The President's Relatives.
The Democratic papers of this State have frequently accused the President of appointing his relatives to office.
It appears it is a chronic disease. The New York Times has a long article against the Sum for the same kind of false statements, and then closes by giving a list of all of them this:
We now subjoin the so-called list of "the President's relatives," published almost daily by the Sum. It will be published, doubtless, notwithstanding the proofs given below of its falsity.
But, at any rate, the man who does so publish it will stand self-condemned before the public as a professional and wanton liar:
I. Jesse Root Grant, President's father, Postmaster at Covington, Ky.
Appointed to office by Johnson; retained by Grant.
II. Rev. M. J. Cramer, President's brother-in-law, Minister to Denmark.
Appointed Consul to Leipsic by Johnson; transferred to Denmark by Grant. Is a Methodist minister, a thorough linguist, a most competent man, and was highly recommended.
III. Brovet Brig. Gen. F. T. Dent, President's brother-in-law, one of the military secretaries at the Executive mansions.
Army appointment; holds no position of emolument at hands of President; has never been promoted by President, but simply transferred, with same rank, from one regiment to another, when the army was reduced and consolidated, two years ago.
IV. George W. Dent, President's brother-in-law, Appraiser of Customs, San Francisco.
Was strongly recommended by California Delegation.
V. John Dent, President's brother-in-law, exclusive Indian trader for New Mexico, under the Indian Bureau; place worth $100,000 a year.
Was not appointed by President; holds no office under Indian Bureau; is not exclusive trader for New Mexico, but is a post trader, under the rules and regulations of the War Department; profits of place grossly exaggerated.
VI. Alexander Sharpe, President's brother-in-law, Marshal of the District of Columbia.
Mrs. Grant's brother-in-law, a first-class man, and capital appointment; is a member of the President's official household, and the duties are of such a character that from time immemorial the place has been filled by a relative or near friend of the President.
VII. James B. Caldwell, President's brother-in-law, Collector of the Port of New Orleans, and electioneering agent for the renomination of Grant by means of United States soldiers and Gating guns.
Is not President's brother-in-law, but Mrs. Grant's; has proven an excellent Collector; carried out many reforms, principally in taking control of Custom-house out of hands of politicians.
VIII. James Longstreet, President's wife's cousin, Surveyor of the Port of New Orleans.
Is no relation whatsoever to either the President or his wife. Longstreet married the daughter of the Assistanant Colonel of the Fourth Infantry, which was the regiment into which both he and the President entered when they left West Point. He was appointed at the very outset of the present Administration, for the press purpose of indicating to the people of the South the liberal policy which the President proposed to pursue toward those who accepted the situation in good faith—a policy which the President's delamers did not accept or advocate until long after he had begun to enforce it.
IX. Silas Hudson, President's cousin, Minister to Guatemala.
Was strongly recommended by his friends in Iowa; is a very competent man; President has bought acquaintance with him.
X. N. A. Paton, President's wife's cousin, Collector of the Port of Galveston.
No relation. The President does not even know him, and never heard of him until he saw his name in print.

XI. Orlando H. Ross, President's cousin, clerk in the Third Auditor's Office Washington.
Was a gallant soldier; was appointed by Secretary of Treasury, without the President's knowledge or recommendation, and was first told of it by Ross himself, when they casually met on the street.
XII. Mr. Addison Dent, President's wife's third cousin, clerk in the Register's Office, Treasury Department, Washington.
No relation whatever.
XIII. George B. Johnson, President's third cousin, Assessor of Internal Revenue, Third District of Ohio.
No relation; he married a cousin of the President years ago, and that fact had nothing to do with his appointment, which was made as the nearly unanimous choice of the political influences of his district, including the members of Congress.
XIV. B. L. Winans, President's cousin's husband, Postmaster of Newport, Ky.
No relation to the President, who never saw him until last Summer, after he was appointed, and whose wife the President had not seen since she was a little girl.
XV. A. W. Casey, President's brother-in-law's brother, Appraiser of Customs, New Orleans.
No relation of the President, and is not a brother of Collector Casey at New Orleans. President does not know him.
XVI. Peter Casey, President's brother-in-law's brother, Postmaster of Vicksburg, Miss.
Mrs. Grant's brother-in-law's brother; was a loyal Southerner. Not appointed as the President's choice.
XVII. S. T. Lambert, M. D., President's second cousin, Receiver of the Public Moneys in Oregon; said to be a defaulter, but retained in office.
No such person in office in Oregon now or at any other time, and President has no such relation. This probably refers to a man named F. M. Lamper, who was appointed Receiver of Public Moneys at Olympia, Washington Territory, on the recommendation of Gov. Salmon; he deposited the public money in a bank that was not a depository; was removed from office summarily, and his successor appointed before the Sum and its friends knew such a man had ever been appointed; was removed Aug. 31 last, and the money improperly deposited has been recovered.
XVIII. Reader W. Clarke, President's cousin, Supervisor of Internal Revenue for Southern Ohio.
No relation; was formerly a member of Congress from Ohio.
XIX. C. A. Ford, President's cousin, Assessor of Internal Revenue, St. Louis.
No relation whatever; is Collector of Internal Revenue.
Mr. Delano says he is a first-class officer; "if there ever was an honest man, he is one."
XX. Dr. E. H. Grant, President's third cousin, clerk in the Internal Revenue Bureau, Washington.
No relation; President never saw him or heard of him before.
XXI. E. C. David, President's wife's cousin's husband, Special Agent of the Post office Department in Illinois and Iowa.
No relation; President does not know him, and is no relation to any relation of the President, directly or indirectly.
XXII. Charles E. Baldwin, President's cousin's husband, Mail Agent in Kentucky.
No relation; President does not know him, and never heard of him before.
XXIII. John J. Grant, President's second cousin, Assessor of Internal Revenue Twelfth District of New York.
No relation; President does not
know him.
XXIV. Alexander Sharpe, Jr., President's nephew, Cadet at Annapolis.
Mrs. Grant's, not the President's nephew.
XXV. Frederick Dent Grant, President's son, Second Lieutenant, Fourth Cavalry; gone to Europe on an illegal leave of absence granted him by his father.
Appointed to West Point by Johnson; is not on leave of absence, but is on duty on staff of the General of the Army; has no extra allowances of any kind for the trip, and his expenses are paid by his father.
One readers may now see for themselves the willful dishonesty with which this list has been prepared by the Sum. What are they to think of any fresh charges against the President which may proceed from the same quarters? Sum will lay down the "Hundreds of people would take dollar chances in a so called charity lottery who would never think of giving two cents to a blind man."
An immense cave, said to rival the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, was recently discovered near Millsburg, Centre county, Pa.

Mount Hood.—To see the town and forest, well, and enjoy the view and the tame, the natural and the artificial, go back on the fir topped hills, a mile west of the river, and turn your face toward Sabine and Mount Hood.
Here, with your back jammed up against a wood, dense, deep, and magnificent, you have a mile of city at four feet; then a tide river, with many ships, and not unlike the Thames, then a mile of open town; then fir, tall, taller, deep, dense, and black as Erebus, in the distance; then hills, forest-crowned, of course; then grander hills, still black with forests, but nearly hidden in the clouds—rolling clouds, that sometimes sweep like seas, then drift, and lazily drag themselves through the tree tops; higher up are peaks, crags, clouds; then Mount Hood, rugged, scarred, and broken, matchless and magnificent, and white forever, as the throne of God.
Grand and lovely, beyond the touch of words, are these steep and stupendous peaks of snow in Oregon, when flashing under a summer sun. Hood is only an elder brother of a well-raised family. Under skies that are less intensely blue, they might not thrill you so. Did they stand as fit other than only as additions to and extensions of other mountains, gray, barren, and colorless, the effect then might not be so great. But here, the shining pyramids of white, starting sudden and solitary from the great black sea of fir, standing as supporting pillars to the dome of intense blue sky, startle, thrill, and delight you, though you have stood unmoved before the sublimest scenes of earth.—Josiah Miller, in April Observer Monthly.

WORTH KNOWING.—In pasting wall papers, posters, etc., especially where successive layers are put on, there arises a most disagreeable effluvia, which is particularly noticeable in wet weather. The cause of this is the decomposition of the paste. In close rooms it is very unwholesome, and often the cause of disease. In large manufactories, where large quantities of paste are used, it often becomes sour and offensive. Glue, also, has a very disagreeable odor. If, when making paste or glue, a small quantity of carbolic acid is added, it will keep sweet and free from offensive smell. A few drops added to mudilage or ink prevents mold. In white washing the cellar and dairy, if an ounce of carbolic acid is added to each gallon of wash, it will prevent mold and remove the disagreeable taints often perceived in meats and milk from damp apartments.

HEAVY BLAST.—The Oregon City Enterprise speaks of a heavy blast that was let off last week, at the canal excavation, throwing pieces of rock across the river. One stone struck a half-breed named Dick Hoy on the head, inflicting a severe wound on his forehead.
Another rock struck the roof of Mr.
Logan's butcher shop, passing through the roof and smashing in the ceiling.
This rock weighed 90 pounds, and another passed through the window of Mr. Frazer's residence, striking Mrs.
F. on the shoulder, but doing no serious damage.—Turner's Oregonian

A late Naples dispatch says: A fresh crater opened on Mount Vesu-vius to-day. Ashes and lava threaten the villages on the mountain side. The inhabitants are fleeing. Thousands are encamped in the fields. The bay is covered with boats filled with speculators. The scene is indescribably grand and terrible. The flames sometimes shoot to a great height, and masses of rock are ejected. Earthquake shocks are distinctly felt here.

A story is told of two travelers who were assigned to the same bedroom in a crowded hotel. Before retiring one of them knelt down to pray, and confessed a long catalogue of sins. On rising from his knees he saw his fellow traveler, valise in hand, going out of the door, and exclaimed: "What's the matter? What's up?" "Oh, nothing," was the reply, "only I'm not going to risk myself with such a scamp as you confess yourself to be."

One of the beneficial effects of advertising was exemplified the other day in Germantown. A gentleman who had lost his dog, advertised the loss in the Chronicle, and after only two insertions of the advertisement, the dog was found in the gentleman's garden, where it had been accidentally locked up.

Among the ladies who graduated at the New York Medical College for Women, March 26th in New York City, was Mary P. Sawtelle, of Salem, Or.
Three thousand million letters yearly pass through the post offices of the world.

The Nicholson pavement has proved a complete failure in Cincinnati. The City Engineer says in his report that under the most favorable circumstances it will not last five years.
A deaf and dumb person being asked to give his idea of large recess, took a pencil and wrote: "It is the sweetest which flowers yield when trampled upon."
A lady had the misfortune to swallow the contents of an ink bottle. Her mother, with wonderful presence of mind, immediately administered a boxing cap paper, and the child has felt inside ever since.
