The Union Republican State

Central Committee of Oregon Will meet at the office of Hon, J. H. Mitchell, in the City of Portland, on Wednesday, the 19th day of January, 1870, at 10 o'clock, a. M., to designate the time and place for the holding of the Union Republican State Convention of 1870. M. B. BERRY, Chairman.

Salem, Dec. 14, 1869.

The New Year.

The New Year 1870, has just dawned upon the world with its first morning's light. What events will have been chronicled ere its close we cannot foretell, for they lie buried beneath the obscurity that veils the future; yet we may infer from the year that has just passed t'eat it is to be a period full of importance to mankind. We are standing upon the threshold of a new era in human affairs, and can only conjecture what time will bring forth. The omens however are encouraging. The marks of physical prosperity are evident all over the face of the land. The great Pacific Railroad which was promised us by this first of January 1870, has been completed and in full operation for months; and it has given a stimulus to enterprises of a similar nature, which promise to develop the hitherto unsettled or but sparsely settled regions of the west, more rapidly than the most sasguine ever dreamed

This is but one phase of the physical prosperity of the country. Other branches of industry and improvement have received like attention and with like results. Our political condition is far better than any of us hoped for one year ago. A restored finance, and a general acquiesence in the reconstruction policy of Congress, clearly vindicate the course of the present Administration, and give the most gratifying assurance of its final and complete success. A grateful sense of security has succeeded the turmoil and confusion of the first three years after the war, and which threatened us every moment with new troubles. The masses of the people feel that the seal has at length been set upon civil strife, and that they can now turn from its tearful scenes and harrowing recollections, and devote themselves more to the beneficent and engaging pursuits of peace. Then with these encouragements let us step over the threshold of the new year, with a proper sense of its responsibilities but with high hopes for the future.

Edwin M. Stanton .--- Appointment and Death

We publish on the outside of this weeks issue a telegram announcing the appointment of Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in the place of Grier resigned; and now just as we go to press the papers come in draped in mourning over his death. He died on the 24th, after a brief illness. It was only four days previous that his nomination for the high and responsible position of a Judge of the Supreme Court receive the almost unanimous approbation, of the Senate, and the hearty concurrence of the people wherever it was made known, and death following so close upon the heels of honor, seems almost to have been envious of the great man, he struck down in the prime of his years and at the zenith of his reputation. His life and services are so prominently before the country that to attempt to eulogize them now would be a vain and useless task.

Railroads and Rains

A new and curious theme, has sprung newspapers. It is the "climatic effect the following: of railroads." The wonderful power of these agencies of progress, in developing new interests, as well as infusing life and energy into those already and oppressive drouths of former years have disappeared along the railroad line, and rain now talls there in abundance. It is accounted for on the ground of a change, caused by the long and will bring rain through this section, is just the thing we want.

A TELEGRAM, dated Portland, Dec. 28th, says : John Axteil, a native of England, about 38 years of age, burst blood vessel, while walking on the sidewalk, and died almost instantly.

Eight hundred barrels of prime mess pork will be shipped to San Francisco this week. The consigment is part of a government contract. The pork packing business has been entered into largely this season. The weather, thus far, has been very unfavorable, and a considerable quantity of ment has been lost. A heavy rain storm, lasting nearly the entire day, visited us yesterday, with gales from the south-east. At Forest Grove snow tell to the depth of an inch and a half.

ACCIDENT NEAR WHEATLAND .- The

Statesman says, "From Mr. Gee, who lives near Wheatland, we learn particulars of an occurrence where Mr M. Matheny was badly injured. It seems that there was religious service held on Monday evening at the Hopewell meeting house, situated two and a half miles north west of Wheatland, in Yambill county. After preaching, the neighbors started home, those who ing a long bridge across a slough, they printed. were tun over by a couple of young men on horseback, named Adam Hewitt and Bob White, who had also been to the meeting, and were running a race, it seems, on their way home. They claim that their horses became unmanageable, and that the accident of running over the foot passengers resulted in consequence. Three personwere knocked down by the horses, one of them being Mr. Gee, our informant, who has a badly sprained hand in consequence. Mrs. Matheny was thrown down and considerably burt, and has a bruised shoulder. Mr. Michael Matheny received terrible injuries, and when Dr. Carpenter, who was sent for, visited him, he considered that he lay at the point of death; his head and face are terribly cut; his hands are bruised and lacerated, and he seem also to suffer from internal internal injuries. Mr. Matheny is represented as an old man in good circumstances, very much esteemed, few men in that vicinity being more universally respected. The accident is very much to be regretted. It is not to be supposed that these young men deliberately intended to do such serious injury to others, but their conduct was reckless, and its results are a warning that should be remembered.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States be, and hereby is, authorized and empowered to issue coupon and registered bonds of the United States to the extent of one thousand millions of dollars, in bonds of one thousand dollars principal and interest payable in gold coin; each bond to bear interest for the first three years at the rate of six per centum per annum, for the six years following five per centum per annum, and for the next six years four and a half per centum per annum. The bonds and the income therefrom to be free from all tax whatever. The Secretary of the Treasury may exchange the same at par for the bonds commonly called "five twenties," at the option of the holders of said bonds; or he may place the said bonds at home or abroad upon the market at a uniform fixed price. The proceeds of which shall be used in redeeming "five twenty" bonds now outstanding.

STATE POLITICS-still continue badly mixed, and very little can be surmised regarding the relative strength of parties till the election for delegates to the Constitutional Convention, which election will occur on third Saturday in December. The probabilities are that the Republicans will unite in sup- Springfield, warting liberal men, in favor of negro willam to Ferks, suffrage, where they are not strong enough to elect a Republican. The party which elected Judge Cooper to the United States Senate, in opposition to Andy Johnson, combines the liberal each and having thirty-five years to men of the Conservative party and the known to bring the germs of disease, run; interest payable semi-annually; Republicus. There was a protracted chiefly fevers, which are sometimes struggle in the Legislature to restrict the number of delegates to fitty, so as to prevent Andy Johnson's election to the convention, it being well known that he would be deteated it compelled to go before the people of his Sen-atorial District, while he could be elected in his county. After much wrangling, the matter was compromised by making the number of delegates seven ty-five instead of one hundred, as the bill first contemp ated. This will probably enable Andy to "get office, THE COLORED MAX-it is quite per

tives who will favor colored suffrage in the convention, will oppose extending the right to hold office, and there will undoubtedly be a strong party who will arge the distranchisement of the colored man. The Fifteent's Amendment was defeated in the Tennessee Legislature by an overwhelming majority-the vote standing 57 to 12; but this was not a test vote on colored suffrage, but was an expression of the House on the question of States rights. The Democratic party of Tennessee includes the entire ex-rebel element, and the men who fought under Lee and Johnson are as firm believers in the doctrine of State rights and secession to day, as they were on the 21st of tions, has a fine steel portrait of both July, 1861. The "original Union men" in the State Legislature, who now affiliate with the Conservative party, dare not vote for the Fifteenth Amendment, because to do so would be to array themselves in opposition to the ex rebel element which holds the balance of power in the Democratic party. In act these poor, timid souls are on the horns of a dilemma. They are looked upon as traitors to the Confederate cause, and will only be trusted by the Confederates while they are able to make themselves useful, and they have no sympathy from Republicans, because they are acting in opposition to the principles of the party. Those men will, probably, continue with the Democratic party, and some of them will oppose colored suffrage, but they will not be able to prevent its incorporation in the new constitution.
