

FOR PRESIDENT, JAS. A. GARFIELD, OF Ohio. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, CHESTER A. ARTHUR, OF New York. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, GEO. B. CURRY, of Grant. E. L. APPELGATE, of Linn. C. B. WATSON, of Lake.

EDITORIAL MISCELLANY.

The South, having repudiated all its own debts, will try to repudiate our national debt when the rebel Generals become masters of the Government. It is hard to shake off a bad habit.

The New York "Tribune" says: "The Republican administrations have paid off one-third of the debt contracted through a Democratic rebellion. The people feel like trusting the same party to pay off the remaining two-thirds."

The men Garfield most resembles as an orator are Abraham Lincoln and Daniel Webster. Now that the full light is being turned on his speeches of the past, they are found to abound in splendid passages, not elocutionary effects, but heartfelt truths nobly uttered.

The South was awarded thirty-five additional representatives in Congress because of the colored vote. It proposes to suppress this vote and steal the thirty-five seats which represent it. This is called "reconciliation," and the process is declared to be a "free and fair ballot."

There is not a man in the Republican party who isn't confident of victory and who isn't willing to take off his coat and work to help win it. That is what makes the outlook so bright. Then, too, Providence is once more on the Republican side.

The N. Y. "Tribune," of Aug. 20th, has been issued by the Republican State Committee of Alabama, which sets forth with remarkable clearness and exactness of statement the fraud committed by the Democrats at the late election in that State.

The manufacturers of New Jersey becoming alarmed by the prospect of disorder that would follow the election of Hancock, have organized themselves at Trenton, so as to promote in every possible way the success of Garfield.

The Baltimore "Gazette" can't understand why the Boys in Blue should prefer Garfield to a "real general." In the way of thinking that prevails among Americans generally that man is the "real general" who leaves his home and his civil avocation, whatever it may be, in the time of his country's peril, and buckles on his accoutrements goes to the front and wins fame and glory by his acts.

The facts about "Order No. 40," about which so much is now said are simply these. When Hancock assumed command of the military department of Louisiana and Texas, in 1867, he conceived the idea of making some very radical changes in the state of affairs as he found them.

Canada is again without royalty. Princess Louise evidently found the free air of America congenial, and she has taken her departure for more royal shores. Thus ends the first experiment of transplanting a scion of the British royal family to American soil.

OUR SICK SENATOR ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN THE EAST.

Senator Grover has been heard from. He is still confined to his sick room in the State of New York. In a letter to Wm. H. Watkins, under date of Aug. 24, he writes:

I am working along slowly. Cerebro spinal inflammation, in chronic form and serious, is difficult of cure, and constant treatment is required. I am afraid I will not be able to work in the canvass this Fall.

In another part of his letter he says: Hancock and English will carry New York, Connecticut and New Jersey sure. It is all right—they will be elected.

We had no idea that bodily affliction, such as Mr. Grover has been heir to for the past two years, had any tendency to make enthusiastic. To be shut up in a sick room, away from the world and perhaps buried in a pile of partisan newspapers, must afford superior facilities for becoming posted on the drift of public sentiment.

There is nothing like a sick man getting his daily political inspirations from that immaculate of all Democratic authorities, the New York "Sun." What a pity our invalid Senator does not live near enough to that other staunch and truthful, Democratic authority, the Portland "Standard!"

How much more intense his enthusiasm for Hancock would be, and how very cheering to the "faithful" he could make his sick room letters. We regret Senator Grover's continued physical and mental inability, which has so long prevented him from occupying his seat in Congress, and has deprived Oregon of her share of representation in the national legislature.

In justice to the people of the State of Oregon, we ask, would it not under the circumstances, be patriotic for Mr. Grover to resign the seat he does not fill, and thus give some one else a chance to represent Oregon in the United States Senate?

HOW THEY WILL VOTE. A hardy German in New York writes a letter to the Chicago "Tribune" about the feeling among his countrymen in that State, from which we clip the following:

You are right in saying that the German-Americans of this State hold the balance of the political power; and as they were opposed to the "military" idea in the Republican party, so they will remain opposed to the same idea in the Democratic party, comparing, as they do, the difference between the two candidates—one a volunteer patriot and the other the professional "sabreur" of the arm of Government.

It is not all to the credit of the Democracy that the "sabreur" whom they put up happens to have worn the blue; they could not do otherwise; but there is enough of the gray in his complexion since he turned out the Johnsonian idea at New Orleans by orders, and signed his readiness to obey any orders from the "great fraud of 1876," if the latter would pretend to have been elected on the 3d of March, 1877.

Do not give yourselves any alarm or uneasiness about the German-Americans of this State, for they are first, last and all the time for their material interests, and the Democratic party does not furnish them guarantees to make them Democratic mongers in this national crisis.

On a question of State or municipal administration, they divide themselves with Democrats and Republicans, because they choose to select the best individuals to office, according to their sense of right and wrong; but on a question of national importance, striking at the existence of the public credit and the par specie value of the dollar currency, these Germans will be found on the side of the Republican candidates, who they know absolutely represents their idea of national solvency, as he represented their idea of a "united" nation.

Put it down, Mr. Editor, that the vote of New York State will be saved to Garfield by the German-Americans.

Our cotemporary of the "Democratic Times," with an air of assurance, says: "The Mexican war veterans are all for Hancock." If he refers to the Mexican war veterans residing in Southern Oregon, we think we can show that our neighbor is mistaken.

There are not very many of this class of citizens among us, but what there is of them, is pretty evenly divided between Garfield and Hancock. No use drawing on your imagination, neighbors, to prop up your favorite candidate. It don't pay to try and make the people believe an untruth.

Canada is again without royalty. Princess Louise evidently found the free air of America congenial, and she has taken her departure for more royal shores. Thus ends the first experiment of transplanting a scion of the British royal family to American soil.

"AND STILL THEY COME."

As soon as anybody who has ever been known to vote the Republican ticket gives in his adhesion to Hancock the fact is at once heralded abroad in the Democratic papers, and a great ado is made about it, as showing that the Cincinnati nominations are gaining favor with the people.

We have heretofore avoided publishing the list of prominent Democrats who have declared for Garfield, for the simple reason that we thought our space was too limited to justify publishing the same. But we think we are safe in saying, that where one Republican goes over to Hancock, there are five Democrats who declare for Garfield.

The fact is Garfield is steadily growing in the estimation of the people, notwithstanding the persistent charges of corruption and bribery heaped against him by the dishonest tyros of the Democratic press, and which charges have time and again been disproved as utterly groundless.

To show how little effect these accusations have, even among sensible Democrats, we need only mention that the papers published in the East teem with accounts of changes of leading Democrats to the side of Gen. Garfield. The principal cause alleged is the danger to the country that will follow upon the accession of the Democratic party to power in all the branches of the Government.

Col. John C. Bell, of Salem, a life long Democrat, and who was the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer in 1866, has announced his intention of voting for James A. Garfield for President.

The Democratic "Messenger," Fremont, Ohio, one of the most outspoken Democratic sheets in the State, has come out for Garfield and Arthur. It says "that a bona fide vote of the American people will loudly call on General Garfield to take the reins of the Government for four years, from March 4, 1881."

Captain William B. W. Hallet, heretofore a prominent Democrat of Rhode Island, has resigned his membership of the Democratic City Committee of Providence, having decided to act with the Republicans henceforth.

David D. Bruce, Esq., a leading lawyer and a Democrat of some prominence at Pittsburg, Penn., has declared in favor of Garfield and Arthur.

Nearly every Republican club in Pennsylvania can number from four to twenty Democrats on its rolls, who will vote for Garfield and Arthur.

CHURCH REPAIRS.—The house of worship of the M. E. Church, is the oldest Church edifice in Southern Oregon, having stood since 1853. For a quarter of a century all denominations who had any desire of doing so have freely worshipped here.

But time is telling on the venerable structure. Within the past two years some repairs have been made, among them a new roof and a new floor, but there are still other needful repairs which should be made before a great while. Some of the plastering overhead has lately come down, and more threatens to follow; the window frames also are warped and out of gear, and window lights broken.

We understand the ladies have for some weeks been advising among themselves as to the best method of raising funds to repair the old pioneer church house, and they desire us to say that they soon contemplate giving an entertainment for that purpose.
