the remains were buried upon the bank of the river. The deceased, it is supposed committed suicide.

HURRAH FOR DEL NORTE.—By partial returns, received from friends in Waldo and vicinity, we learn that Del Norte county, Cal., has given handsome majorities for the Union State and County ticket. We congratulate the Union men of Del Norte on their first triumph over the Secessionists and Copperheads.

IRISHMEN, read "Daniel O'Connell's opinion of American Slavery," published in another column of this paper. He held the idea that slavery, not alone in the Southern States, but throughout the world, would eventually die out, and that it was the duty of Irishmen to help kill it—the idea that Malone said brought on the present war. The creed of Malone and O'Meara, stamps Daniel O'Connell a radical Abolitionist.

The elegy men of the Methodist Church South preach a doctrine very acceptable to Copperhead Democrats, namely: that slavery is a "divine institution." In Williamsburg, the banner precinct of Jeff Davis Democracy, in the only county in the State that had a majority for the secess ticket at the last election, twenty converts have been added to that church. We do not imagine the religion of some of those converts will deprive them of the innocent recreation of singing "we'll hang Abe Lincoln to a sour apple-tree," or d—g Abolitionists. It must be a very small business, saving the souls of such men.

Malone, in his "Irish talk" to the little squad of Copperheads that answered the Jeff Davis call for a "rousing mass meeting of the Democracy of Jackson county," said that in every country in Europe the people enjoyed greater freedom than the people of America have been allowed under the administration of A. Lincoln. The fact that he was allowed to make such a speech as he did was sufficient evidence of the falsity of that statement. Under what Government in Europe would a speaker be allowed to counsel resistance to the laws, as he did? In England or France, the mildest and most tolerant of the nations of Europe? No! Even there, imprisonment and fines would learn him to distinguish between the liberty and the licentiousness of speech. Our country is engaged in a gigantic civil war, but the unanimity of its patriotic people has made it so powerful, that it can afford to let such small-fry abettors of treason as Malone wag their slimy tongues without restraint.

They Met.

There was, on the afternoon of Saturday last, at the Court House, a convocation of Copperheads, called, by way of joke, Democrats. There were from fifty to seventy-five of the genus present, and this after a call of near two weeks. This convocation was called a mass convention of the Democracy! We looked anxiously through the half filled seats in the Court House, among the motley crowd, for a single individual who bore in his countenance the linaments of the Democracy that rendered a Jackson immortal, but we looked in vain. We listened for accents that might indicate the existence of that glorious, old and popular essence in the soul of some one present, but we listened in vain. There is too much sympathy for treason in what is dubbed Democracy now-a-days, for the indwelling of that spirit which prompted the immortal words, "By the Eternal the Union must and shall be preserved."

The convocation was duly organized by the election of Capt. Smith, Chairman. The Chairman seemed to have an ever-abiding and lively remembrance of the fact that one Asahel Bush possesses a rare power for annihilating political charlatans. It is said of the honorable Chairman, that he was once a member of the Oregon Legislature, and rumor has it that he desired to wear his blushing honors again, but somehow the people of this county refused to second the motion. After the election of a secretary, a Committee on Resolutions was appointed. During the absence of that committee, Pat Malone was called for. He responded to the call and addressed the convocation for two mortal hours. He denounced the Government, as administered by Father Abraham, as more intolerant and despotic than the iron despotism of Russia. And the motley crowd of so-called Democrats applauded the infamous sentiment. This, too, from an Irishman, who, we presume, has taken the oath of allegiance to the Government of the United States. We respect the noble daring and chivalry of the Irish character, but when we hear an Irishman, who has been admitted to the rights and privileges of American citizenship, revile and denounce the Government which has received him, and thrown around him the protecting wings of its Constitution and laws, we are ready to exclaim, baseness how profound! ingratitude how base! We received him as an exile, warmed him into life by the genial power of our institutions—he revives and strikes his venomous fangs deep into the heart of his benefactor! Malone said it pained him to see his countrymen enlisted in the service of the Abolition Government, meaning thereby the Government of the United States. We should suppose it would pain such a patriot as he is. Americans, think of a raw Irishman denouncing your Government, purchased by the patriot blood of the revolutionary sires; think of an exile, whom the generosity of your Government has warmed into life, reviling the nation's generosity; think of the man who has registered a solemn oath in Heaven to bear true allegiance to this Government, publicly announcing the desire for a dismemberment that shall leave "New England out in the cold!" Malone went further, and in certain contingencies counseled resistance to the laws of Congress, and the officers of the Government, and Democrats applauded the treasonable advice. Malone attempted to be awfully severe on Wesley and Willberforce, but we don't think his puny malice will disturb their peaceful rest, or seriously affect their noble renown. This renegade Irishman spirted his puny malice at New England, with her arts and sciences, her noble history and godlike statesmen, for full three-quarters of an hour. He lauded the Democratic statesmen of the South, now in rebellion against the Government—repeated the stereotyped falsehood about the Republicans defeating the Crittenden Compromise, and finally squatted, very much to the satisfaction of all present.

The Committee on Resolutions read their report, which was unanimously adopted (more of this anon). Then came the tug of war. Col. T'Vault offered a resolution on organization. Fay proposed an amendment. T'Vault accepted it. A central committee was to be elected. Several were nominated and elected, when Mr. Fay politely notified them that they had forgotten the object of the committee. T'Vault remarked that this resulted from Fay's interference with his original proposition. Hot words passed, and the peace Democracy showed their warlike qualities. The amiable Chairman poured oil on the troubled waters, and quiet was restored. Mr. Johnson offered a resolution indorsing the Oregon Intelligencer as the organ of the Democracy. Fay opposed the resolution in a lengthy and bitter speech, based, apparently, on the ground that Col. Kelly's name stood at the head of that paper as T'Vault's candidate for Congress. T'Vault rejoined, and was loud, excited and sarcastic. Fay replied more bitter than ever, and freely talked of "guts" and other peace emblems. Others pitched in and it was a glorious row. Finally the resolution passed and the harmonious adjourned.

When President Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation, it was received with howls of indignant wrath by Secessionists and Copperheads. They said it was putting the dagger into the hands of the slave to murder his master; servile insurrections and horrid massacres of the whites of all ages, sexes and conditions in the South would be the result. Time has rolled on, and the only massacres and murders we hear of have been committed by that class of their "Southern brethren" who murdered the citizens of Lawrence, Kansas, and then burned the town. The Proclamation has had the effect to greatly strengthen the Union forces, and in a corresponding degree weakened the rebel armies.

Now Jeff Davis has determined to arm five hundred thousand negroes to fight against Northern white men, and does the Democracy again urge their vehement protests against such "barbarity"? No! They are silent as the grave. The case is different. Lincoln's proclamation enticed negroes from their masters and placed them in the armies for the defence of the Union, and thus "greatly exasperated their Southern brethren." That was horrible!—atrocious! But Jeff Davis is acting strictly constitutionally—the rebels own the slaves, and they have a right to do whatever they please with their own property. None but an Abolitionist would question their right to arm their "property" to fight against the Union.

And thus it is, day by day, the stern logic of the events of "grim-visaged war" tears to tatters the fine-spun arguments and sophistries of Copperhead leaders.

THE WAGON ROAD.—Last evening, Mr. H. Bloom returned to town from a trip out on the Wagon Road. He reports that the work on the road is progressing finely. It being opened and graded to within fifteen miles of the summit, beyond which Nature has provided a high, dry and open road clear through to the Eugene road. The heaviest and most expensive parts of the road have been finished, and but little grading will be required to complete the road to the summit. A new and substantial bridge has been built over the north fork of Rogue river. Mr. Bloom overtook his pack-train at the bridge. Nineteen well-armed men were with the train, who were hopeful that they would get safely through to the Boise mines in twenty-two days from the time of starting. A Mr. Chadwick, of Cottonwood, was overtaken at Elk Creek, with seven men, an ox-wagon, loaded with provisions, and seventy-five head of cattle, bound for Boise. He will get over our road with but little trouble, although it is not quite complete.

When these pioneer trains demonstrate, as we believe they will, that the distance from Jacksonville to Bannock City and Placerville is no greater than it is from Ummatilla Landing, a brisk trade will no doubt spring up between our valley and that rich mining region.

SPEECH OF A COPPERHEAD.—"You are promised liberty by the leaders of your affairs, but is there an individual in the enjoyment of it, save your oppressors? Who among you dare speak or write what he thinks against the tyranny which has robbed you of your property, imprisoned your sons, dragged you to the field of battle, and is daily deluging your country with blood?"

Now, any one of the "mighty few" who heard Malone's speech at the Court House, on Saturday last, will at once jump at the conclusion that the above is quoted from that speech. But, no! the above "Democratic" argument was written, in a circular letter, by Benedict Arnold, the Revolutionary traitor, to dissuade the Colonists from continuing their noble efforts in behalf of that holy cause he had sought to betray. It is a remarkable fact, that the identical arguments used by the Copperheads of the present day against our Government, were urged by the Tories and traitors of '76 against the Continental Congress.

NORTHERN ITEMS.—The Mountaineer has the following: A colony of Germans, who crossed the plains this season, are now on their way down to the Willamette Valley, where they design settling in a body. Welles, Fargo & Co., have bought out Rockefeller's Express, and will carry express matter to all parts of the Boise mines.

Three thousand people have already left the Boise country with a view to find a milder climate for winter, and it is estimated that six thousand more will leave soon for the same purpose.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We receive tidings from Mr. Jos. Sheridan, of Galice Creek, that his mining partner, Mr. John M'Lean, was killed on Saturday, 5th inst., by being crushed or buried under a falling bank of his claim. Mr. Sheridan was near the unfortunate man when the accident occurred, and used his utmost efforts to relieve him, but it was full half an hour before he could disencumber the body from the weight of dirt that was upon it, and then that the life of his partner had flown. The deceased was from Cape Breton, Canada where he has a sister residing.

The California Election has resulted in a grand triumph for the Union party. The Sacramento Union of the 4th has the following:

We publish election returns from about three-fourths of the counties in the State. The returns are only partial, and the majorities in some of the counties are estimated which may be somewhat varied by the official returns. These figures give F. F. Low a majority of 15,146. The gains reported justify an estimate that the full majority for the Union State Ticket will reach between 20,000 and 25,000. A complete Union administration for the State, and three lo, all members of Congress are among the results of this triumph.

COAL IN SISKIYOU.—Mr. Elliott of the railroad survey, has discovered croppings of coal mines, on the Siskiyou Mountain near Cole's. It is of a superior quality, and if a lead is found would be of great value in this section.—Yreka Journal.

INCOME TAX.—The per cent. of the English income tax is three times greater than ours. This too, for the support of that Government in times of peace.

Married.
