LOCAL MATTERS.

RUNAWAY.—Hurray!—tear—smash—there's a runaway—and helter, skelter, go the whole population of a country town.

SENSES.—Hoary-headed Winter has left us at last, and gentle Spring, decked in blossoms, has taken his place.

FROZEN.—On the first inst., as private Stephen Halleck, Co. I, 1st Oregon Infantry, from this valley, he became confused and lost so that he wandered about until after night.

SINGULAR ATTACHMENT.—There is no accounting for vagaries of taste, even when so strong as to overcome natural instinct.

A MERRY TIME.—The first of May is a time when all should throw off the cares of business and attend to any recreation that may be provided.

NOT SATISFIED.—From a private letter from Roseburg, we learn that the result of the Democratic State Convention was received there by the unwashed with unmistakable manifestations of chagrin and disappointment.

COURT IN JOSEPHINE.—The Circuit Court adjourned on Wednesday last. The business transacted was of little importance.

REMEMBER THE Union ratification at two P. M. to-day.

JACKSONVILLE, April 10th, 1866.
BOARD OF TRUSTEES—SPECIAL SESSION.—The Board of Trustees convened in special session at the call of the President.

A Taylor's absence was excused, and leave of absence granted for thirty days. A petition of many citizens, praying the Board to cause certain side walks to be repaired, and a uniform grade to be established, was presented and read.

A bill to enforce the repair and construction of side walks on Oregon, Main and California Streets, was passed as Ordinance No. 25.

A communication from L. J. C. Duncan, agent of C. Davenport, offering for the sum of two hundred dollars to release to the Town a part of his premises to re-establish the original lines of California Street.

L. T. Davis then gave notice that he would report a bill at the next session of the Board for the appropriation of two hundred dollars for the purchase of the ground of C. Davenport, to restore California Street to its original lines and boundaries.

Deeds were granted upon applications filed; 1st, to California Stage Co., for lots No. 1, 2, 5 and 6, in block 32; 2d, to Mrs. Smith, for lot in block No. 61; 3d, to Chas. Blockwell for lot No. 7, in block 28.

Bill presented by Bradbury & Wade for fixtures for Recorder's office, $7 50, coin; also, Wm. Hoffman, bill for stationery, $3 75, coin, laid over under rules.

J. R. WADE, President.
U. S. HAYDEN, Recorder.

Democratic Platform.

1. Resolved, That we affirm as the end of our political faith and practice, our steadfast devotion to the following principles, viz: Equal and exact justice to all men of whatever state, party or sect; the support of the State Governments in all its vigor; a jealous care of the elective franchise; the supremacy of the civil over the military authority; opposition to the centralization of power; economy in all public expenditures; the general diffusion of education; the encouragement of morality and the highest civilization; the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience; freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and freedom of the person under the protection of the habeas corpus.

Proclamation of the President declaring Peace.

Chicago, April 3d.
The following is the President's proclamation declaring peace:
WHEREAS, by proclamation of the 15th and 19th of April, 1861, the President of the United States, in virtue of the power vested in him by the Constitution and laws, declared that the laws of the United States were opposed and the execution thereof obstructed in the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by ordinary judicial proceedings, or by the powers vested in Marshals by law; and whereas, by another proclamation, made on the 16th of August of the same year, in pursuance of the Act of Congress, approved July 13, 1861, the inhabitants of Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida, except the inhabitants of that portion of Virginia lying west of the Alleghany Mountains, and of such other parts of that State and the other States before named as might maintain loyal adherence to the Union and Constitution, or might from time to time be occupied and controlled by the forces of the United States engaged in the dispersion of the insurgents, were declared to be in a state of insurrection against the United States; and whereas, by another proclamation on the 1st of July, 1862, issued in pursuance of the Act of Congress, approved June 7th of the same year, the insurrection was declared to be still existing in the States enumerated, with the exception of certain specified counties in the State of Virginia; and whereas by another proclamation of April 24, 1863, in pursuance of an Act of Congress of July 13th, 1863, the exceptions named in the proclamation of August 16th, 1861, were revoked and the inhabitants of Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Florida and Virginia, except the forty-eight counties of Virginia designated as West Virginia and the parts of New Orleans, Key West, Port Royal and Beaufort (S. C.) were declared to be in a state of insurrection against the United States; and whereas, the House of Representatives, on the 22d of July, 1861, adopted a resolution in the words following, viz: "Resolved, etc., That the present deplorable civil war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States, now in revolt against the constitutional government of the United States, and in arms around the Capital; that in this national emergency Congress, banishing all feeling of mere passion or resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country, that this war is not waged on our part in any spirit of oppression nor for any purpose of subjugation, nor for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, and to maintain and defend the supremacy of the Constitution and preserve the Union with all its equality and the dignity of the several States unimpaired, and that as soon as these objects are accomplished this war ought to cease;" and whereas, the Senate of the United States on the 20th of July, 1861, adopted a resolution in words the same as above; and whereas, these resolutions, though not joint or concurrent in form, are substantially identical, and as such may be regarded as having expressed the sense of Congress upon the subject to which they relate; and whereas, by my proclamation of the 13th of June last, the insurrection in the State of Tennessee was declared to have been suppressed, the authority of the United States therein to be undisputed, and such officers as had been deputed in the unrestricted exercise of their official functions; and whereas there now exists no organized armed resistance of misguided citizens or others to the authority of the United States in the States of Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Florida, and the laws can be sustained and enforced therein by proper civil authority State or Federal, and the people of said States are well and loyally disposed, and have conformed or will conform in their legislation to the condition of affairs growing out of the amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting slavery within the limits and jurisdiction of the United States; and whereas, in consideration of these before stated premises, it is the manifest determination of the American people that no State of its own will has the right to separate itself or be separated from the American Union, and that therefore each State ought to remain and constitute an integral part of the United States; and whereas the people of the several before mentioned States have, in the main, given satisfactory evidence that they acquiesce in the sovereign and important (3) restoration of the national unity; and whereas it is believed to be a fundamental principle of the Government that the people who have revolted and have been overcome and subdued must so be dealt with as to induce them voluntarily to become friends, or else they must be held by absolute military power, or else so devastated as to forever prevent them from doing harm as enemies which last named policy is abhorrent to humanity and freedom; and whereas the Constitution of the United States provides for constitutional communities only as States and not as Territories, dependencies or provinces; and whereas their consent must necessarily be had by the Constitution of the United States to be placed on an equal footing as to rights, immunities and powers with the several States with which they are connected—which political policy is based upon a principle of right and justice well calculated to induce the people of said States to become more constant in renewed allegiance; and whereas, standing armies, military occupation, military law, military tribunals and the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus are, in time of peace, dangerous to public liberty, incompatible with the individual rights of persons, contrary to the genius of our free institutions, and exhaustive of national resources, and ought not therefore to be sanctioned or allowed, except in cases of actual necessity for repelling invasion or for the suppression of treason; and whereas, the Government of the United States, from the beginning of the insurrection to its suppression, has been carried on in conformity with the principles heretofore enunciated, therefore I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim and declare that the insurrection which has heretofore existed in the States Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida, is at an end, and is henceforth to be so regarded.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this second day of April in the year of our Lord 1866, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-sixth.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
President of the United States.
W. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

EX-CONFEDERATE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY MALLORY TO BE RELEASED.—A Washington dispatch to the Boston Transcript says that Mallory, now in Fort Lafayette, at the urgent solicitation of several physicians, will be released in a day or two and allowed to join his family, who are residing in Connecticut. It is said that he is dying from gout.

Probably some of the victims of his "letters of marque" could relieve him with a lamp poultice.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday a German named Bouton, living on the left hand fork of Jackson creek, had his leg broken below the knee by the caving of a bank upon him.

Married.

—On the 3d inst., on Applegate, by Frank Baldwin, J. P., at his residence, Mr. D. Caldwell and Miss Fanny Knox.

—On the 6th inst., at the Toll Gate, on the Prickley Pear river, by the Rev. Mr. Campbell, Col. George Washington Keeler to Miss Eleanor Branning.

DIED.

—At the residence of her parents, in Jacksonville, at four o'clock A. M., on the 8th day of April, 1866, Little Katy, youngest daughter of L. H. and Sarah Ziegler, aged two years, seven months and thirteen days.

Underneath the dusky branches of the tall and stately pine,
Where the sunlight glides in dance,
Gleams the shade in glittering lines,
Where the wood-brook lifts its cheerful voice,
For the heaven-darting rain,
We had to rest our darling Katy,
When we no' shall no again.

O, low like a sparrow's nest,
Shrouded in a robe of white,
Her little hands folded meekly,
To slumber in heavenly light.
And now, when we pass the threshold,
Through the silvery shadows of even,
We remember the blessed assurance—
"Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." E. B.
