

THE OREGON SENTINEL

HOW THE REBELS ENFORCE THE CONSCRIPTION.—A Mississippian communicates, among other facts, the following to the Memphis Bulletin:

Each conscript band has a pack of negro hounds attached to it. The conscribers come up to a man's house, and announce that the incumbent, young or old, shall go with him to headquarters. They take no denial. The headquarters are at Grenada. The conscribers announce to the head conscript officer, that they have such a person, calling him by name, and before the luckless man can have an opportunity to say a word, they are ordered to take him to the 'guard house.' There the unfortunate remains for two or three days, until a sufficient number are obtained, and they are all sent off to the conscript camp, where they are placed under such surveillance that escape is next to impossible. They are denied all opportunity now to go and see their families, or even to take sufficient clothing. They are unceremoniously dragged off, and never permitted even to have an opportunity to show that they are unfairly dealt with. Some instances are recorded where persons have refused to go with the conscribers, and they were generally shot down on their own premises.

A Hint on Conversation.—There is speaking well, speaking easily, speaking justly and speaking reasonable. It is offending against the last to speak of entertainment before the indigent; of sound limbs and health before the infirm; of houses and lands before one who has not so much as a dwelling; in a word, to speak of your prosperity before the miserable. This conversation is cruel, and the comparison which naturally arises in them betwixt their condition and yours is excruciating.—La Bruyere.

A negro cook in one of the regiments on Morris Island, lately conceived the idea of making sinkers for fish lines out of the lead around Parrot shot. To this end he placed a shell in a stove and sat down, laze in hand, to catch the molten lead as it fell. Just about the time the lead should have fused, the stove separated into very minute fragments, and the last seen of the smelter was a series of involuntary gymnastics, creditable to his agility, but unpleasant for their abruptness.

The late Judge Pease was a noted wag. A young lawyer was once making his first effort before him, and had thrown himself on the wing of imagination into the seventh heaven, and was preparing for a higher ascent, when the judge struck his rule on the desk two or three times, and exclaimed to the astounded orator, "Hold on, hold on, my dear sir, don't go any higher, for you already out of the jurisdiction of this court!"

An absent-minded Professor, in going out of the gateway of his college, ran against a cow. In the confusion of the moment, he raised his hat and exclaimed, "Beg your pardon, madam." Soon after, he stumbled against a lady in the street. In sudden remembrance of his former mishap he called out, "Is that you again, you brute?"

An enamored swain was serenading a pretty Quakeress, and sang the song of "Home, Sweet Home," when the Father appeared at the window. "Friend," said he, "thou has been singing of thy home—thy sweet home; now, if thee have a home, and a sweet home, why don't thee go to thy home?"

Sambo lost a dog, the tail of which he finally found and recognized lying in the street in front of a sausage shop, upon which the darkey exclaimed, as he pointed to certain well-filled skins hanging in the window, while he held up Carlo's tail, "I won't say euffin agin dat ere sausage shop, but I know whar my dog is!"

The Ohio Farmer says that coal oil has been found, by accident, to be a most effective means of protecting fruit trees against the ravages of the curculio, by placing sawdust saturated with the oil at the foot of the tree.

A dutchman was summoned to court to prove the identity of a stolen hog. On being asked by the lawyer if the hog had any ear marks, he replied: "Ye only ear marks dat I saw vas dat his tail vas cut off."

Beware of Greenback Men.

MERCHANTS and traders of Jackson county will please take particular notice whom they trust. A certain young man, whose name is David Penniger, contracted a bill with me in June last, in good faith, amounting to the enormous sum of $60 50.00, and to-day when I presented his bill to him for payment, he compelled me to take greenbacks at par.
