Republican Convention.

The Republicans of Jackson county met in convention on Saturday last and adopted the following as their platform.

1st. Resolved. That we endorse the platform of the last Republican Convention of this State, and will give to the nominees of that convention a cordial and hearty support.

2nd. Resolved. That we favor and demand such legislation as will effectually protect settlers of all classes on mineral and agricultural lands, in all their rights, and secure titles to their possessions.

3d. Resolved. That we are opposed to the act of the last Democratic Legislature, by which possession is made for the seizure in large quantities by speculators of the public lands of this State under the name of swamp land, without respect to the rights of pre-emption and homestead settlers and other occupants of the soil; that we believe such legislation to be for the benefit of speculators, and opposed to the interests of those who cultivate and improve the lands of this State.

How Hypocritical.

The Democratic County Platform of Jackson county reminds us of the fable of the bat in the conflict between the beasts of the field and the birds of the air. Whenever the beasts were about to be victorious the bat couldn't fly worth a cent, but was down on all fours; but when the birds turned tables on the beasts and were about to gain the day, the bat was up in the air flipping around as gay as a chipade.

The 4th Resolution is opposed to friendly legislation, and equally opposed to unfriendly legislation to aid in the construction of railroads. The Bed-Rockers swore like a client that is trying to make his case fit the law.

Two years ago the Bed-Rock Senator from this county made speeches in the eastern part of the county against the swamp land law, and was the champion of the settlers. The Bed-Rock legislation, with this same Senator at its head, passed a law for the swamp land grabber without a single saving clause for the poor settler, that they are so much distressed about in their platform.

This seeming solicitude for the settlers on public lands that is manifested in the 6th and 7th Resolutions, is nothing but the most vile hypocrisy.

This pretended anxiety about the settlers will remain right here, after it has caught the votes, for which it is intended to keep company with the Senator's old speeches, and will never be heard of in the Legislature; but the interests of speculators will be championed as they were in the last Legislature, for they have the chicken-pie

Goose Lake and Indians.

B. F. Dowell and family returned from Goose Lake on Tuesday last, and we learn from him the following particulars:

Goose Lake is situated about one-half in California and the other half in Oregon, at the foot of the Sierra Nevada mountains near the southeast boundary of this State. It is about 120 miles due east of this place, but the main travelled road as now used is about 200 miles. Mr. Dowell being well acquainted with the route, travelled the road by Lost river bridge to Rhet lake, or the sink of Lost river, thence as near as practicable the old immigrant road to Goose lake, and arrived there in four days. He then attempted a new route up the west side of Goose Lake. This he found hilly, rocky, and Drew's creek swimming from bank to bank, and running so rapid as to be dangerous to cross, and impossible to cross without getting wet, so he turned and went around the south end of the lake. Here he expected to have to swim the outlet of Goose Lake into Pitt river, but to his great surprise he found it dry and no water running out. The lake at the lower end is three or four miles longer than it was when Mr. Dowell visited it in 1853-4, but he was informed by the settlers that no water had flowed into Pitt river for the last twelve months, and that the lake was still falling, notwithstanding Mr. Dowell saw more water running into it than is in Rogue river, and more than half as much as is in the Willamette. It is a little inland sea, and its heavy dews extend for miles around. The settlers have promising crops, and the hills and valleys are covered with the best of grasses.

Mr. Dowell thinks the swamp land grabbers will never undertake draining the lake. If the lake was drained they would find the bottom a barren sandy desert, and to destroy the volume of water which constantly evaporates, would in a great measure make the surrounding country a barren desert, equal to those between the Rocky mountains and the Sierra Nevada. The lake is navigable for forty or fifty miles, and no land grabber has any right to drain it without a special act of Congress. Mr. Dowell thinks this consent should never be given, and if given, no company would ever undertake the job.

THE MODOC INDIANS,

Mr. Dowell thinks are a nuisance to the settlers, but not dangerous. He travelled alone through the heart of their country. He camped close to a large band of them and hired one to show him the ford on Lost river and Willer creek, which is the main branch of Lost river which rises in the mountains west of Goose lake. Mr. Dowell knew many of the Indians and they treated him very kindly; and they desired him to tell all the whites that they would not molest any white man. Mr. Dowell is confident the Indians generally are disposed to be friendly; and with prudence and good management there will be no war; and that with firmness and persuasion they can all be induced to return to the reservation, provided by the treaty; or a new treaty might be made with them and the whole tribe removed east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. If these Indians are not willing to remove to the reservation east of the mountains, a preemptory order should issue from the Department compelling them to return to the Klamath agency according to the treaty. During the summer they can get plenty where they are, and they will do but little damage to the settlers; but early this fall they should be compelled to return to the reservation. Necessity is one of the strongest inducements to Indians to steal and plunder. When the winter sets in, they are needy and must have a subsistence. The settlers are mostly bachelors and away from home with plenty of stock feeding on the natural grasses, and when hunger pinches even white men, much less Indians, the food in these vacant cabins, and fat cattle are temptations too great to be resisted. Under such circumstances it is not strange but perfectly natural for white men or Indians to kill and eat.

The head chief, Seonchius, declared solemnly to Mr. Dowell he had never broken the treaty he and old La Lake made with Capt. Jesse Walker at the sink of Lost river in 1854; and that he had never broken the treaty made with the United States in 1864. Mr. Dowell believes this to be true, and that he is a good Indian and loyal to the United States. Capt. Jack, Black

Jim, Scarfaced Charley, Boston and Ke Kun, too, Mr. Dowell thinks, are bad and disloyal, and that nothing but decisive measures will ever make a permanent peace with them. Mr. Dowell camped with Charley and had a long talk with him. Charley brands Captain Jack with being a coward. Mr. Dowell says all five are thievish and cowardly. All five are too well informed to make open war. This tribe, with all their faults and shortcomings, have improved very much. Twenty years ago they were all roving, hostile, barbarous savages. Now more than half are loyal, very kind, and many of them speak good English.

TREADWELL & CO

WITH THE OLD STANDARD
HARVESTING MACHINES
So popular with all California farmers, with all the Latest Improvements, and many ones for the Harvest of '72.

The Wood's Prize Mowers
and Wood's Improved Self-Rake Reapers.
These machines are indisputably
The best in the World

As a Harvester, the Wood's Improved Prize Mower is confessedly without an equal yet before the country. These machines have been improved since first introduced, until they are now almost entirely a new machine. They are made by Walter A. Wood (the largest manufacturer of Farming Machinery in the world) —a man who keeps "up with the times," and who now builds and sells over twenty-five thousand of the World's Prize Mowers annually. It led the world at the Paris Exposition, and has found no peer since.

The World's Improved Prize Mower, is especially adapted to California. It has a folding (or jointed) bar with hand lever, two wheels, spring seat, and is made almost entirely of malleable iron, hard wood and steel. It is heavy, strong and durable, and though compact and powerful, is of lighter draft than other machines of equal weight. It is every way just the Mower for California, as every farmer will say who has one. And its price ($110), is from $25 to $40 less than that of any other machine. Farmers will not pay that difference. Investigate before you buy, and see if you are getting anything for that extra profit—for it is profit, as no Mower costs more to build than Wood's. Send for a pamphlet before buying.

We offer also the Headers, from 10 to 15 feet cut, improved by Walter A. Wood, having not only all the advantages of the old Illinois machine, but Wood's improvements, and also DOANE'S ADJUSTABLE REEL.
