TABLE OF STAMP DUTIES

[As amended by Act of June 20, 1864.]

Observations on Stamp Duties.
It is not lawful to record an unstamped or improperly stamped instrument, document or paper, and if recorded, such record shall be void, and shall not be used in evidence; but the instrument, document, and paper shall not, in consequence, be deemed invalid and of no effect; and all such papers of an official nature, issued or used by the officers of the United States government, are exempt from stamp duty.
$200 fine for issuing any taxable document without a stamp.
$100 fine for paying, negotiating or offering in payment any unstamped draft or order.
$10 penalty for not affixing stamp on cosmetics, matches, sun pictures, &c.
$50 penalty for removing and re-using any stamp to evade stamp duty.
Documents made in foreign countries, to be used in this, must be stamped as if made here; and the stamps must be affixed and canceled by the party to whom such documents are issued, or by whom they are used in this country.
No deed or mortgage of real estate shall be required to pay a stamp duty exceeding $1,000.
Where land is sold subject to a mortgage, if the grantee assumes payment of the mortage, the stamps must be for whole value of the land; if grantee does not covenant to pay mortgage, the stamp must be appropriate to the consideration of the grant.

Income.
The Internal Revenue Law requires every person to pay income tax on all income for the past year over and above $600 derived from any source whatever. The tax is five per centum on the first $5,000, in excess over $600, and ten per centum on the excess over $5,000. Income should be made up for the entire year, from the first day of January to the last day of December, both days inclusive. The sooner this is made up after the expiration of the year, the more correct it will likely be. This statement should be made up in detail, showing the receipts and expenditures from different sources. From this statement, the assessor will be enabled to make up a correct income of all persons. This statement should be made to the U. S. Assessor, on or before the 1st of May following.
