Obituary.

Never did poet speak more truth in fewer words than Burns, in the following lines:

"Man's inhumanity to man
Makes countless millions mourn."

Of all the inhumanity practiced by mankind, none is so distressing as ingratitude; none which so tortures the soul and harrows up the mind, often covering its victim with the clods of a suicide's grave, or driving him in dispair to waste his life in the inebriating bowl. As an instance of dire ingratitude, perhaps unparalleled in this part of the country, we would refer to the course of the Democratic party towards their "Faithful Defender," the late editor of the Intelligencer, Col. W. G. T'Vault, under whose leadership they have obtained their present power in Southern Oregon. He who first conceived the idea of starting a Democratic journal in Jackson county. He who since this war began has hung their party banner on the outer walls, and cried aloud in denunciation of Abraham Lincoln and his "vandal soldiers" in the field. He has built up a paper in the service of his party, on which he has spent much brain capital and midnight oil. Through that paper he has fought their battles, printed their lies, and done their job work, in general. But now the election is over and they have carried the day. Power and spoils are to be divided among them. A time had come when the father of Democracy in Jackson county, and its "Faithful Defender," might begin to reap the reward he had so richly won. But, kind reader, mark the mournful sequel: During the latter part of last week, signs of disaffection began to be discovered in the ranks of those over whose welfare he had long and watchful vigils kept. Small knots of the unterrified were occasionally seen in close communion on the corners, and, ever in their midst, an ominous looking individual of newspaper notoriety. The Colonel's keen perception soon snuffed trouble in the breeze. Feeling bitterly the injustice about to be done him, and knowing full well the disaster that such a course was sure to bring on his devoted party, he determined if possible to defeat the insurgents, and bring everything again to an equilibrium. A premonitory demand was made on him to deliver up his paper, which, of course, he refused. A writ of replevin was then issued, and the press and material was turned over to the tender mercies of P. J. Malone, and the old democratic veteran turned out to graze, being no longer deemed serviceable.

Oh! ingratitude, ingratitude! how bitter art thy sting! Where e'er thou strikest, thy writhing victim quails. By thy blighting influence the veteran Defender has now to see his cherished paper in the hands of one who is a stranger in our midst. Ay, the paper which his own mind devised, and his hands established; a paper which he has, through many difficulties, brought up, and nourished, and watched with fatherly care and pride from its first number until it was ruthlessly wrested from him.

And now the Oregon Intelligencer is gone. It is numbered among the fleeting things of this earth, which are no more, and from its ruins springs the Oregon Reporter, the name of which was never before in print.

EPITAPH.

A journal here in silence lies,
Which had oft and loudly lied before.
Kind friends around did close its eyes
When death came in and closed its door.
'Tis lying still, yet lies no more,
It's race is run, its troubles o're.

For further particulars see the Colonel's Valedictory in this issue of the SENTINEL.

Mr. James Cummings, of this place, has just received the sad intelligence of the death of his son, who was killed in an engagement with Price, near Independence, on the 21st of October. He died like a true soldier—at his post—and his name is enrolled in that bright list of glory, which shall forever be cherished in the memory of American people as those who fell defending their noble flag, and the glorious institution that their fathers gave.

Valedictory of W. G. T'Vault.

To the Patrons of the "Oregon Intelligencer:

The undersigned respectfully tenders to the patrons of the OREGON INTELLIGENCER, and the people generally, his thanks for the manner in which they have sustained that paper.

The issue of the INTELLIGENCER was commenced in the Fall of 1862, without a subscriber, when Jackson county had, at the June election previous, gone about one hundred Union Republican, or Abolition majority—the first time that the Democracy had ever been defeated in the county. Notwithstanding the officials of the county and the Oregon Sentinel were all anti-Democratic at the late June election, Old Jackson again returned to her first love—Democracy.

The press, and type we used for issuing the INTELLIGENCER, was owned by a number of prominent democrats, who had purchased it after the Southern Oregon Gazette had been suppressed. Great fears were entertained that the INTELLIGENCER would share the same fate; consequently, prudence dictated that a conservative course of policy should be pursued; hence, many radical democrats complained that there was not enough of Copperhead poison in its columns; also the opposition, particularly the radical portion, contributed their mite of opposition; therefore, we had much to contend against, yet with all this, we contributed all we were able to carry Southern Oregon democratic, and the vote shows a favorable result. It is not our desire to create the impression that the INTELLIGENCER effected all this, but one thing is certain, we done all we well could to bring about this result.

The owners of the press, through the Chairman of the Democratic Committee, have thought proper to plan the "institution" under other and different persons. Their object for so doing is not a matter for me to discuss. If we had a thousand complaints, this is not the time and place to make them.

It is a well known fact, that we edited the first newspaper ever published in Oregon (The Spectator), in 1846. Afterwards, in 1855, was the principal founder of the Table Rock Sentinel, at Jacksonville; afterwards purchasing the entire interest in the concern, changing the name to Oregon Sentinel, and continuing its publication till late in the fall of 1859. During the entire period of our life, we have not heard that our democracy was ever doubted.

We have no complaints to make for lack of patronage during our newspaper career in Oregon. There is no question but that the change in the times, the scarcity of money, and the great number of newspapers published on the Pacific coast, particularly in Oregon, renders patronage more limited than heretofore.

On Saturday, the 10th instant, after the issue of our paper, we were notified that the office was wanted. We desired, as a matter of courtesy, to be permitted to publish another number, and give to our friends a valedictory. However, on Monday, the press was taken. Through the kindness of the proprietor of the Sentinel we make this acknowledgment, for past favors, to the public, and to the Democracy especially, hoping that as we have retired from publishing a paper, those who are indebted to us for subscription and advertising will promptly pay their bills, which will be forwarded in a few days.

Respectfully W. G. T'VAULT.
Jacksonville December 16th, 1864.

The Sacramento valley is a natural tobacco growing country. The wild tobacco plant is an indigenous plant to this country, as it was East. The Indians used it to the same extent almost that it was used by the Indians in Virginia, but they did not cultivate it, therefore it was of an inferior quality.—Colusa Sun.

Wild tobacco is not confined to Sacramento Valley alone. In Rogue River Valley it is found in abundance. In Jacksonville it is frequently seen growing out from under the side walks, and on unoccupied lots. Mr. B. F. Miller, near Table Rock, has been cultivating the indigenous plant, by way of experiment, for the last three years. It is very prolific, and improves greatly by cultivation. Its flavor is peculiar, but not disagreeable, and is prefered to any other by the Indians.

ALL SUBSCRIBERS who are in arrears to the SENTINEL can pay up at the rate of $4 00, per annum, until the first of Feb. Those not paid by that time will be charged at regular advertised rates. All bills sent out before that date will be subject to the above conditions. We hope our patrons will be prompt in forwarding the amount due from them, so that we may be able to meet our liabilities for paper, printers hire, &c.

Mr. George D. Prentice published a card in his paper, stating that his only surviving son, Col. Clarance J. Prentice, in the Confederate service, killed a man by the name of White, of Abington, Va., some time ago, in self-defence. He stands a trial for his life at Richmond, and his counsel has obtained permission from the Confederate authorities for the Elder Prentice to attend the trial. He says he shall go after the election, if the Federal authorities grant permission.

STAGE ACCIDENT.—On last Wednesday morning, when the Yreka stage had gone about one mile from town, the horses suddenly mired down in the road, at a place where it had heretofore been perfectly solid. Mr. King, the driver, returned to town for assistance about 7 o'clock. After much difficulty the stage and horses were extricated.

In sending out bills to our subscribers, mistakes may occur. We shall always be ready to correct any error that may arise.

Journal of Drew's Owyhee Expedition.

BY A. B. MILLER.

September 24th—Moved back 12 miles over a desert, and made camp No. 37 about three miles south of old camp 30, on Horse Creek. Good grass and water. Willow and sage for fuel.

September 25th—Moved 11 miles S. and S. W. over Steins Mountain, and made camp No. 38 in a beautiful mountain glade, with excellent grass and water. Willows for fuel. Route somewhat rough, but of good grade, and can easily be made practicable for the heaviest wagons.

September 26th—Moved 15½ miles, meandering out of the base of Stein's Mountain, and following along its western base, generally in about a N. W. course. Made camp 39 on a mountain stream of good water, with excellent grass, and willows for fuel. Considerable juniper growing on the mountain near by. Explorations being necessary, we remained in this camp three days, and had six animals stolen by the Indians.

September 30th—Moved 27½ miles—24 miles nearly due west, and thence 3½ miles south to Beaty's Springs, on the west side of a conical butte rising immediately out of the desert, and made camp No. 40. Good water and grass, small willows and sage for fuel. Route, level and easy except heavy sage for about 12 miles.

October 1st—Moved 19½ miles, a little south of west, over rocky ground, and reached our old camp No. 23 in the scattering pines. These pines were the last trees that we saw on our outward trip, until we reached Jordan Creek in the vicinity of the mines, and the first that we have seen since we left there.

October 2d—Moved 17 miles over old route, to old camp 21 in Warner's Valley.

October 4th—Moved 10 miles in a N. W. course, across Warner's Valley, and made camp No. 41 on a small creek of excellent water, putting in from the westward. Good grass and the largest willows of the season for fuel. Willows and grass covered in many places with honey dew.

October 5th—Moved 15 miles nearly due west, ascending the western rim of Warners Valley by an easy grade, and thence over some four miles of rocky ground—the balance of the distance a good route, and made camp No. 42 in the eastern foot-hills of the Sierra's, and on the same stream discovered yesterday. Grass, water, and wood, abundant and good. Here is the first pine timber west of camp 23.

October 6th—Moved 15 miles, with some meanderings, but generally in a nearly due west course; crossing a few points of rocky ground, and two small mountain streams, and made camp No. 43 in a large glade putting out of the Sierra's to the eastward. Wood, water, and grass, plenty and good.

October 8th—Moved 6½ miles in a direction a little north of west, crossing the summit of the Sierra's over an almost imperceptable up grade, and made camp No. 44 in a small glade putting out into a ravine to the westward. Good spring water, grass, and wood.

October 9th—Moved 11 miles in nearly a due west course, passing out of the Sierra's by an easy descent into Goose Lake Valley about 15 miles from the lake, crossing several fine mountain streams putting in from the northward, and made camp No. 45 at a cluster of large Springs in a small tributary of Goose Lake Valley opening out from the northwest.

October 11th—Moved 13 miles forming junction with old route between old camps Nos. 9 and 10 and made camp near old 9. Junction 9 miles west of old camp 10 in Goose Lake Valley.

October 12th—Moved along old route, keeping the same until the 18th, when we arrived at Fort Klamath.

Regarding the route traveled on our return, very little need be said. It is simply a good one and will commend itself to those who choose to pass over it. It brings the Owyhee mines within 440 miles of Jacksonville, or Yreka, and its requisites for a good and permanent road, cannot be equaled, anywhere else between any point in Southern Oregon or Northern California and Idaho Territory.

THE MINES.—The prospects of the miners were never more flattering, in Southern Oregon, than at the present time. At Willow Springs, a much greater yield is anticipated, than at any former season. On Poorman's, Jackass, Humbug, and Foot's Creeks, there will be an increase in the productiveness of the mines. On Jackson Creek, the miners are jubilant over their fine show for a good winter's work.

CALIFORNIA YOUTH'S COMPANION.—We have received the first number of this paper, published in San Francisco, by Smith & Edgar. If this number is a fair specimen, we have no hesitancy in saying every family should take it. Price $2 50.

WEATHER.—We have had fine, bad good, stormy, warm, cold, disagreeable, pleasant, sunshiny and rainy weather dur. ing this week, and from present indications it is likely to continue so, unless a change occurs.

CALL at Mr. KRUIZER'S Store and see the many fine things in store for the holidays, and hear the dolls talk.

UNCERTAINTY OF THE LAW.—A laughable illustration of the heading of this article occurred in Illinois lately, as will be seen by the following from the Peoria News:

Mr. B. was out hunting with his rifle, and crossing the field of Mr. C., a Frenchman, C's large dog attacked him savagely, while C. stood looking on, without attempting to call off his dog. B. geting out of patience, shot the dog and he fell apparently dead. C., in high dudgeon, forthwith got out a warrant, and had B. arrested for killing his dog; swore to the killing, and was corroborated by two of his neighbors who were present at the shooting. The magistrate fined B. ten dollars and costs amounting to about ten more; B. paid the fine and costs, and when the parties got home from the trial the dog had came also, and was not killed. B then got a warrant against the Frenchman and his two associates for perjury, in swearing B. had killed the dog. They were frightened, and made peace with B., paid him back his twenty dollars and ten more for his trouble, and no trial was had; and when the parties returned home from the last suit, lo, the dog was dead.

A HORSE FOR GEN. PHIL. SHERIDAN.—The old neighbors of Major-General Sheridan, living in Yamhill county, says the Oregonian, have undertaken the project of furnishing him with the best Black Hawk horse that can be purchased in the State of Oregon, to forward to the General in the field. Several hundred dollars have already been raised for the purpose, and there is no doubt but the present will be purchased as soon as it be hit upon. This movement speaks well for the esteem felt by former associates for the illustrious man, who is now so energetically leading the hosts who are fighting to preserve the Union under the badge lately laid aside by George B. McClellan. May he ever ride on to victory that shall bring us peace.

COURTING A BACHELOR.—"What did you come here after?" inquired Miss Susan Diaper, of a bachelor friend, who made her a call when the rest of the people were gone out.

"I come to borrow some matches," he meekly replied.

"Matches! that's a likely story. Why don't you make a match? I know what you came for," exclaimed the delighted Miss, as she crowded the old bachelor into a corner, "You came here to kiss and hug me almost to death, but you sha'nt—without you are the strongest, and the Lord knows you are."

A traveler confesses to having ridden forty miles with the sweet and interesting Mrs. Grimes, whom notwithstanding his fastidiousness, he would have kissed but for three reasons, which he thus gives: "First I am such a good husband I wouldn't even be guilty of the appearance of disloyalty to my sweet wife; secondly, I was afraid our fellow passengers would see me and tell Grimes; thirdly I do not think Mrs. Grimes would let me."

GENERAL GRANT ON THE ELECTION.

City Point, Thursday, Nov. 10.

Edwin M Stanton, Secretary of War: Enough now seems to be known to say who is to hold the reins of Government for the next four years. Congratulate the President for me for the double victory. The election having passed off quietly, no bloodshed or riot throughout the land, is a victory worth more to the country than a battle won. Rebeldom and Europe will construe it so.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—We regret that circumstances render it impossible for us to give the President's Message this week. We have taken measures to furnish it to our readers in suplamentary form, in a few days. It was delivered to both houses of Congress on Tuesday, Dec. 6th, but did not reach California until the 8th. It is a brief and comprehensive report of the condition of a great nation.

Why is Jackson County likely to be short of funds this year?

Because it has but one Bill Owen for the tax Collector.

Why should Jacksonville be a desirable place to start a grist mill?

Because it has plenty of Millers and Sachs.

Dr. Thompson will be found at the City Drug Store, his card in another column of the SENTINEL, and his recommendation in his great success during his long residence in this place.

KERBYVILLE STAGE.—On last Wednesday, Jo. Landis was again obliged to leave his stage, and bring the mails in on horseback; Applegate still being to high to ford.

James Mitchel was found dead in his cabin at Sterlingville on the 10th inst. His death was supposed to have been very sudden.

GENERAL WARREN.—General Warren, says an exchange, is conceded to be the greatest working General in the Army. He often superintends working parties in person, and often adds example to precept by using the ax or pick, and he can handle a spade quite as well as an army corps, and vice versa. He is very striking in bearing and appearance, and after seeing him once you are likely to know him ever after. He is on the sunny side of forty, tall and slim, straight as an arrow, complexion dark, face shaven clean, excepting mustache, hair worn long reaching to the collar of his coat, straight and black as an Indian's; his eyes are black and deep-set; his nose aquline, and anything but small.

PAT was helping Mr. Blank to get a safe in his office one day, and not being acquainted with the article, inquired what it was for.

"To prevent papers and other articles which are placed in it from being burned in case of fire," said B.

"An' sure, will nothing iver burn that's put in that thing?"

"No."

"Well thin, yer honor, ye'd better be after getting into that same thing when ye die."

Mr. Blank "wilted."

In conformity with the old custom of advertising from the public signpost all intentions of marriage, the following announcement was made: "Marriage is intended between Mr. Williams, of Williamtown, and Miss Betsy Williams, of Williamsbridge." A mischievous wag, to make it more explicit, wrote underneath: "For particulars, see small Bills next year."

ENORMOUS VOTE OF EASTERN CITIES.—The total vote of the city of New York at the Presidential election was 110,471, and yet several thousands of votes were said to have been excluded for want of time. The total vote of Philadelphia, including the soldiers' vote, was 96,370.

The President has promoted fighting Phil. Sheridan to the rank of Major-General in the regular army, the position resigned by the exploded hero of graveyards on the Chickahominy.

If five and a half yards make a pole, how many will make a Turk?

If three miles make a league, how many will make a Confederacy?

Men who invest in crinoline stock, generally prefer the five twenties to the seven-thirties.

Watt's Nervous ANTIDOTE.

The most Remarkable Medicine yet Discovered!

OPINIONS OF THE CALIFORNIA PRESS.

One of the greatest chemical discoveries of modern times is Watt's Nervous Antidote. The medicine is perfectly harmless in its effects, but at the same time acts so powerfully upon the nervous system that the worst cases of nervous disorders are completely cured in a very short time.—[Nevada Transcript.

It is not like the thousand and one remedies offered to the public that cure everything, but it is a specific remedy for all case arising from nervous derangement, its merits have been proved in numerous instances known to us, from various causes, and many a bed ridden invalid has been restored to health.—[Police Gazette.

This is one of the patent articles of the day which is really well worthy of the confidence of the public, and justly entitled to the popularity it enjoys.—[S. F. Herald.

It is the best thing we have yet found to produce a quiet and refreshing sleep. Nervous persons should try it by all means; it will hurt no one, and is good for all.—[American Eagle.

If the editors of the Eastern newspapers are to be believed, this is an extraordinary compound. It is said that it will cure the worst cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all diseases arising from a derangement of the nervous system.—[San Jose Patriot.

Watt's Nervous Antidote has the reputation of being one of the wonders of the age.—[Pacific Cumberland Presbyterian.

It has been known to cure Rheumatism of long standing, even after the case had been given over as hopeless.—[Oakland News.

It is a great discovery, as thousands that have been relieved by it can bear testimony.—[Napa Reporter.

It is a splendid preparation.—Amador Dispatch.

It is unquestionably the greatest medical discovery of the age.—[Monterey Gazette.

Dr. Watt's Nervous Antidote cures more nervous diseases than all the physcians on the Pacific Coast.—[Jackson (Oregon) Sentinel.

RHEUMATISM.—This terrible and painful disease is very readily cured by the use of "Watt's Nervous Antidote," it affords immediate relief and cures completely in a few weeks.—[San Jose Patriot.

This remarkable medicine does not contain anything injurious to the system, being composed of vegetable substance entirely. It contains no mercury or opium, and yet its effects are like magic; under the influence of it, the patient's nerve's become quiet and he falls asleep.—Solano Press.

Persons who have suffered for years with physical debility are relieved at once by the use of this medicine, and in a short time are completely restored to health and vigor.—[Quincy Union.

The Antidote will cure Rheumatism, neuralgia, and in fact all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system.—[Placerville Democrat.

Ten drops of Watt's Nervous Antidote will quiet a crying child in two minutes. The Medicine is perfectly harmless, and mothers need not be afraid to try it.—[Santa Cruz Sentinel.

It is the greatest remedy yet discovered for the cure of all diseases arising from a derangement of the nervous system.—Woodland News.
