

"TO THE EFFICACY AND PERMANENCY OF YOUR UNION, A GOVERNMENT FOR THE WHOLE IS INDISPENSABLE."—Washington.

JACKSONVILLE, OREGON.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 21, 1863.

No News.—We are obliged to go to press this week without a line of telegraphic news, no dispatches having been transmitted across the Plains, to the Associated Press of California, since the 12th inst.

THE GEORGE ANNIVERSARY.—On Thursday evening Town-Marshal Banks arrested George, of the Klamaths, at the instance, we understand, of Col. Drew. Indian Sub-Agent Rogers had forwarded a petition, from the citizens of the upper portion of the valley, setting forth that George, with part of his faction of the Klamath Indians, had taken possession of the Dead Indian valley; had driven off the settlers, threatened their lives, were destroying their property, etc., and asking that the Indians be removed. On receipt of the petition, the Colonel hastened to this place, and yesterday learning that George was in town, secured his arrest by the Marshal. Yesterday morning the prisoner was taken to Camp Baker by a guard of soldiers, where, we understand, he was to be tried by a court-martial.

George for some time has been aspiring to the war chieftaincy of the Klamaths, and undoubtedly has a commanding influence over all as many Indians as any other aspirant in the tribe. La Lake is called by the Indians the Peace or Squaw Tie, while George numbers among his followers the most insolent and dangerous men of the tribe. He last summer led his party, in connection with the Modocs, in an expedition against the Pitt river Indians, and captured a number squaws and horses.

There appears to be a general desire in this community that the result of the military examination will be hanging or shooting of George, but we doubt whether sufficient evidence can be found against him to hang him. On "general principles" they might hang him and try him afterwards, and there would be no complaint on the part of our citizens, but we hardly think that responsibility will be taken by the military authorities.

N. B.—Parties just returned from Camp Baker, inform us that George was hanged about four o'clock. He is said to have confessed to having participated in the murder of the Ledford party (five persons), in the spring of 1859. He also said an Indian known as "Jack," was guilty of the same crime. The cavalry force have returned from Camp Baker to town, with Jack in custody. He will probably share the fate of George. The hideous wailing and moaning of the disconsolate and terror-stricken Indians is now being heard all around us. George evinced none of the stoical indifference for which the "noble savage" is so remarkable. He wept like a child.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.—On last Monday, Dick Collins, a gambler who has been loafing around town for the last few weeks, went into the El Dorado saloon in a boisterous manner, apparently pretty well under the influence of liquor. After slapping the bar keeper over the head with his hat, and making sundry other drunken manifestations, a man by the name of Lemuel Pruett came in, and Collins went and caught hold of him, when an apparently friendly scuffle ensued. Collins was observed to take a sheath-knife from Pruett's belt and hide it in his coat sleeve. Afterwards he caught hold of Pruett's shirt bosom and tore it off; whereupon Pruett struck him two or three slight blows. At this juncture, Pruett was warned that Collins had a knife. Collins immediately drew his pistol, and, before he could be prevented, fired at Pruett, the ball striking his hand, tearing it badly, and entering his right groin. Collins gave up his pistol and left the saloon. An ombre who stood at the door as he went out, was seen to give him a pistol. Officers Banks and Sutton arrived shortly after the occurrence, and after a short search found him hid away under a bed in the City Hotel. He was lodged in jail to await his examination. On Tuesday, his examination came up before U. S. Hayden, Justice of the Peace. After hearing the testimony, the case was continued indefinitely, and Collins committed to jail to await the result of Pruett's wound.

On yesterday, the case was called, and Collins was committed, in default of bail, on the charge of an assault to commit murder.

It is supposed Pruett will recover, although he is yet in a critical condition. Collins affects to not know anything of what happened in the affray, but the general opinion is that there was too much method in his actions for a man so drunk as he seemed. They are said to have had a difficulty previously.

A most distressing accident was related to us one day this week, the circumstances of which are about as follows. Some two weeks since, Mrs. Barnett, wife of James Barnett, living on the north side of Rogue river, near Table Rock, was thrown from a horse, falling with such violence upon her feet as to break her leg above the ankle and driving the bone through the flesh, and into the ground about six inches. So firmly was the bone driven into the ground that all the efforts of the unfortunate lady, united with the assistance of her sister, failed to release her. She was compelled to remain in that terribly painful position until her sister went a quarter of a mile and got Mr. Ercy to hasten to her release. At last accounts she was suffering greatly, and fears were entertained she could not long survive.

Correction.

Ed. Sentinel.—In my communication on the Location of Klamath Fort, there are several typographical errors, and omissions, which, if not corrected, expose it to criticism.

In the sentence—"Suppose the Indians living on the upper lake, between the fort and the new road, should commence depredations on travelers on the new road how would the news be conveyed to the fort?" In this sentence the part that I have italicized is omitted.

"The road by way of the Dalles is no more circuitous," instead of "the road from the Dalles. The road from the Dalles to John Day's river is straight enough, but the road from here to John Day, by way of the Dalles is a very circuitous one."

Instead of "the men in Squaw valley," it should be "three men in Squaw valley."

By noting these corrections you will oblige. Yours, etc.

Yreka, 18th.—A heavy wind storm passed over Trinity valley, Scott's mountain, and the upper portion of Scott's valley, last Saturday, which did much damage to the telegraph line in those sections. Altogether more than a mile of the line and poles were blown down. In many places huge trees were felled across it. Every effort is being made to get the line repaired, and it will probably be working through tomorrow.

The Oregon line is now completed from this place to the upper portion of Rogue River valley. The work is going on at the rate of 5 miles per day.

OPERATOR.

PREACHING.—Rev. P. M. STIRT will preach at the M. E. Church, of Jacksonville, tomorrow, at the usual hour. Also, at Croxton Diggings, on the following Sabbath, 29th of Nov., at 11 o'clock, A. M.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—By proclamation published in this paper, Governor Gibbs has seconded the proclamation of the President, setting apart Thursday next as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer.

Owing to a rush of "Job-work," we are unable to give our patrons the usual amount of editorial and miscellaneous matter in this issue.

Read Ryan, Morgan & Co.'s new advertisement, in this paper. Their promises made therein will be kept.

Wisely's Dismatic and Dissolving Views were exhibited in our town this week. The pictures are excellent.

Northern Items.

A little child of Mrs. O'Donald, of Salem, was so severely burned on the 8th inst. by its clothes taking fire, as to cause its death a few days after.

A child of B. J. Pengra, of Eugene City, aged about eight years, was badly burned on the 3d inst., by her clothes taking fire, while standing before the fire-place.

The wife of Capt. John Smith, of Linn county, had her right arm broken, by a fall from a wagon, Oct. 25th.

A packer known as "French Louis" was robbed at the Dalles, Nov. 1st, of a pair of blankets in which he had about $7,000 in gold dust.

Sergeant Charles Horn, of Co. B, Oregon Cavalry, has opened a recruiting office in Salem, by order of the commanding officer at Fort Vancouver. He is recruiting for Co. B, commanded by Capt. Caldwell.

Dr. Alvinus Swaine, of Placerville, I. T., mortally shot himself in a saloon on the 9th Oct. Intemperance was the cause.

A small child of Mr. James Gordon of Walla Walla valley, recently fell from a wagon, was run over and killed.

Capt. Drake's company of Oregon cavalry arrived yesterday, and have taken up winter quarters at Fort Dalles. This company has seen hard service on the plains during the past summer, and after their long and tiresome journey look rather the worse of the wear. In a few days the men will brush up and then they will look every inch like "brave sager boys."—Mountaineer of the 7th.

Nine large elk have been shipped from Portland for Victor Emmanuel's park, Italy.

The Mountaineer says that the partial returns from the late Idaho election are sufficient to warrant the assurance that Gov. Wallace, the Union candidate for Congressional Delegation, has been elected by a handsome majority.

TAXES OR GOLD.—The Nez Perce Chief brought down last evening the richest freight that any steamer on the Columbia river ever bore. Wells, Fargo had 183 lbs. ($35,000.) One party of six miners had 800 lbs. ($150,000); another party of six men had 700 lbs. ($134,400); another party of two men had 300 lbs. ($57,600); while one man had 150 lbs. ($28,000). Thus we have a total of 1950 lbs. ($347,400) in the hands of fifteen "honest miners," and 180 lbs. ($35,000) in the hands of Wells, Fargo & Co. All of these fifteen persons, our informant who came down in the Chief, saw and covered with. He also learned that nearly all the passengers had plenty of money. So it is fair to conclude that two tons of gold dust came down on the Chief last evening.—Dalles Journal.

CAVALRY.—The Examiner is ashamed of the rebel cavalry. It says: "Our cavalry fell back," is becoming too familiar in the Army of Northern Virginia. Nobody expects "our cavalry" now to do anything but fall back. The time was when Stuart's cavalry dreamed that the clumsy Yankees, unused to horseback, could not rival, much less surpass it. But such is the lamentable fact. Since Kelley's Ford, and the great review at Culpepper Court House for the benefit of the ladies, our cavalry has gone under, and we have been forced to the shameful admission that Yankee tailors and shoemakers on horseback are superior to the cavaliers of the South. Certainly the cavalry engagements of the last six months have ended with the same old song—"Our cavalry fell back."

DETENTION.—We are requested to announce that Rev. Father Macken, being unavoidably detained in Portland for an unlimited time on account of important business, his appointment as Pastor of the Church of St. Joseph, Jacksonville, has been revoked, and that another priest has been appointed in his stead, viz.: Rev. Father Francis Xavier Blanchet, who left for his mission by the stage on Saturday morning.—Oregonian, 16th.

The indications are that the next Ohio State Senate will be unanimously Union, Converse has been elected in Franklin by a small majority, on the home vote; but the soldiers' vote will wipe out this, leaving that noisy and pestilent Copperhead out in the cold. The result is, in Ohio, unprecedented. It has, indeed, no precedent in the West.—Cinc. Gazette.

MILITARY.—The companies comprising the 1st regiment Oregon Cavalry are now stationed as follows:

- Co. A, Lieut. Appersob, at Fort Walla Walla.
- Co. B, Capt. Caldwell, at Fort Vancouver, W. T.
- Co. C, Capt. Kelly, at Fort Klamath, Jackson county, Oregon.
- Co. D, Capt. Drake, at Fort Dalles.
- Co. E, Capt. Curry, at Fort Walla Walla.
- Co. F, Capt. Matthews, at Fort Lapwai.
- Co. G, Capt. Small, at Fort Vancouver, W. T.

A young fellow in Daller, Oregon, got married, one night, and early next morning found himself to be the reputed father of a strapping youngster. The doctor tried hard to convince the fellow that it was all right, but after thinking the matter over a couple of days, Oregon concluded that the physiological phenomenon was not susceptible of scientific elucidation, cried "Smash!" and took to the tall timber.—Sonora (Cal.) Flag.
