

NOTICE

Land Office at Roseburg, Ore. June 30, 1880. To All Whom it may Concern: Notice is hereby given that I have designated the Oregon Sentinel as the paper in which I shall hereafter publish all pre-emptions, homestead and applications for mining patents for lands lying near Jacksonville, Jackson county, Oregon.

Wool.—In San Francisco on the 13th, Eastern Oregon wool was quoted at 25 to 27 cents; Oregon valley, 30 to 32; Humboldt, 30 to 32; Siskiyou 28 to 30.

FINE WORK.—David Cronemiller has just completed the iron work of a new buggy made to order for Dr. Will Jackson which is a beauty indeed. With such mechanics as we have here there is surely no need of sending off for work in their line. S. P. Hanna made the wood work.

FOR BOSTON.—John Cimborsky has been elected representative to the Oregon State Convention to be held at Boston on the 10th of next month, will leave for the Eastern States next week to be in attendance. He expects to be absent about three months.

DOGS.—On Wednesday last little Katie Miller whilst walking along the street was bitten in the arm by a dog. The wound was inflicted by the canine whilst in a playful mood and is not serious; but as these are the dog-days people owning pups cannot be too careful with them. There are too many dogs about town any way, and the sooner three-fourths of them are "colonized" the better.

NOT MANY FISH.—Fishing parties to Rogue River are all the go now. A party consisting of Herman Helmes, E. Jacobs, T. B. Kent, Fred Luy, W. J. Plymale and J. H. Hafler drove to Bybee's Ferry, to bring home a lot of fish. The stream was said to be teeming with salmon running up to the ocean, but the net of our fishermen didn't break from the multitude of fish caught on the occasion alluded to.

THE RANCHEREE TRAIL.—Capt. D. J. Ferree came in on Friday from beyond the Cascade mountains, taking the old Rancherree trail, which he found to be almost impassable on account of fallen timber, etc. The trail had not been travelled for years and the Captain has no desire of going back on that trail. It would be the most direct route from Jacksonville to the Klamath Agency if the obstructions were removed.

SECURED FUNDS.—Mr. P. G. Strickland, says the Roseburg "Independent," who has done so much work for the improvement of the roads South of Roseburg, has returned from Portland. While there, he obtained from citizens and the railroad company $1,000 to improve the road between this place and the Roberts Hill. Certainly for this Mr. Strickland deserves credit, and our County Court should add to the amount already raised a like sum.

EXODUS OF GRASSHOPPERS.—Says a Walla Walla exchange: In spite of the predictions and notes of woe occasioned by the influx of grasshoppers, they have come and done and done comparatively little damage in the neighborhood of Walla Walla. On Sunday they left for the West in such quantities that at times they darkened the sun. Grain has suffered very little from their depredations, but in some instances gardens have been injured.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.—The Lakeview people advocate the establishment of a tri-weekly mail from Reno on the Central Pacific to The Dalles, the route to pass through Lakeview and Prineville. On this route no high mountains are to be crossed, and the snowfall is never so great as to seriously impede travel. The "Examiner" says a through line of stages from Reno to The Dalles running tri-weekly, would contribute in no small degree to the prosperity and importance to that vast section.

PROBATE COURT.—The following proceedings have been reported in this Court since our last report: In the matter of the estate of Geo. McKnight, deceased. Inventory of property belonging to said estate filed by Sarah J. McKnight, administratrix; showing property to the amount of $2,845.50, filed and approved.

In the matter of the estate of Wm. Burke, deceased. James Leslie appointed as administrator of said estate and Miles Wakeman, A. K. Williams and Chas. Williams as appraisers.

In the matter of the estate of Chas. Brunet, deceased. Final statement of Raphael Morat, administrator, filed and September 7th appointed as the time for hearing the same.

RETURNED FROM CRATER LAKE.—Charles Prim returned from Lake country on Saturday. In company with Fred Cronemiller Mr. P. visited Crater Lake starting from Fort Klamath August 7th. They found considerable snow on the road leading from the divide to the "rim," but not sufficient to prevent tourists from reaching the lake. They were first to reach the lake this season, and pronounce the sight grand beyond description. The snow nearest the "rim" was all gone and the grass fine for their animals. On the 9th, 10th, and 11th the second party of the season, consisting of Archbishop Seghers of Portland, Dr. Hemenway, post surgeon, and two soldiers from Fort Klamath, visited the crater. The bishop pronounces it one of the grandest natural wonders on the continent, and will no doubt soon furnish a description of it for publication.

Under the new constitution of California the Road Supervisors of the county are empowered to fix the salaries of the county officials. A number of the counties have already fixed the compensation of their public servants, and others are engaged doing the same thing. He succeeded in gaining a foothold in most of the settlements he has visited, but says that the people in that section of country are very much given to skepticism and unbelief in the holy doctrines of christianity. He also visited Crater Lake, that wonder of American curiosities. From Jacksonville the Bishop goes to Canyonville and Roseburg, thence to Coos and Curry counties, where he expects to labor sometime for the up building of the cause. For earnest zeal and indefatigable labor Bishop Seghers presents an example worthy of emulation by the ministers of other branches of the church of Christ.

ANOTHER OLD PIONEER GONE HOME.

Death of Samuel D. Van Dyke.

Died, at his residence in Eden precinct, Jackson county, August 13th, 1880, after a brief illness, Samuel D. Van Dyke, aged 71 years and 7 days.

The immediate cause of the death of the deceased was an accident which befell him on the 31st day of July, whilst in charge of a two horse spring wagon and whilst travelling with his wife and niece to Ashland. In going down a grade in the road the trace became unfastened from the vehicle and Mr. Van Dyke holding on to the lines was jerked out of seat and he fell heavily to the ground. In the fall he broke the cap of the hip and received such other bodily injuries the effects of which hastened his death. The horses running away left the wagon standing and fortunately no one else was injured.

Mr. Van Dyke was born in Butler county, Penn., Aug. 7, 1809. In 1845 he left his native State and settled in Iowa. Leaving his family he came to the Pacific coast some time ago, but a short time he went back to his old home, crossing the Rogue River valley in the Fall of 1878, homesteading the place where he lived and died. He was thoroughly identified with the country of his choice, which he endeavored to build up according to his means. In character, he was of a positive nature and deep religious convictions. The record of his christian life was bright and unblemished. Straightforward and true in his dealings with his fellow men, his influence for good was felt wherever he was known. The lamentable accident which shortened his life did not find him unprepared for the final summons. Although suffering great bodily pain, his faith in Christ the Savior, whom he had served for many years, buoyed him up and strengthened him in his last trying affliction. He passed away from among us with the assurance that all was well and that a blissful immortality was awaiting him beyond this vale of tears. For many years he had been a member of the Presbyterian Church, and his funeral obsequies were conducted by Rev. M. A. Williams, according to the rites of that branch of the Church of Christ, and his remains were buried at the cemetery near Phoenix, being followed by hundreds of people. Mr. Van Dyke has been twice married in his lifetime, his first wife having preceded him to the better land about six years ago. The sympathies of a large circle of acquaintances and friends are with his present deeply bereaved widow and only son.

A CHARMING SPOT.—There is perhaps no more suitable and better place for camp meetings, pic nics, etc. in the country than the one a short distance below Bybee's ferry on Rogue River, about thirty miles North of Jacksonville. An extensive grove of spreading oaks and maples, furnishing superb shade, for both man and beast, and a crystal stream of pure, cold mountain water, affording opportunity for both fishing and boating, are among the attractions of this charming place of resort. All Summer this aerial spot has been frequented by picnic and fishing parties, and all speak in the highest terms of praise of its superior attractions. Among those who visited this grove last Thursday, were the families of Messrs. Linn, Jackson, Beekman; the families of Mrs. Dorris, Mrs. Shipley; and a number of gentlemen without families were there, as Messrs. Merritt, Elliott, Dunlap, Kahler, McCully and Cardwell. A time of high social enjoyment, and a bountiful supply of refreshments for the "inner man" was reported with a conviction that the day was well and profitably spent.

THAT OTHER ROUTE.—Says the Crescent City "Courier" of August 11th: Considerable enthusiasm seems to prevail at Smith River, upon the subject of their proposed new wagon road over the mountains. We like to see interest shown in a new enterprise, but think it is useless for our Smith River friends to spend their money in surveying a route from there to Illinois valley. They certainly cannot do much without the help of Jackson and Josephine counties, and it is not likely that the people of these two counties will be willing, after all the efforts that have been made and money expended to survey a route to Crescent City by way of Gasquet's, to abandon said route and spend as much time in looking for a route in a different direction, as it has taken to wake up the citizens of Crescent City to the importance of a wagon road to Southern Oregon. The character of the road proposed to pass, is pretty well known, and if a road can be built with less expense than can the Crescent City Wagon Road, we will venture to say that the difference necessary for construction, will not be worth talking about.

PRESIDENT HAYES AND PARTY.—The President is now making a tour of the Western States taking in San Francisco, Portland and Puget Sound. The party consists of 12 persons, among the number will be several members of President Hayes' family and Gen. T. W. Sherman. They will come through from Redding to Roseburg in conveyances furnished by the Stage Co., and will travel only in the day time, stopping over night at given points on the route and expect to accomplish the distance from Redding to Roseburg in six days. On or before Sept. 1st the party will pass through Ashland and Jacksonville, stopping over night at one of these places. The people should turn out and give the chief magistrate of the nation the reception due his high station.
