

COCKLE BURR.—There is a law in this State requiring Road Supervisors to eradicate this troublesome weed from the public thoroughfares. Also, obliging owners of property to cut it down within their enclosures. In either case, it is to be done before seeding, and for non-compliance a heavy penalty is imposed. It seems, that by a decision of Judge Prim, at the June term of the Circuit Court, there are no legal highways in this county, and, therefore, Road Supervisors are not legally obliged to conform with the terms of the law. Morally, it is not legally, they are under obligations to discharge their duties, having accepted office with a full understanding of the responsibility attached, and the good sense of any such officer should dictate the propriety of attending to a matter of so much importance in an agricultural community, without urging. By common custom, the roads now traveled are public highways, and, in our opinion, are as much governed by the law regulating them as if legally laid out and constructed. If they are not highways, then they are the property of those through whose land they run, and subject to the law on this subject, applying to private property. The road for some distance south of Phoenix is completely grown up with this dangerous weed, and some person should be held responsible. But, if no legal responsibility can be made to attach, and the law enforced, we should think the citizens of that precinct ought to have sufficient public spirit to attend to the matter themselves.

THE CROSS WALKS.—Many persons are finding fault with the manner in which the new street crossings are being laid down. We are among the number, and respectfully call the attention of the proper authorities to it before it is too late. In the first place, our judgment is: that the Trustees erred in awarding a contract for stones four inches thick, and afterwards allowing the contractor to reduce the thickness to three inches, without a corresponding reduction in his bid; next, it is doubtful whether crossings of the flimsy character of those being laid will stand the weight of heavy teams passing over them—as witness that one from Greenman's to Jacob's corner; also, that when laid, some regard should be had for appearances, and the contractor required to run them at right angles, and in a line with the sidewalk, which is certainly not the case with the crossing aforementioned. The people pay all that is asked for this work, and they have a right to ask that it be done properly.

ON A VISIT.—Mr. George B. Dorris, formerly a law student of Mr. Dowell's, and now practicing at Eugene City, is on a visit with his lady to their friends in Jacksonville. George is looking as bright as ever, and if suavity of manners, industry and perseverance will insure success, his future is a promising one. From the following flattering notice in the State Journal, we judge that he is meeting with the prosperity he merits: "From all we can learn, George B. Dorris, Esq., returned from the Supreme Court, wherein this term he had a number of cases, with a large feather in his cap, having gained every case. He even gained the Mopin Bond case, after four of the leading attorneys of the State had given it up in despair."

FROM C. CITY.—Mr. J. G. Wall, of the firm of Dugan & Wall, in Crescent City, Cal., and Capt. Appleton, commandant at Camp Lincoln, are in town for a few days. Joe. is looking his very best, and is as full of fun and jokes as ever. Captain A. has been at Camp Lincoln for two years. This is his first trip to Jacksonville.

RAIN.—On Friday, Saturday and Sunday last, we had a fine fall of rain. As a result, the weather is very clear, and the sun shines most beautifully. The thick smoke which, previous to that time, hung dim and murky over the valley, is gone, and the fires in the mountains are extinguished.

STATE DOCUMENTS.—Hon. S. E. May has caused to be placed on our table a copy of the laws and Supreme Court decisions, passed at the last legislative session; together with a copy of the House and Senate Journals, neatly bound in one volume—a great improvement over the old paper cover system.

We acknowledge the receipt of the Premium List, in neat pamphlet form, of the Linn County Fair, for 1867.

THE RAILROAD.—The Willamette Valley Railroad seems to be a fixed fact. Arrangements have been made by the company here with Eastern capitalists, by which the money to build the road is to be furnished on a mortgage of the road and rolling stock. The material for the first section of twenty-five miles is already purchased and probably on the way by this time. As soon as the bonds are completed, which the company are now preparing, and sent East, additional material will be shipped. There is one satisfaction about this arrangement, at least, the people of Oregon can lose nothing, as the builders are secured only by a mortgage on the road, which will be utterly worthless until the road is built. A friend who has recently returned from Salem, says that after a careful investigation of the whole matter and an examination of the company's books and papers, he has concluded that we are to have a railroad. As to where the railroad will run no definite information can be had, as there has yet been no authorized or definite survey. If it is to be a Willamette Valley Railroad, it will be built in this part of Oregon, if not it is perhaps as likely to lead off from the head of navigation on the Columbia.—Oregon City Enterprise.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?—Everybody is asking his neighbor "what that advertisement in the SENTINEL means, entitled 'A Million More?'" We have been interrogated, and the Devil fails to have an answer. We are as willing to be enlightened as any, and would like to know what it is, and who they are that have "A Million More?" See advertisement in this paper.

LOST.—Mr. Martin informs us that his small memorandum book, in which he kept a record of his sales, was lost on Monday evening. Any one finding the same, and returning it to the store of Glenn, Drum & Co., will be liberally rewarded.

CORRECTION.—In B. F. Dowell's letter, on the outside of this issue, instead of Thurlow Weed, of the N. Y. Times, read H. J. Raymond, of the N. Y. Times.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. In the Field Again! Agents wanted to sell by subscription WOMAN'S WORK In the Civil War.

A Record of Heroism, Patriotism and Piety, prepared under the sanction and approval of the United States Sanitary and Christian Commissions, by L. P. Brocketh, M. D., author of "Philanthropic Results of the War," "Our Great Captains," "The Camp, the Battlefield and the Hospital," etc., etc., and Mrs. Mary C. Vaughan, with an Introduction by Henry W. Bellows, D. D., President U. S. Sanitary Commission. This interesting work will contain sketches of nearly two hundred ladies, distinguished for their labors in behalf of the Soldier, Refugee and Freedmen, with incidents of their work, and brief notices of about four hundred others; while a brief tribute will be paid to the thousands of nameless Heroines who braved every danger and privation, or quietly toiled and sacrificed time, health, and many of them life, to give aid to our suffering soldiers. In all ages and countries, it is true woman has been patriotic. The Spartan mother could say to her son, "Come back with thy shield, or on thy tomb." Carthaginian women could sacrifice themselves in the flames of their ruined city; but history has no precedent to the work of woman in our late terrible civil war—such calm, deep, unlighted, wide-spread patriotism, such cheerful sympathy and sacred trust; such a force of personal activity at home and in the camp. The preparation of the work was commenced more than three years ago. Some of the ablest pens in the nation were employed to write the sketches, the material being furnished by the friends and families of the subjects. All the benevolent people of the country, who contributed so liberally of their means, to enable these noble women to carry on their labor of love, will gladly embrace the first opportunity to purchase this record of the great work they accomplished. Every true American patriot will find here how exalted has been the patriotism of AMERICAN WOMEN. An eminent divine says: "Such a work is called for by patriotic and grateful people. It is an honor to our country, will become a household treasure and a joy and blessing to future times." The work contains about 800 pages, beautifully illustrated with numerous Fine Steel Engravings, executed in the highest style of the art, and will be furnished to subscribers in neat and substantial binding. Energetic Canvasers (male or female) wanted immediately for Southern Oregon.

Holt) has on exhibition at Muller & Brentano's, a number of the celebrated machines made by that company. They are unequalled for simplicity and durability—less liable to get out of order than any other sewing machines in use, and sew from the common spools, which are advantages appreciated by every lady who uses a sewing machine. By a simple adjustment these machines embroider most beautifully, and Mr. H. will give thorough instructions to any purchaser, either in town or country. It is worth while for any lady of taste to call and examine the wonderful specimens of embroidery executed on these machines.
