FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY, SCHUYLER COLFAX, OF NEW YORK.

For Presidential Electors:

O. JACOBS, of Jackson. WILSON BOWLBY, of Washington. A. B. MEACHAM, of Union.

SATURDAY MORNING, Sept. 19, 1868.

Democratic Reaction!!! Twenty Thousand Republican Majority "Way Down in Maine!"

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Nothing later from Maine. Estimates agree that the Union majority will be 20,000.

Blair says "revolutions never go backwards." It is only Democratic "reactions" that have a backward tendency.

STRAW.—A little vote was taken in Maine on Monday to see which way the political straw was blowing—it proved a very straw for Democracy.

Pendleton is playing even on Seymour. His services in Maine were an eminent success—for the Republican party.

The McMinville Courier has a voluminous article on editors and things. Right, Jasper W! Always speak of yourself in the second person.

A STRAW.—A vote was taken in the Green Mountains the other day, to see how Grant and Seymour stood, and the result was over 30,000 for Grant.—Yreka Journal.

The New York Herald compares the result of the Maine election to a political earthquake. We expect the Copperheads quake more than anything else.

Democrats claim that many of the "boys in blue" are going to support port that ticket will be blue enough in November.

Several Copperheads in Siskiyou county were silly enough to bet even on the Maine election. Some of them may be foolish enough to bet that Seymour will be next President.

Lafayette, in this State, must be improving. A Democratic paper came near starving to death there and had to move. The town must now look like an urchin with a clean washed face.

Pendleton's few weeks stumping in Maine has increased the Republican majority there about ten thousand. His permanent residence in Ohio will roll it up to about fifty thousand at next election.

The great Democratic champion, Pendleton, has been "away down in Maine" stumping for his party. It appears from last Monday's work that the boys who have been "stumping" the State with their axes have repudiated him badly.

THE GREAT REACTION.—The election in New Mexico has resulted in great Republican victory. The election in Colorado resulted in the election of Allan A. Bradford, Republican delegate to Congress, by an increased majority and the Legislature is largely Republican.

TRICKY.—V. Trevitt, of Wasco county, has given notice that he will, at an early day, introduce a bill into the Legislature, to repeal the resolution by which the 14th amendment to the Constitution was adopted. Inasmuch as Mr. Seward has officially proclaimed that article to be part of the Constitution of the United States, Mr. Trevitt and the State of Oregon will cut a very ridiculous figure, should the bill pass.

The Yreka Union observes, "that Democrats in and out of Congress were and are opposed to the policy of enfranchising the negroes." Then, we ask, why did every Democrat in Congress vote for the amendment to Senator William's military reconstruction bill, which contained the negro suffrage clause, if they were honestly opposed to enfranchising the negroes? The record shows that they all voted for it and made their party responsible.

PFACE.

When Grant said "let there be peace," he touched a responsive chord in the hearts of the American people. They were grand words, coming as they did from one whose trade was war, and who knows what war means. The country needs peace—absolute—final. It wants order, not anarchy or revolution; and the christian and unselfish words of the brave soldier are going from mouth to mouth, throughout the republic as the true sentiment of the people. Vermont caught them up, and her gallant people, who flinched not when the cry was war, responded in a voice not to be mistaken. "No more revolution!" But six days since, Maine heard the echo, and from the depths of her forests, from her hamlets and her cities, her sturdy yeomen went to the polling places and proclaimed: "Let there be peace!" in a voice that has made Democracy tremble, even to the shores of the Pacific. There is no mistaking the temper of the people now. They are determined that anarchy shall end. They are determined that Seymour and Blair, pledged to revolution and disorder, shall not control the government. The people are as earnest for peace as they were for war and every election held, so far, proclaims that they will not must have it.

"The Great Reaction."

Democrats have been saying a great deal lately about a tremendous reaction that was taking place in public sentiment. If the reaction was apparently in their favor, it seems to have culminated about the time the Democratic Convention at New York nominated an open friend of the rebellion, and a chronic office beggar for the two first offices in the country. Since then two States, Vermont and Maine, have held elections and the great reaction has gone backward again. In Vermont there was a Republican gain of over six thousand; in Maine it is over ten thousand. The quiet, sober second thought of the people has made them turn in disgust from the doctrines and pretenses of Democracy, and that party will surely learn in November that there is in truth a fearful and their attempts to control the affairs of a government they tried their best to destroy.

SETTLED AT LAST.—The financial question has puzzled some of the clearest minds in the country, and still absorbs attention. We have been perplexed to know whether the bonds should be paid in greenbacks and new bonds be issued to pay the greenbacks with, or whether it would be better to let the latter naturally wear out and cancel themselves; but the other day we heard the question settled to our entire satisfaction. We have a curbstone politician here—a Teuton whose jaws come a little nearer perpetual motion than anything we ever saw—and a few days since he settled the greenback problem as effectually as if a dozen eggs had been broken in it. It was on a street corner and several of his countrymen were listening to him with unbounded admiration. We stopped and listened, for any one could see that grave questions were being discussed. Whirling his finger round in a circle like a cook trimming the edge of a pie, he exclaimed, "Goldt under mikensnoffen. Greenbacks under snoffensnikent! Yaw mein Gott, ter tam Republican taxes greenbacks, goldt and lager! Goom, lets peer haben!" The whole thing broke on us clear as a shovel of mud; we understood it all and we wondered at the bad streak of luck that kept our curb-stone financier from being Secretary of the Treasury. We turned on our heel profoundly impressed with the clearness of his views, but a little puzzled to know whether he got them from the Democratic papers or whether they derived all their lucid ideas from "Shou."

"BLOATED BONDBOLDERS."—We have been looking round for a "bloated bondholder," just to see what he looked like. We have found one—the only one in Jackson county. He is a blantant, frothy Copperhead who left here in 1860 with about $30,000 in Oregon war scrip which he turned into Government securities, the interest on which supported him for several years. He is a splendid specimen of the bloated bondholder, and his blowing for Seymour and Blair reminds us of a dog snapping at the hand that fed him. A cross old bachelor suggests that births should be announced under the head of new music.

Editorial Correspondence.

A LETTER FROM B. F. DOWELL. SALEM, OGN., 14th Sept., 1868. A few things that have transpired in the Supreme Court, the United States mails, condition of the roads, and the Bohemia quartz mines may all be of interest to the readers of the SENTINEL. So allow me to sketch them for their benefit.

THE SUPREME COURT Has been in session here during the past week. All the Judges are present.

THE MULKEY CASE Against Major Rinehart, for the arrest and the impison of Mulkey about three months, at Eugene City and Vancouver, W. T., for disloyal conduct in 1865, has been argued by Stuart and Walton for Mulkey, and by George Dorris for Major Rinehart. The court below dismissed the case because the State courts have no jurisdiction in such cases.

Mr Stuart contended the case should be revised because the case was not submitted to the jury, but he did not argue the merits of the action. Mr. Dorris contended that the court had no jurisdiction of the subject—matter. That an action cannot be maintained against a naval or military officer for an act done in the execution of his office, and within the purview of his general authority; and that he is protected by the order of his superior; it not appearing conclusively from the pleadings that Major Rinehart was in the military service of the United States it was proper for the court to dismiss the case as soon as the proof was made that he was in the military service of the general Government; that the jurisdiction is a matter of law, and should be determined at any time by the court and not by the jury. Mr. Walton contended the court had jurisdiction of the subject matter, and he proceeded to make the oft repeated Democratic stump speech, that there was no war, and that the defendants were guilty of false imprisonment, and that the plaintiff ought to recover. In our judgment Mr. Walton errs as to the facts and law. The arrest was made immediately after the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. This was one of it was a gross violation of the laws of nations and the laws of war; yet this man Mulkey rejoiced over it, and shouted for Jeff Davis and the Southern Confederacy.

The Court gave no intimation as to what its opinion would be, but for him to get any damages the facts are plain. The rebellion was not ended, and Mulkey acted more like a crazy Copperhead than a loyal man, and the acts of Congress prohibits any State court from taking jurisdiction in such cases. This ought, and per adventure, it will be held to be conclusive against him.

The following gentlemen were examined and admitted to practice law in this State: James W. Parker, Lycurgus Vinegard, James H. Turner, Innis E. Rose, Charles W. Kahler, John M. Thomson, Charles W. Fitch, Daniel L. Watson, Edward B. Watson, Nehemiah L. Butler, James McCain, John H. Myer, Wm. W. Boone, Wm. M. Ramsay, H. Moor, H. Hurley and Joseph Hannon. Also Wm. P. Lind and Killison Smith were admitted to practice in law in this State on certificate of their being practicing attorneys from other States.

The Court adopted the following new rules in relation to the admission of attorneys: RULE 27. Rule 24 is amended, and the last clause made to read as follows: "That each applicant must produce the affidavit of some attorney of good standing in this court that such applicant, if a graduate of a literary institution, has read law at least two years. If not such graduate, then at least three years, and has been critically examined in the books prescribed in Rule 27."

RULE 28. An applicant producing proper evidence of graduation at a law school, by the laws and customs of the State in which such school is situated, entitling him to admission in its courts of equal jurisdiction with this court, may be admitted without further examination.

THE UNITED STATES MAILS are at present making better time from San Francisco to this place than was ever known before; they might still be improved. Six and eight hours of time are lost at Sacramento and Marysville. The roads are generally in good order. The only place I noticed they were in bad repair is through Douglas county. The bridge across Canyon Creek, even in the town of Canyonville, is impassible, and the driver informed me it had been out of repair all summer. The bridge across Elk Creek is no better, and several others are impassible. We hope the supervisors will at an early day put them in good order, or if they fail the Grand Jury should do its duty in October, and have such negligence severely punished.

BOHEMIA QUARTZ Four hundred pounds of rock from the Bohemia mines in Douglas county has recently been assayed in Portland which yielded $79 25 to the ton. This rock was of an average quality, and no gold was visible in it.

The Democrats have a great deal to say about Mrs. Surratt, but do not state that the persons responsible for her death are now prominent members of the Democratic party. The Hon. John A. Bingham, of Ohio, has placed the matter in a stong light. While speaking at a Republican meeting in Bangor, Maine, he was insulted by a Copperhead, who cried out, "How about Mrs. Surratt?" Mr. Bingham instantly responded: "How about her? Go and consult the record of the Court that tried and convicted her. Go and ask General Hancock, who issued the order for her execution in spite of a writ of habeas corpus which had been served upon him; and, if you are still unsatisfied, go and ask the apostate President, Andrew Johnson, why he refused to pardon after a petition had been sent him signed by every member but one of the Court who tried her, and drawn up in the handwriting of the man you seek to insult!"

The Jacksonville Reveille wants to know who will take the following offer: "Thos. Chavener, Esq., will bet the Packard ranch, situated on Bear Creek, six or seven miles east of Jacksonville, and which cost him near $3,000, as appears upon the records, against $200, that Seymour and Blair will carry California, in the Presidential election next November." There is money in Portland to wager that Grant will be next President of the United States. If you will bet, talk of money, and not of worn out sheep ranches. Your $3,000 will find takers here.—Oregonian.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—A memorial has been introduced in the Legislature asking Congress to aid in the construction of a Railroad from Portland in this State, through the channels of Willamette, Umpqua and Rogue River valleys, and intersecting the Central Pacific on the Humboldt river.

O. C. R.—Ben Holliday & Co. have purchased the contract of A. J. Cook & Co., for constructing the Oregon Central (East Side) railroad. Four hundred Chinamen are to be brought from California and set at work immediately.

Eighteen applicants have been admitted to practice law, by the Supreme Court of this State. Among them are C. W. Kahler and D. M. C. Gault, of this county.

He was attended by Dr. Greenman and is now doing well.

NEW ADVERTISEMENT. Singing School. A number of persons having requested me to teach another Singing Class, I will be glad to meet them at the M. E. Church next Wednesday evening, 23rd inst., at seven and a half o'clock, to take steps for its organization. If a class is formed Mr. James Lenz will take the lead of the orchestra, and Mr. Funck will play the Seraphina. The students will be going through with first so that all may be able to read music by note, after the new Pestalozzi theory, and the German friends of music are offered an excellent opportunity of learning this system, as it does not require any knowledge of the English Language. It also will be of much advantage to school teachers, enabling them to teach the system in their schools, as it is so simple that a child can comprehend it. If a class can be formed, four lessons per week, for the first two weeks, will be given, and the pupils furnished with the necessary books immediately on its organization. E. C. BROOKS.
