SUMMER PARRIOSS.

With laudable enterprise, Ehrich's Fashion Quarterly for the present Summer presents its readers with beautiful chrome lithograph, illustra tive of the Fashions of the season. Unlike most fashion plates, which are merely creations of the artist's brain, the present is a faithful production of actual, existent costumes, of which not only the full descriptions, but the prious as well, accompany the plate. For the benefit of our lady readers we append a brief summary of these cosumes, extracted from an a lvance sleet furnished by the publishers.

No. 1 represents a walking costum in brown, of Summer camel's hair cloth and polks dot satin. The front is of eatin arranged in soft folds, with side draperies of camel's hair, edged with silk and taye fringe. The back of the skirt is of camel's hair, divided from the side draperies by broad bias bands of satin, and ornamented with satin bows. The basque is made in Prench coat style, with broad hip pieces of the polks dot material, and tastefully trimmed cuffs and collar. Price, $47.00.

No. 2 is a second walking dress, ap propriately named the "Sunrise," and made of gend'arme blue French bunt ing and silk brocade. By an ingeniuarrangement of the two materials, the front is ornamented with the represent tation of the sun with rays; the side draperies being of bunting meeting at a point below the basque, and drawn to either side of the central design of the front. The basque is of bunting cut long and round, and appropriately trimmed with the brocade. Price.

The third figure in the illustration presents a combination dress of sill in two contrasting shades of drab. The underskirt in front is made of alter nate strips of the two materials laid in kilt plaitings, the back being of a single shade plain and full.
