

THE OREGON SENTINEL.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

(From Daily papers of California Associated Press.)

Dates to the 20th.

There is nothing new from the Rapidan. The rebels have allowed the Government to send supplies to our people who are prisoners at Richmond, and also promise that articles sent to individuals shall be delivered to them. All these things are to go to City Point, on the James river, under a flag of truce, and thence under rebel guidance to Richmond. A dispatch from Chattanooga says: "Deserters from the rebel army are more numerous than at any time since Bragg retreated from Middle Tennessee. Demoralization of the rebels increases daily. On the other hand, Grant's troops are all in excellent spirits. Re-enlistments are more numerous than we expected. There is good authority for saying that not less than four-fifths of the entire force will enter the army for a new term."—A dispatch from Burnside says: "All right yet. Our line is still interrupted between Knoxville and Cumberland Gap."—Advices have been received by the War Department that Burnside says his position is impregnable, and he has no fear so far as the rebels under Longstreet are concerned. A telegram dated at Charleston on the 17th, and published in the Richmond papers says: "Two of the Monitors recently engaged were not to be seen this morning. There is a report from Moultrie that one Monitor in the fight had her smoke stack and turret perforated. Advices from Sumter state that it was found that the Monitors took position today near Cummings Point, and afterwards passed up the channel. It is believed they carried a heavy weight suspended at a certain depth below the water, to ascertain if there was passage for vessels of a certain draft."—A New Orleans letter, dated November 11th, says our loss in the Currier Crow (Louisiana) affair, was not less than 500 killed and wounded, and 1,000 prisoners. Our troops were caught napping and greatly outnumbered, but fought bravely. Two 12-pounder Parrotts were captured by the rebels, whose force numbered 5,000. Ours was not over 1,800, being the rear guard of Franklin's army. General Prien was reported at Alexandria with 15,000 men, for which reason, as well as on account of the impossibility of getting supplies, it was deemed best to fall back. Our wagon trains were saved. Orders are said to have been received to send the Thirteenth Army Corps to Memphis. The rebels have ceased paroling prisoners. Surgeon-General Hammond, who has recently returned from a tour of inspection in the Departments of the Gulf and Mississippi, reports the former to be in excellent condition. No cases of yellow fever had occurred among the troops on shore, and but few in the fleet. The city of New Orleans is probably the cleanest city in the country. The Richmond Enquirer complains of the French Journals, owing to their repeated assertions that instructions have been sent to Slidell to make no concessions and listen to no discussion relative to the subject of slavery. The Enquirer declares that no such instructions have been sent, because they were unnecessary. "Neither Slidell nor the Confederate Government has the power to make concessions of right to entertain any discussion of a question relating to the domestic institution. The Government has not conferred any such power on the Confederate agency. Delaware has elected Smithers (Union), Governor Cannon's Secretary of State to Congress. The National Cemetery at Gettysburg was dedicated yesterday. President Lincoln, Governor Curtin, and other Governors, were there. A late London paper publishes a memorial from the Glasgow Remancipation Society to Earl Russell, representing that a vessel similar to the Alabama, built in that harbor, had been launched. Millions of war were being rapidly placed on board with a view to hurrying her off to sea. She is reported to be destined for the purpose of pirating under the rebel flag. She has gun ports and all other appliances of a war vessel. She is disguised with paint, etc. Maffitt, of the Florida, who is in Glasgow, has taken command of her. The memorialists implore Earl Russell to prevent her departure.

Dates to Nov. 21st.

New York, 20th.—Gold market excited today by unfavorable rumors as to Burnside. It is reported that a French vessel took out $270,000 for Vera Cruz, to-day, and that to-morrow shipment to Europe will be heavy. Report says that Gen. Meagher has been made Maj. General, and is to command old Irish brigades, recruiting to maximum standard. The Russian Admiral and fleet leave Monday for Fortress Monroe, where they expect to winter.

New York, 21st.—Tribune's Washington special says attention of President and more prominent members of Cabinet is given largely to consideration of important question connected with recall of traitor Southern States to the Union, several of which may soon be knocking at the door. Precise course not yet determined. Several theories claim the President's ear, but he is engaged in maturing a practical plan by which to secure reunion upon the only practicable basis—that of freedom and equality before the law for all. Recent utterances of the President and instructions to recently commissioned representatives of the Government, in Southern districts now in our possession, leave no doubt but that the policy of the Administration is to permit none of the seceded States to return with slave constitutions.

The Herald has the following from the Army of the Potomac: Guerrillas around Warrenton having fired on our pickets quite frequently, the citizens have been notified that upon the first recurrence of picket shooting, Warrenton will be shelled. Army of the Potomac, 20.—The movement of the enemy on Wednesday, 18th, seems to have been a concerted one along the whole front to ascertain our position. A force of infantry crossed a short distance below Raecoon Ford, and attempted to cut off the 1st Michigan cavalry; but Major Bruner discovered them before an attack could be made. Enemy crossed the river during the night, and exposed themselves just at dawn. After skirmishing an hour or two, and finding their plans discovered, they returned to the opposite bank.

New York, 20th.—Steamer Morning Star, from New Orleans, Nov. 14th, has arrived. Expedition to Texas by water, accompanied by General Banks, met with great success. Brownville and Point Isabel were captured and are now in our possession. The enemy threw away their guns and fled to San Antonio. Casualties on either side not mentioned. Reports state heavy fighting in Western Louisiana untrue. There has been slight skirmishing but nothing decisive. Our forces are still in the vicinity of Vermillionville. Correspondent of the Herald thinks occupation of Rio Grande, and blockade thereof, likely to lead to conflict with France.

Cape Race, 20.—City of Baltimore, from Liverpool Nov. 11th, and Queenstown 12th, passed here this morning. It was reported that the British Admiral had ordered Kearsage from Queenstown. It was believed she was shipping men ostensible as stokers, but they were supposed to be for more active service.

Lord Palmerston, in a speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet, deplored the American war, and said England would have interfered but for the belief that it would have been in vain. He would therefore yield neither to blandishment nor menace, but would remain strictly neutral.

In regard to Poland, Palmerston said England had done her duty by remonstrating, and although these remonstrances failed, he hoped Russia would cease to pursue her offensive course. Lord Palmerston's reception was significantly enthusiastic.

From Michael Murphy.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 25th, 1863. MOTHER SENTINEL.—Be this and be that but Judy has commenced to wear the breeches, and whilst I was flattering myself that I was a good correspondent, and that my letters from the Army of the Potomac was covartin the Jeff Davis boys on Missouri flat and Williamsburg creek into out-and-out Linkum abolitionists, I find, on visit home on a furlough of thirty days, that Judy (to whom I had sent my Oregon letters to be carefully mailed) had detained every one of them, on the pretext that the first was immodest and all of them horribly written and the spelling shameful. There's for you! if that's not petty-coat government then me name is not Mickey. Now, sir, as Judy has gone to spend the day with her uncle's cousin Jarmin, Teddy Rafferty's wife, and has taken young Micky with her, I take the advantage of makin' you acquainted with the circumstance, and that me brave Missouri bucks might know that I was yet in the land of the livin' and helpin the old flag on to glory.

When I arrived in Philadelphia, in the August of last year, Judy would not marry unless I'd volunteer; and though I thought it mighty hard to pay so dear, yet it chimed in with my duty, and a traneer didn't keer; and expecting thirty days of grace, the honeymoon to pass, before soulderin' a musket in "Curtin's" brave Reserves; but Lee enticed Pennsylvania and sent us to grass, ere five days of connubial bliss had passed, like sweet comarves; and here's what I wrote to you that shocked Judy's modesty.

Suppose you were married and the in-fair over, and four or five mornings afterwards, as you had just finished a nice breakfast of soft boiled eggs, buttered toast, and mosby coffee, and was leanin back in your rockin chair, sendin up the first whiff from your meersham, and tinglin from the roots of your hair to your toe nails with matrimonial bliss, whilst your Judy had gone up stairs to make the bed and set the house in order, an inimy suddenly comes behind and rovels you up in a red blanket!—now what would you think of that. If you, Sir, by reason of being an old bachelor can't answer, get a new married man's opinion, and havin it, then you will be able to sympathize with my felins, at the way in which my old friends of the Southern wing of the Dimmyeratic party broke in on my honeymoon, by invadin Maryland, and sent me off to Camp Curtin at a 2:40 pace.

"Turn out your toes," says the Sargent at drill, "Yis, sir," says I, "and that, sir, I will." "Throw back your shoulders and draw in your chin, Eyes to the right, and dress on Pat. Phynn.

Well, Sir, you now have what shocked Judy's modesty, and when I tried to explain to her that most of the ladies of Jacksonville were broke into matrimonial harness, and those yet single were like greyhounds in the leash, strainin for the start, it didn't mollify her a bit, and the long and short of it was I had to tell her to throw all my letters into the fire, and I'd try to excuse myself to you the best way I could. Bedad, if it was my old flame now livin on Missouri flat, and the mother of four or five tow-heads just like steps of stairs, and herself [God bless her] beef to the heels like a Mulligan heifer, she would just laugh ready to split, so you can see for yourself how good wimmen differ about ideas of propriety.

As my furlough expires in about ten days, and I feel certain that "forward" is the word when the weather cools, it is possible I may not have another opportunity of writin for some time, but you may be assured that the "Pennsylvan Reserves" will do their duty.

I received a letter a few days ago from an old friend on the Applegate, and he tells me there is a report that "gallant, gay lutherian," the learned editor of the Civilian is studying theology under father Williams, for the purpose of enterin on the missionary field of Williamsburg, and I say that if he succeeds in makin a loyal man of Squire Gearhart and a truthful man of Dutch Bill, that he'll deserve to be canonized just as much as Saint Patrick was for drivin the snakes out of Ireland. Yours, forever, MICHAEL MURPHY.

P. S.—When you print this don't send it to the old address, or Judy might get into the tantrams at the allusion to my Missouri flame, but send it to the "Headquarters, Pennsylvania, Army of the Potomac, in the field," as I am Orderly to the General. M. M.

SUNK.—The ship Aquilla, having on board the iron clad Comanche, sunk at San Francisco on the night of the 15th inst. She will be saved, but it will cause several months detention in putting her together. It will be recollected that the Comanche is a first class vessel of the Monitor style, and was ordered by Government for the purpose of defending the harbor of San Francisco. She was built near New York, and was taken apart and shipped around the Horn, and will be put together in San Francisco. She will cost between seven and eight hundred thousand dollars when completed, which will not be within a year.
