Now in these days cometh Lewis whose surname is Strong, and renteth the Wimer mills and maketh therein flour like unto snow and riseth in head like unto sponge, which causeth the people roundabout to rejoice that such good flour can be had in their own own nation and from their own kindred and tribe.

Money has not yet lost its charms, for I heard a person say he would not give trade for the article, but would pay the money, but added, that he had none and no one owed him any. I mention this because money is so scarce that taxes are hardly more than half paid and the pro-pect is pretty gloomy generally.

Grass comes along rather slowly, still much stock is making a living on that which is in sight. It did look rather gloomy for a while but now our outlook is brighter and we expect that Applegate will still retain the palm for good crops of cereals, fruits and vegetables. A few varieties of garden seeds have been put in, but good gardeners do not waste seeds by sowing while the ground is so cold.

I interviewed Mr. A. Wimer on the sheep question, and he tells me that they are doing fine, that many of those right, and cattle too are doing well, notwithstanding the very fishy story told you lately about sheep, &c., starving to death on Applegate. More grain than usual has been sown and got into the ground in splendid order and now we are very anxious for rain and warm weather, still the grain that is up is growing and looking well.

An annoymous fling, Mr. Editor, I would not reply to, but you said "for BENBON'S CAPCINE POROTS PLASTER BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER soother, relieves almost at once and cures where other physics fail even to relieve.
