NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President in 1872,
ULYSSES S. GRANT.

For Vice President,
HENRY WILSON.

For Presidential Electors,
W. D. HARE,
of Washington County.
A. B. MEACHAM,
of Umatilla County.
J. F. GAZELY, of Douglas County.

"I would sum up the policy of the Administration to be a thorough enforcement of every law; a faithful collection of every tax provided for; economy in the disbursement of the same; a prompt payment of every debt of nation; a reduction of taxes as rapidly as the requirements of the country will admit; reductions of taxation and tariff, to be so arranged as to afford the greatest relief to the greatest number; honest and fair dealings with all other people, to the end that war with all its blighting consequences may be avoided, but without surrendering any right or obligation due to us; a reform in the treatment of Indians, and in the whole civil service of the country; and finally in securing a pure, untrammelled ballot, where every man entitled to cast vote a may do so, just once, at each election without fear of molestation, or prosecution on account of his political faith, nativity, or color."—U. S. Grant.

Grant on Greeley.

President Grant was lately interviewed by a reporter of the New York Herald, and said some thing in his direct manly way that are worthy of being noted. The declarations made by the President reveal the true reason of the early attacks of the New York Tribune upon him and his administration. We give this from the Presidents remarks: Greeley never made any complaint to me about Government affairs. He first grumbled through his paper, I, believe, and then his spokesman, as they called themselves, came grumbling to me about his not getting more of the patronage of the Government to dispose of. The truth about Greeley is he has been always surrounding himself with men of disreputable character and wanting to put them into important offices. I could not provide for all of them, and most of them I could not afford, the country itself could not afford to trust in any decent place. I had afterwards to remove, for incompetency or misconduct of some kind or other, almost every man whom I gave an appointment on his recommendation. Such persons as Camp and Lamont and those people. One man Furguson, the Senate very properly, I believe, refused to confirm. Greeley would have filled the civil service with all the worthless men in the country if I had let him; but I would not let him, and that is the trouble.

Good Faith.

The course taken by Gov. Booth in commuting the sentence of William Williams furnishes an example of good faith that is well worthy of notice, and ought to be read and remembered by all those that still cling to the old crotchety idea, "that the end justifies the means." This act of justice per se is enough to cause the people of California to be proud of their Governor. It shows him to be a man possessing a keen sense of moral duty. We copy the following from the Yreka Journal:

The action of Governor Booth in commuting the sentence of William Williams, who was sentenced to death in Siskiyou county, will be commended by every right-thinking man in the community. It seems that after his sentence Williams escaped from prison. The authorities, believing him to have been secreted by his friends, caused information to be conveyed to him that his sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life, and that it would be better if he gave himself up. Believing this statement Williams did surrender himself, but only to find that he had been made the victim of a ruse. And now the Governor really commutes the sentence of death, and gives the wise reason "that the State ought not in any manner to be a party to a violation of faith, even to the guilty, and last of all in a matter involving life and death."

An Honest Enemy.

There is such a thing as being honest with enemies. A man that will deceive and betray an enemy can never be trusted as a friend, without it is previously understood that deception and intrigue shall constitute a part of the warefare. Men that will fight one minute and hug each other the next, are either fools or knaves, and most generally both. A man of any sense of honor will not add insult to injury by caressing his enemy pefore the blood stops oozing from the wounds that he has inflicted upon him by his own hands. So will every sensible man repel with abhorance such friendship, and look upon it as either coming from a hypocrit or a fool, whose brazen impudence is too intolerable to be born If you have an enemy, be honest with him. Give him to understand, either by word or deed, that you are his enemy, and the reason for your enmity. Don't fool him with your hypocracy.

It a man strikes you one minute and wants to treat and make up next, keep your face towards him; it your back is turned he will stab you sure. Tears and smiles travel slowly from an honest, angry heart to the face, and when you see them manifesting themselves early, beware or you will catch a wolf instead of a lamb.

The above is applicable to the great bargain and sale conspiracy that is going on between Greeley and the Democrats. Can any sane man believe that Greeley and the Democrats are sincere in the affection they claim to have towards each other? Has not Greeley repeatedly said that every rebel was a Democrat? How did he propose to treat the rebels—this great body of Democrats- during the late rebellion? Read his own language, Democrats, and then ask yourself it the man that had nothing to do in getting up the rebellion, but manfully risked his life for his country, is not far preferable in every way than the man that helped to get up the muss, and stood off out of danger while it was going on, and poured forth his bitter vials of abuse, enraging the rebel heart to the wildest desperation.

The following is from the pen of Horace Greeley:

"We hold traitors responsible for the work upon which they have precipitated us, and we warn them that they must abide the full penalty. * * * The rebels of that State (Virginia) and Maryland may not flatter themselves that they can enter upon a war against the Government and afterwards return to quiet and peaceful homes. They choose to play the part of traitors, and they must suffer the penalty. The worn-out race of emasculated first families must give place to sturdier people, whose pioneers are now on their way to Washington, at this moment, in regiments. An allotment of land in Virginia would be a fitting reward to the brave fellows who have gone to fight their country's battles." —N. Y. Tribune, April 23, 1861.

"But nevertheless we mean to conquer—not merely to defeat, but to conquer, to subjugate them—and we shall do this the most mercifully the more speedily we do it. But when the rebellious traitors are overwhelmed in the field and scattered like leaves before an angry wind, it must not be to return to peaceful and contented homes. They must find poverty at their firesides, and see privation in the anxious eyes of mothers and the rags of children."—Tribune, May 1, '61

Agricultural Fair.

At a meeting of the officers of the Jackson County Agricultural Society, held at Jacksonville, July 27, the following committees were appointed preparatory to holding the annual Fair to wit: Conrad Mingus, James McDonough, and Alex. Martin, were appointed to classify the entries in the first and second department, embracing all live Stock, Machinery, Carringes, Implements &c., and W. J. Plymale, F. B. Kent, and Isaac Sachs to classify the entries in the third and fourth departments, embracing Textile Fabrics, Domestic Manufactures, Farming Products &c., W. J. Plymale, John A. Greves, Tom Beall and Henry Klippel, together with the President to act as an executive Committee. The above Committies will report at the next meeting of Society. The Executive Committees to report the time and place of holding the next annual Fair.

In accordance with the above, a meeting of the Society will be held at the Court House, in Jacksonville at one oclock P. M., of Saturday, August 17, 1872.

All members, and others interested in sustaining the organization, are respectfully urged to attend.

JOHN S. HERRIN, President.
H. K. HANNER. Sec.
Jackson County Agricultural Society.

NEW RESTARANT.—Mr. Hudson has opened an eating house in Browns building, on Oregon street, opposite the old Overbeck hospital. Everything looks tidy there.

What is sure to follow.

Democratic Liberalitics grow eloquent over the results which will follow the defeat of President Grant. "The South will embrace the North, and peace and good-will reign everywhere." By what means this "peace and good-will" are to be brought about in the South may be judged by the means employed in the past. The Presidential election of 1868 in the State of Louisiana affords a gleam of light on this subject. The Democrats wanted to cary the election. As they could not outvote the Republicans they determined to kill them off. How well they succeeded may learned from the report of the committee appointed to investigate the affair. We quote:

"The testimony show that over two thousand persons were killed, wounded and otherwise injured in that State, within a few weeks prior to the Presidential election; that halt the of State, was overrun by violence; that mid-night raids, secret murders, and open riots kept the people in terror until the Republicrns surrendered all claims, and then the election was carried by the Democracy."

It says of the riot at the parish of St. Landry:

"Here occured one of the bloodiest riots on record, in which the KuKlux killed and wounded over two hundred Republicans in two days. A pile of twenty-five bodies of the victims was found half buried in the woods. The KuKlux captured the masses, marked them with badges of red flannel, enrolled them with in clubs, marched them to the polls, and made the vote the Democratic ticket."

This is not fiction, but words of tauth from an impartial report. This is "the peace and good-will which would follow the defeat of President Grant; these are the "Liberal" rights which would be the loyel citizen. The insigators and the actors os these terrible arimes are in fevor of Horace Greeley. This one fact should opeo the eyes of the people to the full mening of this desperate combination of "anything to beat Grant." Defeat Grant, and the loyal people of the South are once more at mercy of the rebel bloodhounds, who only need his defea to finish their work of blood. Defeat Grant, and universal gloom will settle over the South, and obscure the sunshine of liberty which is just begining to light up its once desolate fields. Defeat Grant and civilization is retarded at least a century.

A Sensible Democrat.

Hon. B. F. Parks, formerly a Democratic member of Congress from Indiana, but now a resident of Illnois, and who has been known as a life long Democrat, made a telling speech in Joliet on the 13 ultimo; in which he denounced Greeley from a Democratic standpoint, and declared his intention to suport Grant. He figure it up as follows:

"If among the 3,000,000 Democratic voters on this continent their is no man worthey to recieve your votes—that you must throw aside every principle of your life—that you must cast away your hate, your love, your very shame, and in agony of soul take to your hearts your life-long enemy—the man you have always abhored, scorned and detested—the I say I cannot go with you. Condidly, as a Democrat that has been proscribed, socialy, financially and professionaly; as one who has been a martyr to Democratic principles; as one who has always advocated those principles, believing them to be right; I say that with thar record with those surroundings, Mr. Greeley can die ere I will consent to owe him anything or pay allegiance to him." And further:— "This conspiracy against Genereral Grant has been brewing about two years, and it was based on the idea that the Democracy are are purchasable and deliverable. I suppose I was in the inventory on the 1st of January last, but, gentlemen, they can neither sell or deliver me." Of Grant he said: "He never said to anybody that he was a Democrat; he did not say he was a Republican. He simply said that if elected, he would attend to hss duty right allong, and, gentlemen, I submit to you the proposition that he has done it faithfully, fearlessly, and honestly." Concluding, he said: "Fellow-citizens, taking into consideration who are the candidates before you, there is no alternive for any true Democrat but to vote for U. S. Grant for Prsident. I am here as a Democrat I do not call myself a Republican. I honestly beleive to be the truth; no sinister or interested motives control my action or give color judgement. The conclusions I have come to the result of the best I have been able to give to the matter; and I believe it a duty I owe those with whom I have usualy acted, and to the people of this State, to give reason for my present action."

GRANT takes back and forgives the prodigal children. We copy the following from an Indianapolis Journal:

"In a speech delivered at Cleveland, Ohio, a few evenings fince, R. C. Kirk, late Minister to the Argentine Republic, mentioned an act of kindness performed by Presilend Grant, toward certain ex-rebels, which is not generally known. After the war a few hundred Southern men, feeling that they could not live under the United States Government, went to Brazil with their families. In a short time many of them became reduced to a condition of absolute starvation, and were eager to get back to the United States, but were unable to do so. In this situation Presinent Grant ordered that all who wished to return should be transported on Government steamers, free of expense, and nearly all of them thus found their way back."

A MASS CONVENTION, of the soldiers and sailors of the late war will be held at Pittsburg, Sept. 17th. The object is to give an expression on the part of the countries defenders, in behalf of President Grant, and the Republican cause. The soldiers in every State in the Union denounce the Tammany candidate, and look upon Grant as a tried and true friend, as one that lead them to victory in the dark days of the Rebellion, when Greeley's knees were clattering together with fear at Chappaqua. The Convention will be largely represented from every State.
