Message to the Senate from the President.

The following message from the President was received and read: To the Senate of the United States in reply to the resolution adopted by the Senate on the 12th inst. I have the honor to state that the rebellion waged by a portion of the people against the properly constituted authorities of the Government of the United States has been suppressed and the United States is in possession of every State in which insurrection existed; and that so far as could be done, the courts of the United States have been restored, post offices re-established and steps taken to put into efficient operation of revenue law of the country. As the result of the measures instituted by the executive with a view to insuring the resumption of the functions of the States comprehended in the loyalty of the Senate, the people of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee have recognized that their respective State governments are yielding obedience to the laws and government of the United States with more willingness and greater promptitude than under the circumstances could reasonably be anticipated. The proposed amendment to the Constitution, providing for the abolition of slavery forever within the limits of the country, has been ratified by each one of these States, with the exception of Mississippi, from which no official information has been received. In nearly all of these States the people are making commendable progress in restoring the State Governments. No doubt is entertained but that they will at an early period be in a condition to renew all practical relations with the Federal Government. In that portion of the Union lately in rebellion, the aspect of affairs is more promising than in view of all the circumstances, could well be expected. It is true, that in some States the demoralizing effects of the war are to be seen in occasional disorders, but these are local in character and rapidly disappearing. As the authority of the civil power is extended and sustained, perplexing questions were naturally to be expected from the great and sudden change in the relations between the races, but systems are gradually developing themselves, under which freedom will receive the protection to which they are justly entitled, and by means of his labor will make himself a social and independent member of the commonwealth in which he has a home. The people throughout the entire South evince a laudable desire to renew their allegiance to the Government, and reject the declaration of the war by a prompt and cheerful return to peaceful pursuits. An abolition both is contemplated that their actions will conform to their professions, and that in acknowledging the Supremacy of the Constitution and laws of the United States, their loyalty will be unreservedly given to the Government, whose authority they cannot fail to appreciate, and whose fostering care will soon restore them to a condition of prosperity. From all information in my possession and from that which was recently derived from the most reliable authorities, I am induced to entertain the belief that personal animosity is surely and rapidly being laid to rest in a spirit of nationality, and that representation, conducted with a proper adjusted system of legislation, will be the harmonious restoration of the relations of States to the National Union. The report of that Senator is herewith transmitted as requested by the Senate. No report from Hon. John Caldwell has been received by the President. The attention of the Senate is invited to the accompanying report of Gen. G. A. Grant, who recently made a tour of inspection through several States where the inhabitants participated in the rebellion. (Signed) ANDREW JOHNSON, President.

FIRE.—About half past six o'clock last evening, the dreaded alarm of fire was given, and volumes of smoke were seen issuing from Mr. John S. Drum's residence. The citizens turned out and succeeded in extinguishing the flames before much damage was done to the building, excepting the parlor, over which the fire originated. That room was badly injured. The furniture was somewhat broken and melted by moving and by the water. The disaster is attributable to the defective arrangement of the ceiling around the stove pipe. Our citizens displayed commendable energy and spirit in the prompt and efficient manner in which they went to work, one and all, to save property and prevent more extensive ravages by the devouring element.

MAMMOTH SKELETON.—There are other important and wonderful developments made in mining, aside from the exhoming of the metals from their recent hiding places.

Recently on Magers Bar, opposite Nevada, says the Montana Post, the fossil remains of a race of human beings, which at some previous time had inhabited that country, were discovered at a depth of about 18 feet from the surface. Judging from the parts of the skeleton found, the individual to whom they originally belonged could not have been less than from ten to twelve feet high. Remains of a quadruped was also found, indicating an animal twice the size of the Asiatic elephant. The remains were embedded in a close diluvial deposit and in what the configuration of the country shows was once the eddy of a river.

MASONIC INSTALLATION.—On Wednesday evening last, the M. E. Church was crowded to overflowing to witness the installation of Masonic officers. The exercises of the evening passed off well, and the various parts were performed so well that compliments would be sadly out of place. The address of O. Jacobs, Esq., was brief, but, as usual, cogent and to the point. He said what he meant, and meant what he said. His were the words and sentiments to which the common pulse of man keeps time.

CHRISTMAS.—As far as we have been informed the festivities of the week have been harmonious and pleasant. Every one seemed pleased with mankind in general and himself in particular. The only incident that transpired during the week to denote that the angry passions held sway in a single bosom, was an assault and battery case before Justice Hayden.

MAIL.—During the past week the stages have had great difficulty in making their regular trips. The roads are in a terrible state. At twelve o'clock on Sunday night last, the stage from Yreka got mired down about four miles from town, and was compelled to stay there until next morning.

AT HOME.—Hon J. Wagner called on us this week, on his return from the Legislature. He gives a doleful account of the roads in Unappia Valley, and says our roads are turnpikes beside theirs. We are indebted to Mr. Wagner for a number of bills passed at the special session.

THE BATH.—The entertainment at Mr. Horne was a happy success, and all were highly pleased. Those that attended the Christmas ball say they are going to the ball on next Monday.

Christmas Gift. J. M. Christmas Gift. On Christmas Day, the ladies and gentlemen of Jacksonville have generously presented $155.50 to the Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary; for this valuable gift, the Sisters offer their sincere thanks to all the donors.
