

The Eternal World.

No fragment of any army ever survived so many battles as the Bible, no citadel ever withstood so many sieges; no rock was ever battered by so many storms. And yet it stands. It has seen the rise and downfall of Daniel's four empires. Assyria bequeaths a few mutilated figures to the riches of our national museum. Media and Persia, like Babylon, which they conquered, have been weighed in the balance, and long ago found wanting. Greece faintly survives in its historic fame—"Tis living Greece no more;" and the Iron Rome of the Caesars is held in precarious occupation by a feeble hand. And yet the book that foretells all this survives, while nations, kings, philosophers, systems, institutions, have died away; the Bible engages now man's deepest thoughts, is examined by the keenest intellects, stands before the highest tribunal, is more read and sited and debated, more devoutly loved and more vehemently assailed, more defended and more denied, more industriously translated and freely given to the world, more honored and more abused, than any other book the world ever saw.

It survives all changes, itself unchanged, it moves all minds, yet it is moved by none; it sees all things decay, itself incommunicable; it sees myriads of other books engulfed in the stream of time, yet it is borne along triumphantly on the wave—and will be borne along till thy mystic angel shall plant his foot upon the sea, and swear by him who liveth forever and ever that time shall be no longer.

How THEY TRAIT TRAVELLERS IN VALLEJO—A FUNNY STORY.—If (says the Marysville Telegraph) what we hear of Vallejo landladies be true, they must have suffered a heap of martyrdom from itinerant Bohemians before they resorted to their present ingenious measure of self-defence. It seems that a rule adopted there is to pay for dinner immediately upon the delivery of the plate of soup. From a San Francisco dispatch, we learn that a gentleman who formerly kept the "Pig's Foot Restaurant," in this city, and now the Washington of Vallejo, is equal to the emergency when a man attempts to "do him out of a meal." A victim's experience is thus related: The other day a hungry individual boldly entered the hotel, and taking a seat at a table called for dinner. He was astonished to see the waiter approach him with a plate of soup in one hand, a towel in the other, and a large family syringe under his arm. The waiter laid the plate of soup in front of Charley, and significantly placed the palm of his right hand under the nose of the hungry customer. As Charley had not tackled his meal, he modestly inquired the meaning of the open hand. "Pay in advance!" was the terse and peremptory reply of the waiter. "Can't you wait till I get through my meal first?" "No, Sir. Our rules are positive. On delivery of the soup, plunge down the cash." "Singular promptitude," muttered Charley. Then reddening up with natural indignation, said he: "I suppose it I don't pay you, you'll brain me with that bludgeon pump of yours?" "Not at all, Sir. Through this instrument we secure our business on a cash basis. Your money, if you please!" Charley thought he had the dead-wood on the soup, anyhow, and dipped the spoon for the first mouthful. Before the spoon reached the broth, however, Charley was transfixed at seeing the waiter coolly introduce the point of his syringe into the plate, and pulling the suction handle out to its fullest extent, the soup suddenly disappeared, leaving his plate as empty as his stomach. He turned around, but the waiter had passed to another customer, and Charley left the establishment in disgust.

CAUSTIC.—Henry Clay Dean recently wrote to Horace Greeley, inviting a discussion of the national debt question, from the stand-point of the Democratic doctrine of repudiation. In reply H. G. sent the following: Mr. DEAN—Sir: I have yours of the 29th ultimo. Should I ever consent to argue the propriety and policy of wholesale swindling, I shall take your proposal into consideration. I do not know where the cause of national villainy could find a fitter advocate than yourself.

A FRIEND says he is head and ears in love, or else he's got the colic—he can't tell which, as he is not certain which he tasted last, kisses or water-melons.

AN ORIGINAL POEM.
BY THE MAN WHO WROTE IT.
Some write for fun, and some for fame,
And some to make a splutter;
But we, like all true poets, claim
To write for bread and butter.
Thus you see our very laudable object of doing good to ourselves, if we cannot do good to anybody else.

We only wish to have it known,
That all our goods must sell,
And then the people all will come—
You bet they will.
Thus giving us a fine opportunity of making money.

We've fancy Soaps and good Colognes,
And Hair Oils by the dozen—
An endless lot of good Perfumes,
Put up by old H. Botic.
Thus giving all the young folks an opportunity of becoming "sweet-scented."

We have Restorers for the Hair,
Much better than four dyes;
We've preparations for the Ear,
And lotions for the Eye.
Thus giving old maids and crony bachelors an opportunity of fixing up for the matrimonial market.

We've Drugs and Books; we've Oils and Paints,
And trinkets of all kinds;
We've Nostrums good for all complaints,
And sell to suit the times.
Thus giving old and young an opportunity for speculation.

Now, all who have the ready cash
Can call around to-morrow,
For they can find just what they want
Much cheaper than to borrow.
And will thus give the City Drug Store a low fine opportunity to display their extensive stock of NEW GOODS to much better advantage than they could possibly do on paper. They will say, however, that they have a fine assortment of

Grover & Baker's ELASTIC STITCH FAMILY SEWING MACHINES.
Are the best in Use, FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:
They are more simple and durable than any kept in order, make a stronger and more elastic stitch, a finer and more beautiful seam than any other. They sew all fabrics from two common specks, require no reeling of thread, fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation, and though every fifth stitch is cut the seam will not rip.
They Stitch, Hem, Fell, Cord, Bind, Tuck, Quilt, Gather, Braid, and Embroider. No other machine Embroiders as well as sews perfectly.
