TABLE OF STAMP DUTIES

As amended by Act of June 30, 1864.

Observations on Stamp Duties.

It is not lawful to remand an unstamped or improperly stamped instrument, document or paper, and if remitted, such paper shall be void and shall not be used in evidence; but the instrument, document and paper shall not, in consequence, be deemed invalid nor of no effect; but all such papers of an official nature, issued or used by the officers of the United States government are not required to pay stamp duty.

Every person liable to pay any stamp duty who affixes any adhesive stamp, shall write or imprint thereon the initials of his name and the date upon which the same is affixed.

Any penalty or forfeiture incurred by any person for omitting to affix or cancel any stamp, may be remitted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Any penalty for removing and reusing any stamp to evade stamp duty.

Documents made in foreign countries to be used in this state must be stamped as if made here; and the stamps must be affixed and cancelled by the party to whom such documents are issued, or by whom they are used in this country.

No deed or instrument of real estate shall be recorded in any county until the stamp duty required by law is paid.

Where land is sold subject to a mortgage, if the grantee assumes payment of the mortgage the stamps must be for whole value of the land; if grantee does not covenant to pay mortgage the stamp must be appropriate to the consideration of the grant.

Income.

The Internal Income Law requires every person to pay income tax on all income for the past year over and above $600 derived from any source whatever. The tax is five per centum on the first $5,000 in excess over $600, and ten per centum on the excess over $5,000. Income should be made up for the entire year, from the first day of January to the last day of December, both days inclusive. The sooner this is made up after the expiration of the year, the more correct it will likely be. This statement should be made up in detail, showing the receipts and expenditures from different sources. From this statement the assessor will be enabled to make up a correct income of all persons. This statement should be made to the U. S. Assessor on or before the 1st of May following.
