THE CASE OF S. E. MAY.
 The Trial Concluded and the Defendant Acquitted—Applause in the Court Room—Congratulations of Friends.

Yesterday was entirely taken up by the trial of the case of the State vs. S.
 E. May. There was considerable interest taken in the case and the court room was filled with spectators during the day. The State had several lawyers, chief among whom were N. L.
 Butler, Prosecuting Attorney, assisted by W. W. Thayer of Portland, John Burnett of Benton county, C. G. Carl of this city, and R. S. Strahan of Corvallis; Judge R. P. Boise, Rufus Mallory P. C. Sullivan, Ben Hayden, H.
 Y. Thompson and N. B. Knight appeared for the defendant. After the examination of several witnesses on the part of the prosecution, Mr. Butler addressed the jury. He was followed by Judge Boise and P. C. Sullivan, and then W. W. Thayer closed the argument on behalf of the State. Judge Bonham charged the jury in a few words and they were sent out at 5:45 p. m., at which time the Court adjourned. After half an hour's confinement they sent word to the Judge they had agreed on a verdict, and the Court was again called to order. The jury filed into the room and took their seats. Judge Bonham asked the usual questions, and the jury pronounced their verdict, "Not guilty of the charges found in the indictment." Scarcely were the words out of the Foreman's mouth when the eager crowd that had awaited the verdict broke out into a loud, prolonged cheer, and it was some minutes before the Sheriff could restore "order in the Court." Mr. May's friends crowded around him with congratulations, while his eyes filled with tears of gratitude at these demonstrations of joy on the part of his friends. The first ballot stood eleven for acquittal and one for conviction, and the second ballot resulted in a verdict. The trial on the remaining indictments will be resumed to-morrow morning.—Statesman.

THE COUNTRY THINKS OTHERWISE.
 —Mr. Greeley thinks he should be President. Fortunately the country knows better than he. Let us see: A President who would have said at the commencement of the rebellion, let the South go in peace. A President who would have ordered the generals "On to Richmond" only for defeat. A President who would have rushed up to Niagara to go through the stupid face of negotiating a treaty of peace between the North and South, with a sealawag from Colorado as the principal on the Southern side. A President who would have gone to Richmond to go upon Jeff Davis' bail bond. A President who would have bankrupted the country by trying to force specie payment. For the people, especially business men, have not forgotten how, at the close of the war, with gold away up in the forties, Greeley used all the force of the Tribune to resume at once, crying daily, "The way to reach ressumption is to resume." If Greeley had been where he could have carried out his policy then, he would have cost this country as much by financial disaster as the war debt amounted to.

RAILROAD FAILURE.—Colonel Fremont's speculations, as a general rule, have terminated disastrously. They have, perhaps, been on too large a scale.
 His latest stroke of adverse fortune has been in the railroad line. A Texas paper of May 28th, says concerning one of his enterprises, that the Memphis, El Paso and Pacific Railroad, which was originally organized by him, with all its lands, property, rights, privileges and franchises, would be sold to the highest bidder for cash at Paris, Texas, on Tuesday, the 4th of June, 1872, under four decrees rendered by the United States Circuit Court for the Western District of Texas, at its late term at Tyler; and also, at the same time, under execution on three judgments of the District Court of Lamar county, and one from Red River county, Texas.

The State of Oregon vs. Samuel E. May.
 The third indictment, says the Statesman of the 7th instant, against Samuel E. May, was tried yesterday, resulting in the acquittal of the defendant. In the evening the court met to receive the verdict, and after its announcement, the remaining indictments were all, on motion of the Prosecuting Attorney, dismissed. Thus ended in a fiasco a prosecution begun for political effect, which came to be an elephant on the hands of its originators and an enormous expense to the county, ending in the utter discomfiture of those who at first thought it a winning card in the late campaign. Mr. May is now a free man, at liberty to return to his home and family.
 The Mercury and Herald have both made disgraceful attempts this week, to prejudice the public mind in the case of the State vs. S. E. May, against the defendant, while the trials were in progress. We have known such publications to be held as "contempt of of Court."

TO PURIFY A ROOM.—Set a picher of water in a room, and in a few hours it will have absorbed all the respired gases in the room, the air of which will become purer, but the water perfectly filthy. The colder the water is the greater the capacity to contain these gases. At ordinary temperature a pail of water will contain a pint of carbonic acid and several pints of ammonia. The capacity is nearly doubled by reducing the water to the temperature of ice. Hence, water kept in a room while it is always unfit for use.
 For the same reason the water from a pump should always be pumped out in the morning before any of it is used.
 Impure water is more injurious than impure air.

What is the most desirable age of life? We put this question to a few friends lately, and received the following replies, but do not consider any of them satisfactory: A banker thought coin-age the best age; a tailor, cabbage; a soldier, pill-age; a toper, vintage; a vicar, vicar-age; a hungry man, sausage; an ambitious lady, a carriage; a brave man, courage; a dram-drinker, drainage; a joker, bad in-age; a musician, band-age; a slave-owner, bound-age; a laborer, cott-age; a Scotchman, poorage, and two silly fools, marriage.

A TRUE WIFE.—Daniel Webster once said: There is nothing upon this earth that can compare with the faithful attachment of a wife; no creature who, for the object of her love, is so indomitable, so persevering, so ready to suffer and die. Under the most depressing circumstances, woman's weakness becomes a mighty power, her timidity becomes fearless courage, all her shrinking and sinking passes away, and her spirit acquires the firmness of marble—adamantine firmness—when circumstances drive her to put forth all her energies under the inspiration of her affection. It is the bubbling stream which flows gently, the little rivulet which runs along day and night by the farm house that is useful, rather than the swollen flood or cataract. Niagara excites our wonder, and we stand amazed at the power and greatness of God there, as it pours from the hollow of His hand. But one Niagara is enough for a continent or the world while the same world requires thousands and tens of thousands of silver fountains and flowing rivulets, that water every farm and meadow and garden, and that shall flow on every day and night with their gentle beauty. So with the acts of our lives. It is not by great deeds, like the martyrs, that good is to be done, but by the daily and quiet virtues of our life, the Christian's temper, the good qualities of relatives and friends.

A story is told of a soldier who was frozen in Siberia. His remark was "ex—" he then froze as stiff as marble. In the summer of 1850 some physicians found him, after having lain frozen for one hundred and fifteen years. They gradually thawed him, and upon animation being restored, he concluded his sentence with—"ceedingly cold."
