

THE OREGON SENTINEL.

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSABLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 14, 1863.

On Wednesday evening an untenanted miners cabin on Rich Guleh burned down.

Ryan, Morgan & Co., are receiving large lots of new goods.

Communications from "Walla Walla," "Hibernia" and "Douglas Democrat" will appear in our next issue.

Circuit Court.—There has been considerable business before the Circuit Court this week. It will probably adjourn today.

David Winfield, who was injured a couple of weeks since by being thrown from his horse and run over by his wagon, is recovering, under the careful treatment of Dr. Thompson.

Smokers and tobacco-chewers will do well to remember that the most choice varieties of segars and best brands of chewing tobacco are to be had at Row's new store.

RAIN.—The heavy rains and lowering clouds of this week are calculated to make our dry-gulch miner look hopeful. Not so, however, with us poor denizens of town, who are so unfortunate as to be without fire wood.

Wisely's War Diorama and Dissolving Views will be exhibited at the U. S. Hotel, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next. If we may believe the highly flattering encomiums of the Press, it is an opportunity for witnessing a splendid and rare exhibition.

Huge Spuds.—Messrs. Ray & Billipps, who combine agricultural pursuits with mining, on Jackass Creek, sent us a couple of the largest potatoes that were ever raised outside of Old Ireland, just by way of letting us know that "honest miners" can thrive on that creek, even in the driest season.

GOLD FISH.—The first and only living gold-fish ever seen in this country were brought up lately from San Francisco by Mr. E. C. Sessions, and can be seen, swimming in glass globes, filled with water, at the store of Bradbury & Wade. They attract considerable attention, especially from the ladies.

REMOVED AND CONSOLIDATED.—Mr. Henry Judge and Mr. Zimmerman, harness makers and saddlers, have formed a copartnership, consolidated their business, and moved their stocks into the new store in Ryan's new brick building, recently fitted up expressly for them. They have a large lot of new saddlery and harness from San Francisco, to which, by their own work, they are making additions. Expressing their obligations for former patronage, they extend an invitation to the public generally to call on them for anything that may be wanted in their line of business. Give them a call.

A MAN STABBED.—On Saturday last an affray occurred on Jackson creek, in which Charles Rand was severely stabbed with a knife, by Capt. Thomas Ballard. Captain Ballard, immediately after the occurrence, came to town and delivered himself up to the authorities. He was this week examined before the Grand Jury and discharged, it being clear that the act was done in self-defense and entirely justifiable. The wounded man is in a very critical condition. Dr. Thompson who is awaiting up, on him says the wound, which is in the left side, immediately below the ribs, may prove fatal.

Mr. Jacob Ish has rushed into print, in T'Vault Confederate organ, to deny a statement incidentally published by us several weeks since, that Maj. Glenn had held a mortgage on the Ish farm. This statement was made in an article in which we charged that the Ish Bro's, notorious secessionists, were favored by the contractor with the exclusive privilege of furnishing hay and oats for Co. "C." O. V.—"Abe Lincoln's minions; and that that privilege was costing the Government about one-third more than it would if the usual competition was allowed. We had no intention of injuring the credit of Ish Bro's by saying that Maj. Glenn held a mortgage on their farm. It would have answered as well our purpose, as stated above, to have said that Mr. Glenn had an order (as we have been informed he had) on Ish Bro's. It is mere quibble; the charge we have made still stands, undeniable.

We re-assert, what Mr. Jacob Ish has not denied, that Horace Ish, understood to have been interested in producing hay and oats for Co. "C," is generally believed by the loyal people in this community who best know him, to have gone to assist his friends in "fighting for their rights." And there is reasonable grounds for the belief. He is known as a generous, open-hearted man of high-strung temper. His early associations in the South, and his life-long prejudices against the North, leads him to deeply sympathize with the South, in their grievous sufferings, and to desire to assist them in their mad designs. From our own knowledge of Horace Ish, we believe he would rather die in the front ranks of the Confederate army than live in opulence in the Northern States. In that he is to be admired over the sneaking Copperheads who, while fattening upon the bounty of our Government, are covertly doing all they can to embarrass it in its struggle for national unity, and pusillanimously whining of Abolition tyranny.

Mr. Ish, in his communication, uses the language and style peculiar to the "ebivally." Denunciation and invective comprises three-fourths of it. While we are perfectly careless of his personal opinion of us, we always hope to deserve and receive the fiercest anathemas from him and his Confederate kind.

COPPER IN JOSEPHINE COUNTY.—For a number of years it has been known that there were good indications of rich copper leads in certain portions of our neighboring county of Josephine, but owing to the foreseen difficulty and cost of transporting the ore to Crescent City, very little attention was given to searching for and developing leads. A correspondent informs us that the people of Josephine are sanguine that copper mining is destined to become a leading interest with them. About three months ago, Dr. F. d'Henry and Mr. John Simms, of San Francisco, well acquainted with the copper business, and having full knowledge of the almost incredible wealth contained in a well defined copper lead, went to Josephine to prospect. After examination, they purchased a large claim of this mineral, near Waldo. They went systematically to work to develop their claim, and have been rewarded by the discovery of three exceedingly rich veins, bearing from 20 to 90 per cent, of copper. The main vein is four feet under ground; fourteen feet wide, of solid, compact and fine sulphurets of copper, well walled. In the opinion of competent men, this mine will be the rival, if not the superior, of the famous Union mine, of Calaveras county, Cal. Dr. d'Henry, the Superintendent, intends, next Spring, to erect works to concentrate the ore. The mine will be known under the title of the "Queen of Bronze."

In consequence of this discovery, there is quite a copper mania, and a number have expressed a desire to invest in the feet of the Queen of Bronze, but the proprietors will not sell any shares; but it is confidently expected the continuation of that and other leads will be found, offering inducements for the investments of capital. Undoubtedly the development of the copper interest will greatly increase and improve general business in Josephine, and enhance the value of property.

We have fine specimens from the Queen of Bronze mint, which can be seen at this office.

The Jacksonville Turn Verein have changed their regular night of meeting to Monday and Thursday of each week. Exercises commence at eight p. m.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—The Court Room was crowded to overflowing on Saturday night last, to witness the exercises of the female school exhibition. An exceedingly pretty picture and pleasing to look upon were the scholars, as they took their position upon the stage. Ages from the bright, mischievous little Miss of five summers up to the fair, blushing maid of "sweet sixteen" were represented, and all were bewitchingly pretty. The exercises commenced, after a prayer by Rev. P. M. Starr, by the scholars, with the appropriate song of "We're a Happy Band of Children." Then followed addresses, compositions, declamations, etc. The exercises elicited a great deal of admiration and applause. The young ladies exhibited marked improvement in that elegant and most useful accomplishment, correct, fluent reading, though at times their voices were drowned by the music of "rowing babies" in the audience. The patriotic song of the "Battle cry of Freedom," was well sung by the school, and rapturously applauded by the audience.

To add to the interest of the exhibition the parlor charades, "Stage-Struck," "Bridegroom," and "Mad-Cap," had been studied by the Misses, assisted by young gentlemen of our town. These were introduced, but with the exception of "Mad-Cap," it was evident that the players had not given that attention they should have given, to render the plays with credit to themselves. However, the audience heartily enjoyed the blunders made, and possibly enjoyed them as well as if rendered in good style.

Altogether the rendering of the whole programme of the school exercises were very creditable to the teacher and scholars, and gave great satisfaction and pleasure to the large audience.

WINE.—Mr. David Stearns, this week, gave us a bottle of wine, manufactured from grapes raised on his farm, located near Phenix, in this county. The wine was of fine flavor, and we have no doubt it will so improve with time as to compare favorably with the best of "Sparkling Catawba" or "California Wine." It was made from the following named varieties of grapes—Black Hamburg, Black Prince, Muscat and Fontaine Nang. The whole product is about 250 gallons. Mr. Stearns says he does not know what the profits of this first experiment will amount to, but is satisfied that they will be satisfactory, and is confident that next year he can make it pay handsomely. It is with pleasure we record the success of this first attempt to make wine from grapes in our Valley. It has demonstrated that the soil and climate of our valley are admirably adapted for the production of wine-making grapes. In no portion of California is the grape-vine more productive, or the quality of the fruit better.

THE RAILROAD.—Mr. Barry, Ass't Engineer of Cal. and Columbia River Railroad, and Mr. Geo. P. Funk, of this place, being duly authorized, will next week canvass the valley to collect and receipt for subscriptions to the survey. We hope they will be met with a generous liberality, for it is of more vital importance to our valley that this road should be built than to any other section through which it is to pass. Mr. Elliott started from this place, Friday morning for Marysville, where he will finish his maps, make out his report, and then proceed without delay to the East, to lay his plans before those who can, and we hope will, through influence and money, build the road. Let each person who intends making this valley his home, give something.

Classes are being formed in Jacksonville and Ashland for the study of the science of Elocution, under the tutelage of Rev. E. Arnold, now residing at Fort Jones, Cal. If the classes are filled, which we hope will be the case, Mr. Arnold, in addition to his instructions to the class, will deliver a course of fifteen public lectures, which, from the well-known talents of the lecturer, cannot fail to be instructive and entertaining.

CABBAGE HEADS.—Mr. Applegate presented us with some fine cabbages. One of these, especially, in our estimation, is of the very largest size, the plant weighing 36 pounds, and the head measuring 13 inches in diameter. A half dozen of these cabbage heads weigh as follows, 36, 22, 27, 20, 20, 20—147. They were raised upon his Ashland farm. Can any one do better?

MULISH.—Mules and facts are said to be stubborn things, and when taken collectively form one of the most unyielding combinations possible. This has been clearly demonstrated in the celebrated suit of McWillis vs. Taylor, alias "The Mule Case," which has been in court near two years. This case came on to be heard last Tuesday, and occupied nearly the whole day. The jury was out until Wednesday night, when Judge Prim, being satisfied that they could not agree, discharged them. This is the third jury that has been discharged on this case, without a verdict.

We publish in this paper an article commenting on a communication by Mr. Chaucey Nye, published two weeks since. The writer is known to have traveled over the Honey Lake route this summer, and we understand, is well acquainted with the Emigrant Road. As to the location of the Fort, we think the present winter will determine whether it is a suitable one or not. In the meantime, however, if our friends think they can settle the matter through newspaper communications, our columns, to a limited extent, are at their service.

The "California Wine, Wool and Stock Journal," for November, has come to hand. As the title indicates this journal is intended to promote the rapidly-growing interests of grape and wool-growing and the raising of stock. These should be leading interests in Southern Oregon. Our people cannot reasonably hope to prosper if they are neglected. We therefore commend the above named journal to our farmers, for its lessons cannot fail of profit. Published monthly, by J. Q. Warren, 507, Cal. St., San Francisco. Terms—$3 per annum; $1 50 for six months.

CAUGHT A DEER.—While the steamer Wilson G. Hunt was making the trip from the Cascades, yesterday, the passengers saw a deer swimming across the river, when the steamer immediately gave chase. The animal was soon captured and taken on board and made fast to the capstan, where he remained until the boat landed at its dock in this city.—Times; 4th.
