

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1880.

Josephine County Republican Mass Convention.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Catholic population of the United States is estimated at 6,143,222.

If Judge Field is, as some partisan sheets affirm, so good and pure a man it would be a pity to take him from the Supreme bench.

There is no Vice-Presidential boom for anybody in sight yet. Senator Ferry is suspected of a willingness to set one in motion bearing his name.

Braunhart is again brawling in the California Legislature. He was suspended by that body for three days, but, perhaps, not in the proper manner.

The following, from the report of a Democratic meeting in San Francisco March 2d explains why that party boasts of big majorities. Mr. Lynch remarked:

Lord Beaconsfield, England's premier, is said to be suffering from gout. It is evidently not in the stomach, or he would be more alive to the pangs of the suffering Irish.

It is one of the plainest indications of current politics that the Democrats base their only hope of success this year on the possibility of a Republican blunder at Chicago.

Miss Jennie Flood, to whom Ulysses S. Grant, Jr. is engaged, has been presented with two millions and a half by her father. His friends now speak of her as his "financier."

The Iowa House of Representatives, by a vote of nearly two to one, have decided to submit to the people a constitutional amendment in favor of making women eligible for election to the Legislature.

By an Irish paper we see that "baby mine" is being sung in the Belfast theatre. We hope it will remain there and send over to America for "my Grandfather's clock" and get the old thing started again.

Our Democratic Congress refuse to revise the tariff this term and so the heavy duty on paper will continue to impoverish publishers. And yet, that is the party whose war cry once was "Free trade and Sailor's rights;" and the party whose boast now is, "that Democracy is unchangeable."

"We think" is becoming the stereotyped language of Judge Boies when it devolves on him to deliver an opinion of the Supreme Court. Who the devil cares what the Court "thinks?" The people want to know what it "knows" about law and not what it "thinks," and if the Court knows law it should say so, square toed and no dodging.

According to all accounts there is great difficulty in ascertaining how Gen. Butler stands politically. Why anybody should care particularly to know is not very plain, but it seems there are people trying to find out. Neither party seem to want him, Republicans insisting that he is a Democrat, and Democrats insisting that he is a Republican. Gen. Butler himself says he is a Grant man, although causing it to be understood that if he were himself nominated by the Greenbackers he would support the ticket with unfeigned delight.

TWO ITEMS.

The following item is found in the Corvallis "Gazette": "Jackson county manufactures nearly as much whiskey as the rest of the State. It is the only county in the State whose inhabitants 'egg' women." The "Catholic Sentinel" speaking of our contributions for the relief of the starving Irish, remarks: "This remittance makes a pro rata of nearly three dollars each from the residents of Jacksonville, and, we think, entitles them to the championship in the realm of charity over any other portion of the United States."

At the election at which the Committee was called into being only 4,000 votes were cast, while at the preceding election there were 20,000 Democratic voters.

A young man who wants to be successful in anything he undertakes, must have the essential elements of a strong manly character. Lacking these he must fail.

Hugh Duffy then arose and let a large sized cat out of the meal tub by saying, "What's the reason we polled 20,000 votes at the preceding election? I'll tell you why it was. Because men that have voted more times that day than there are precincts in the city."

MACHINE POLITICS.

The Grant movement is on the wane and if there is one thing indicated by the decline of Grant stock, more than another, it is the growing independence of the people and their disgust at "machine politics." Made up States, packed primaries and loaded conventions are "played out" even in national politics and the man who wins his nomination by trickery will find it difficult to win his election. The people have been taught so many lessons regarding their "sovereign power" by demagogues; have heard so much about this great government resting entirely on popular intelligence that it is now extremely difficult to deceive them, or teach them to undervalue their privileges. The machine politicians are in much the same situation as an ancient "Dionides"—who taught his horses to eat human flesh, and was afterwards, himself, devoured by them. Parties, controlled by professional politicians whose objective point is the office, have not always shown themselves above corruption that shames decency, and this truth is branding itself into the minds of the people in the most forcible way. In truth there is no more disgusting sight to American manhood, than the only sycophancy of those who live by politics, just on the eve of election, and their tricks are beginning to be well understood. There is another truth that is forcing itself on all intelligent people: The fact, that where they can procure their own servants without the aid of "middle men" or political brokers, those servants are responsible directly to the people themselves and unfaithfulness can not be charged up against one party or another. Independence is the very soul of patriotism but so long as it is stifled by the impudent demands of party usage, enforced by a handful of political "tape worms" our boasted independence is something only fit to be engraved on the collars that are manufactured by the political machine and worn by men who foolishly think themselves free.

STOCK IN LAKE.

By the kindness of Mr. R. C. Armstrong we are permitted to make the following extract from a Linkville letter of March 2d:

The outlook here is anything but cheering for stock-men, or any other class. The winter, for such it is, though in the month of March, hangs upon us. It is yet very cold with every indication of more snow—in fact it is "spitting" now, preliminary to settling down to energetic work. Sunday last we had a very short period of time devoted to "gentle rain"—the first and only rain since September last. Look for considerable snow during the week, and probably some very cold weather. On Saturday last a South wind melted a great deal of the snow, so that now, mother earth is plainly visible, though only in favored localities. Snow still covers the ground in places to the depth of 8, 10 or 16 inches, and in drifts, 6 and 8 feet.

Stock, cattle and sheep are dying in large numbers. Feed is nearly gone, and grass hardly started. A very large per cent of cattle will perish, and nearly all the sheep in the surrounding country. Many cattle, that have been fed during almost the entire winter, will not survive unless favorable weather comes to their relief and that speedily. Should the weather continue stormy, the loss will be more than 80 per cent, possibly greater than that. Farther East of here, a distance of 150 to 250 miles, stock seems to be faring much better.

Am of the opinion that this county will not recover from the effects of this terrible winter for several years. A number of men, who, last fall, had a very good start in life are now again poor, owing to severe losses. Have heard some of them say that, in the Spring, they will depart for more congenial climes. Future prospects are indeed gloomy.

PURIM.

Thursday Feb. 25th. was the anniversary of the Jewish feast of the Purim, a moveable festival, in which the Jews commemorate their deliverance from the wiles and stratagems of Haman as recorded in the Book of Esther. The observance of this festival has been religiously maintained in all countries where the Hebrew race is represented. But in Jacksonville it passed off so quietly that but few, if any, of our citizens were aware of the anniversary of that historic day. In fact, the observance of religious holidays, both among Jews and Gentiles on this coast, is growing beautifully less every year.

The engineers of De Lesseps have completed their survey for the isthmus canal, and put the cost at $168,000,000, and the time of construction at eight years. The next thing for the enthusiastic Frenchman to do is to raise the money and go ahead.

THE GAME LAW.

For the guidance of those persons who are accused of needless slaughter of game we publish the following extract from the statutes: Sec. 3. That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, to take, kill or destroy, any elk or deer at any time, for the sole purpose of obtaining the horns, hides or hams of the same, and the person or persons so offending shall be fined a sum not less than twenty dollars for each offense. The law makes it unlawful to "take, kill or destroy" any elk or deer from the last day of January until the first day of September, provided, however, that persons are not to be prevented from killing such game for their own consumption. This law is too plain to admit of any mis-construction, but the latter provision is so abused as to make the law almost a dead letter, and a correspondence elsewhere is a sample of the frequent complaints made to us. Recently the authorities tried to punish some parties in this county for violating the game law, but the evidence was hardly sufficient and they were not indicted. The District Attorney expresses his determination to enforce the law and he should be aided by all good citizens. The indiscriminate slaughter of game is brutal waste, and its rapid destruction by a class of men, too lazy to work for an honest living, who depend on the sale of hides and hams to support their own worthless carcasses, ought to be stopped.

CORRESPONDENCE.

WALDO, OREGON, March 1, 1880. ED. SENTINEL.— Three parties near here have violated the game law lately, one party killed a number of deer for the pelts, another party left the fore parts and took the hams, the other party killed three times as many deer as they could possibly make lawful use of. I am also very reliably informed that an employee of a mining company on Applegate actually killed fourteen deer in one day and left twelve of them in the woods untouched. A probable arrest will come out of the crimes already committed here. FOX ARABIAS.

If the above refers to any killing done since February 1st and can be proven there can be no doubt of conviction, and let no "deer" murderer escape.—EJ.
