

SENTIMENTAL SWIMMING.—I don't wonder women are not enamored of bathing, for the costumes worn are rarely becoming to feminine beauty. Out of the window I catch a glimpse of a blue-eyed girl I tried to teach to swim this morning, though I presume I took more of a lesson than I gave. She is in that charmingly uncertain condition between girlhood and womanhood, and in her blue trowsers and tunic, her little white feet treading symmetry into the sand, and her arch and smiling face looking from beneath a straw hat, she certainly looked more bewitching than she does at this moment. I carried her to where I was obliged to hold her up, and then supporting her gently I told her to strike out. She did so womanfully. She seemed so pretty, playing the part of a boy, that I yielded to the temptation to let her slip from my hand, knowing she would be frightened and cling to me like ivy. I was right. She sank under the swell of the sea, and I caught her in my arms as if I had done a heroic instead of merely a sentimental thing. The little creature was terribly alarmed, and I had to hold her tightly for the remainder of the bath. She afterwards told several persons I had saved her life, and as I had no design to receive credit I did not deserve, I informed her privately of my strategy. She pouted and looked prettier than ever, and assured me she would never go into the sea with me again. Perhaps she won't. But being a man of incorrigible vanity, and a great-grandfather beside, I believe she will. What girl of sixteen is afraid of a man of seventy more or less? We old fellows sometimes forget our age.

"CURE FOR LOVE."—Take of spirits of resolution, 14 ounces; sirup of good advice, 12 ounces; oil of obsence, 2 ounces; powder of disdain, 4 ounces; extract of doubt—a-d-n-a-tiveness, quantum sup. Put these ingredients into a sauce-pan of sound reason, with a handful of heart-ease, stir it up with a quantity of thyme, and strain it through a bag of patience, then add a little common sense. A small portion of this mixture to be taken daily.

Second remedy.—See your sweetheart before breakfast three mornings in succession, and you'll never want to see her again.

Mr. Lincoln's portrait is found in Asia as well as in Europe, and in parts of Asia where Americans are rarely seen. Mr. Thos. W. Knox, in his journey through Siberia, two years ago, frequently saw portraits of our martyred President on the walls of the wayside stations and in the hands of wealthy citizens. At Ekaterineburg, in the Ural mountains, he was shown a bust of Mr. Lincoln that was being made to the order of a wealthy Russian. The bust was five or six inches high, and out in topaz, from a model procured in America for the purpose.

THE CAPITAL OF NEBRASKA.—Lincoln, the Capital of Nebraska, is a city of surprising growth even in this very progressive age. Seven months ago there stood on this town site two log houses used by farmers as dwellings, situated one mile apart. Now there dwell there a thousand souls, and many of the business houses and residences are of a fine order, being built of brick and stone.

Scene in a printing office which advertised for girls to set type: Enter young woman—"Do you want to employ any one to print, air? I saw your advertisement." "Can you set up well ma'am? Young lady blushes and says she hasn't had a beau yet, but expects that she could if necessary."

Small boy on tip-toe, to his companions—"Sho! stop your noise, all of you." Companions—"Hello, Tommy! what's the matter?" Small boy—"We've got a new baby, it's very weak and tired, walked all the way from Heaven last night; musn't be kicking up a row here now."

Notice to Delinquents.

WE hereby give notice to all who are indebted on accounts now in our hands for collection, that the same must be settled immediately, or they will be sued upon and collected by law. Also those indebted to the Secretary will do well to settle their accounts with it as we have grown tired of dunning, but still intend to have our dues.

MANHOOD.—IN THE YOUNG and rising generation, the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye, and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give rest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and waiting the check with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerver, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Painful Contenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatality, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomington Asylum, this said result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by these dreadful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sad and quite desolate—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures when Despair Low sullen sounds their great beguiled." Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry or the removal of the consequences: HELMBOLD'S HOARLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of those who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Prepared at

RECOMMENDATIONS.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.
Jan. 26, 1868.

Mr. H. T. HELMBOLD:

Dear Sir: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a Drug Store my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then recommended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rates of advertising.

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th Ave. & 76th St.
Central Park.

(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. HELMBOLD:
Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemes of the chambermaid who has charge of his bedding. I feel that a "knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping yours may be alike benefited.

I am respectfully yours,
C. G. YOUNG,
General Supl, and Director.

PACIFIC BUSINESS

COLLEGE,

MECHANIC'S INSTITUTE,

POST STREET,

Between Montgomery & Kearny,

SAN FRANCISCO.

The importance of a thorough and practical business training for those who contemplate entering the mercantile profession, is too well known to require much comment. Without such knowledge, the young merchant will become involved in many embarrassments which might otherwise be avoided. The youthful aspirant will find himself surrounded by intricate difficulties, both in seeking a situation, and in the discharge of its duties after employment is obtained. To have received instruction at a mercantile college, endorsed by the leading merchants of the city, is more effective in winning the favor and confidence of a laudable firm, than all the letters of introduction which friends can give. The maintains a reputation for thoroughness and systematic training, far surpassing that of any other similar institution on the Pacific coast. Most of the leading merchants of this city have employed graduates from this College, and bear testimony to the practical efficiency of the course here prescribed. The system of actual practice embraces all the varied operations of real business. A Ladies' Department has lately been added to this popular Institute. The spirit of enterprise cannot fail to draw forth the well-wishes of the public.

PACIFIC BUSINESS COLLEGE

A CARD.

We, the undersigned, merchants and business men of San Francisco, California, are at the present time organizing men who have completed the prescribed course of study at the Pacific Business College, and we take pleasure in stating that we have found them well posted in bookkeeping and the general principles of business, showing conclusively that they have been subjected to thorough drill in those important matters, by experienced and competent instructors.

We cheerfully recommend the College as being in our opinion, an institution of intrinsic merit, and well worthy of the confidence and support of the community.
