CABIN BURNED. - On Monday eve ning about nine o'clock a very bright light could be seen in the direction of Jackass creek, which, by those who seen it, was thought at once to be caused by the burning of another cabin owned by Chinamen on that creek. Wm Stephenson, who lives directly opposite, informed us yesterday that such was the case, and that the fire started about half past eight o'clock that evening. It had been occapied by Chinamen until the day before the fire, when they moved to a tent a short distance away, leaving the house vacant. It is generally believed to be the work of an incendiary.

He had been tampered with three times during the present season, while in the Willammette valley, but after each of the two first efforts to poison him he recovered his usual health and action in a short time. The third attempt, however, proved successful, and the poison slowly but surely done its work. This is a heavy loss to Mr. Myer and a serious one to the stock interests of our State, as the colts sired by him have given the best of satisfaction. SERIOUS ACCIDENT .-- A very serious accident occurred at Fred Birdsey's place, on Rogue River, last Saturday evening, occasioned by the careless use of firearms, the facts of which are as follows. On the evening mentioned Ned, a thirteen year old son of J E Beggs, returned from a short hunt in the hills near that place, and after reaching camp, Ellis Beggs, an it the charge exploded shooting Ned in the right toot. Dr Aiken was summoned immediately. but after bringing the boy to this place, where a thorough examination of the wound was made it was found that the ankle joint and heel had been so badly shattered as to necessitate the amputation of the foot This operation was performed by Dr Aiken, assisted by Dr Vrooman, on Sunday last, and the boy is now doing as well as could be expected.

INCENDIARIES .- On Tuesday night of last veek two attempts were made to burn Chinaown, which, luckily, proved unsuccessful. Shavings had been carried to the roof of the building opposite the residence of A Fisher which were set on fire about two o'clock in the morning, but Mrs Houck, the owner of the remises, was awakened by the noise, and she discovered the blaze in time to prevent a serious conflagration. If it had not been discovered just at that time probably our town to-day vould have been in ashes, as it would have been hard work to check a fire starting at that time of night. A number of suspicious looking characters pass through here daily, and it would be well to keep the strictest watch over them while in town.

DESERTER ARRESTED .- Capt Adams arrived in town last Saturday, looking for a soldier named J R Landy, who deserted at Fort Klam' ath on the night of the 15th inst He also stole a horse, considered to be the most valuable one in the troop, and started in this direction. The Captain tracked him to within a short distance of this place, where all trace of him was lost, but after arriving here Jack Montgomery was sent out in the direction it was supposed he had taken. Jack nabbed his man a short distance below Rock Point on Sunday and prought him to town where he is now confined n the jail. The horse and other property stolen was all recovered, and his chances for a season at Alcatraz are very flattering.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT .- About 5:36 o'clock Saturday evening, says the Oregonian, Victor Bellinger, a sixteen year old son of C B Bellinger, Esq., met with a most shocking accident, under the following circumstances: He was engaged in loading a shell-cartridge for a shotgun at the time of the distressing mishap. He had attached the percussion to the lowest end older brother, took his gun, and while handling of the shell, placed the powder in and was ramming down the wadding preparatory to putting in the shot. To force the wadding down Victor used a short iron ramrod, probably a foot long. While thus engaged the cartridge exploded, driving the ramrod through his hand and up sgainst his forehead. One end of the rod struck the bone of the right eyebrow, near the nose, shattering it and tearing away in the upward passage the flesh. So violently was the rod driven that it penetrated the skull and entered the brain, making a very dangerous wound. At last accounts the boy was still alive and doing as well as could be expected.
