

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, was at Denver on the 27th of May, visited the Pike's Peak mine and proceeded westward, reaching Great Salt Lake City, June 12th. He is received with genuine hospitality by the citizens of Utah, serenaded, taken to the lake, addressed in speeches of welcome, and otherwise complimented and entertained. Mr. Colfax was instructed by President Abraham Lincoln, to tell the people of the West how near and dear to his heart were their interests, and what to his ears were their advances, and to urge the same liberal policy proposed by the President and Johnson to assure that the development of the resources of the great States and Territories of the Far West will engage the special care and attention of the general Government.

The parties accompanying Mr. Colfax are Gov. B. H. Puffer of Illinois, Mr. Bowen of the Springfield (Mass.) Republic, and Mr. A. D. Richardson of the N. Y. Tribune. The two journalists furnish the Atlantic press a full account of the entire trip, and of the people and places visited, so far as their opportunities permit. Mr. Colfax and his companions are now receiving the polite attention of Brigham Young, the President of the Church of Latter Day Saints, known as Mormons, who comprise almost the entire population of Salt Lake City and the Territory of Utah. They will next take the world renowned traveler, J. Row Brown, now on his way from California to Idaho, whose sketches and observations of the Mormon people are soon to appear in Harper's Magazine. Messrs. Bowen, Bowen and Richardson are expected to give a perfectly fair and honest report of their impressions as sojourners among the Saints, and if they prove faithful to the task, will have it in their power to correct a vast amount of misapprehension and prejudice that now exists regarding the peculiar people who with unexampled patience, industry and enterprise have settled and built up the wonderful City of Salt Lake, a new Palmyra in the desert, and perhaps the most interesting point at this time on the Continent of North America.

Ex-Governor William Bigler of Pennsylvania, and wife, arrived on the last steamer. They are now visiting Hon. John Bigler, at Sacramento.—Golden Era, June 12th.

Dearest Come Kiss Me.

A Western paper publishes a poem concerning:—
Dearest, come kiss me; my lips are yet warm,
And my bosom still pants from the clasp of Thine arm;
The blood dances wildly through each throbbing vein;
But droop, Oh! I droop for thy kisses again.
To which a very "fresh" young gentleman promptly replied:
"Dearest, I am, dearest, I dart like a fish;
My lips shall with kisses respond to thy wish;
I'll check not the blood throbbing wild in each vein,
But I'll stop thee from drooping for kisses again.
Thou turn up thy bill, love, I'll pounce like a bird;
And thro' vale and thro' forest the smack shall be heard.
If you suffer for kisses, I'm thine, you may bet!
And I'll kiss thee from morning till the sun shall be set.
Come kiss me! why thunder, I'm one of that kind;
I'm the chap of all others you're trying to find;
So you needn't look farther—I'm in for the chance,
The blood should "cavort" and your "pulse" it may dance.
So bring on the fruits, love—your kisses, I mean;
For I dream, now, of nothing but peaches and cream.
I'm waiting, and panting, and praying till then;
So come along, dearest, as quick as you can!"

THE FEATURES OF THE DECEASED PRESIDENT.
The New York Post thus speaks of the deceased which had taken place in the countenance of Mr. Lincoln after his death:
"Those who had the sight of the emperor's act would have reserved his features to an almost unchangeable, elevated of spirit. Death will not be a President ravages. The eyes of the dead are sunken, his face is somewhat discolored, and about the lower part of the nose the eyes and cheeks; his lips are slightly compressed that the mouth seems to be a straight, sharp line. It is not the usual, kindly face of a President, but a ghastly shadow. The sunken and sunken features give the impression that the coffin which encloses them is far too large. They bear no marks of pain, yet cannot note on them that quiet smile which it is said they wore for a short time after death. The thousands who, seeing our martyred President for the first time, will see him only in his coffin, can give but a poor idea of his homely, kind, intelligent countenance, as it was when illuminated by vitality, and reflecting the good, generous soul of the living man."

THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

matism, Hall's Sarsaparilla Yellow Doc and Iodide of Potass.

THE FUNERAL PROCESSION OF BOOTH, THE ASSASSIN.

is thus described by the Chicago Journal:
Yonder he goes, on a cart, to his lot in the earth. The man who buries him is masked, and turns away his face as he buries him. This may be all of that procession to be seen by mortal eye, but that is not all of it to be seen by the Omnipotent eye.

Paul bearers.—Quantrell, the hero of the massacre at Lawrence; Forrest, the commander of the battery at Fort Pillow; Andrews, the ring leader of the New York draft mob, and Jefferson Davis, the high chief slave holder, conspirator and assassin.

Chief mourners.—Copperhead Cox, who said "Lincoln and Davis ought to be brought to the same block together;" copperhead Allen, who said, "if they could not put Lincoln out of power by the ballot they will by the bullet;" the La Crosse Democrat which hoped "some bold hand would pierce Mr. Lincoln's heart with a dagger point for the public good;" the Chicago Times, which always regarded President Lincoln as a "despot" until he was dead, and then went into weeds for him, and which affirms that "Booth sincerely believed he was ridding the earth of a tyrant."

Rev. clergy.—Rev. H. Clay Dean of Iowa, Rev. Dr. O. A. of Ohio and other lights of the Copperhead church and preachers of the "new gospel of peace."

Several Societies.—Knights of the Golden Circle, Sons of Liberty, Chicago Snakes.

Delegation from Perdition.—Preston S. Brooks, Lawrence M. Keitt, "Sue Monday," "Jesse," Benedict Arnold, and Judas Iscariot.

N. B.—Copperheads will be careful not to appear in the wrong procession, as their motives might be misunderstood. Satan will be present and pray, if—he is not to busy elsewhere.

COTTON IN CALIFORNIA.—The California Price Current has been furnished by A. T. Farrish & Co., with the following interesting letter from Livermore & Chester, dated Fort Tejon, Los Angeles county, May 26, 1865:
"Our cotton lands at Kern river I visited yesterday. The plants are eight and ten inches high, and look splendidly. The seed we procured in the States proves excellent; I think not a seed has failed to come up. We have about one hundred and ten acres of cotton, and half as much corn, all growing nicely. We hope to be able to forward to you a handsome crop of cotton this fall, which, whatever the price, must at least return us our outlay. Can you supply us with a cotton gin and at what price?"

HOW BEAUFIELD.—The closing sentences of President Lincoln's first inaugural are singularly impressive, when viewed in the light of the bright bow which spans and illumines the dark reeking cloud of war. Here they are:
"We are not enemies, but friends; we must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic cords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as they surely will be, by the better angels of our nature."

QUICK WORK.—On Tuesday morning, June 13th, says the Red Bluff Independent, a field of wheat, east of Red bluff, was cut down and immediately threshed. It was sacked and taken to the Astor mill by noon, and appeared as flour in the Red Bluff market at five o'clock in the evening.

HORSE LOST.—A valuable livery horse, belonging to John S. Dinn, while being driven to a buggy, near Jacksonville, one day this week, fell dead.

WIND MILLS.—In the vicinity of Jacksonville wind mills have been introduced with great success for the purpose of irrigation.

NO DISPATCHES.—The storms, Indians &c., seem determined to keep us of the Pacific slope in total ignorance of passing events in the East. We have no later advices from the Atlantic States than to June 5th.

CELEBRATION.—All should bear in mind that the dinner at the celebration near Camp Baker, is to be a picnic, and they should come prepared to take care of themselves and one or two others if necessary.

FRUIT.—The people of this valley have been for sometime feasting on strawberries, raspberries and cherries.

MR. A. C. ALBERTS contemplates moving from Jacksonville soon, as can be seen by his advertisement in another column.

Thank to Mr. Stratman and White & Baker for boxes of Atlantic papers.

WHAT KILLED HIM?

DR. HALL, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving asks the above question, and adds: "He might well have remained with us for years to come, had it not been for advice kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance."

HE HAD A COLD!

which, by some unjudicious prescription, had been converted into an asthma. Who gave that prescription, or what it was, the outside world may never know." Let me say to Dr. Hall, that that "prescription" was not Newell's Pulmonary Syrup.

Keep it in the house; use it freely; give it to your children upon the slightest indication of a cold; and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.
