

FOR PRESIDENT, JAS. A. GARFIELD, OF Ohio. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, CHESTER A. ARTHUR, OF New York. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, GEO. B. CURRY, of Grant, E. L. APPEGATE, of Linn, G. B. WATSON, of Lake.

EDITORIAL MISCELLANY. The logic of Major-General Winfield Scott Hancock is: The Constitution must and shall be preserved; and the proper guardians for it are the Southern States, which deny its supremacy.

Now this is rather awkward. The Southern papers say they will not be humiliated by having Hancock's achievements at Gettysburg, Fredericksburg and Antietam paraded as campaign ammunition.

"It is worthy of note," says the St. Louis "Globe-Democrat," "that no attack has yet been made upon the personal character of General Garfield by any man who served with him in Congress and had an opportunity to know him in daily intercourse."

A Democratic Congress, last Winter did more to damage the prospects of its party in the Presidential election than its individual members can make good by any amount of campaign oratory. It is the old case of "give him rope enough and he will hang himself."

The Democrats by nominating Hancock thought to catch the soldier vote. But the soldiers don't like Hancock on account of the company he keeps. Reports come in from all parts that the defenders of the Union, who fought, like Cromwell's Ironsides with Bibles at the saddle bows, will bury him beneath a mountain of votes, and place his self-written epitaph as a protest and judgment, which has waited seventeen years for expression.

Contrast these two extracts and then draw your own conclusions. From the Barnwell (S. C.) "People": "The Democrats have obtained control of the State of South Carolina, and they intend to retain it at every hazard and in spite of the utmost efforts of local patriots and their Northern allies."

From the Democratic National platform: "The right to a free ballot is a right preservative of all rights, and must and shall be maintained in every part of the United States."

What has the Democratic party done since it has had control of Congress to merit commendation? What measure of finance, or tariff, or of internal improvement, or of economic or scientific value has it enacted into law? Nothing of a positive character, excepting that which is hurtful, has been born of that party. It is a party of negation; its mission is to oppose whatever policy the Republicans support. Is that the kind of an organization with which to intrust the functions of Government?

Wade Hampton in his speech at Staunton, Virginia, a few days ago says to the Democrats: "As one of the veterans of the Confederacy, who have shared the perils of war with the sons of Virginia, and was jealous of the honor and proud of the glorious heritage bequeathed to her by her Lee and her Stonewall Jackson. As a Democrat and a Southern soldier who looks back to the time when he shared with you privations and suffering in the army of Virginia, I adjure you, by your traditions, by all you hold sacred, to lead again Virginia, as you have done heretofore not always to victory but always to honor."

Will Virginia sacrifice the Democratic party? Will she sacrifice the South? I stood four years by the side of Virginians fighting to overthrow the National Government, and I know the stuff they are made of. Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive. These are the same principles for which they fought four years. Remember the men who poured forth their blood on Virginia's soil, fighting to overturn the National Government, and do not abandon them now by abandoning the party for whose principles they poured forth their blood. These principles are the same principles.

Certainly they are. U. S. Senator Wade Hampton speaks the truth when he says that the Democratic principles are now the same as they were during the war. And then it was to overthrow the National Government and maintain State supremacy. Keep up the true issue, and all the people in Oregon (who did not have the privilege, as did Wade Hampton, of fighting against the old flag) can still have an opportunity of engaging to maintain those same principles for which he and others fought, by voting the Democratic ticket in 1880. Exactly so.

C. C. WAGON ROAD.

Last week Mr. Gasquet was in town and succeeded in getting the new wagon road company formed, who will proceed to incorporate immediately. The company consists of Gen. J. G. Wall, W. A. Hamilton, L. F. Cooper, J. K. Johnson and H. Gasquet of this county, J. Nunan of Jacksonville, and Chas. Hughes of Kerbyville, Oregon. With such men as the above at the head of it, we are warranted in pronouncing the enterprise a success, and shall look forward to its speedy completion, and hope the time may not be far distant when the exports and imports of Southern Oregon and Northern California will pass through Crescent City. When this road is completed, and the trade of Southern Oregon turned this way, we shall have no trouble in securing harbor improvements, and Crescent City will assume an importance far beyond the expectations at the present time. With the completion of this road, and with the many resources which surround this place, it should, and we believe it will make the most important city between San Francisco and Portland. Following we again publish an extract from Col. Williamson's report on the harbor of refuge, which warrants us in making the above assertion:

"Immediately North of Trinidad is the port of Crescent City, which is also the outlet of an extensive lumber, mineral, agricultural and grazing country, which is fast filling up with a thrifty population. Crescent City is also the natural outlet for the products of the counties of Curry, Josephine, Jackson, Lake, Grant and Baker in Oregon, and Del Norte, Modoc and Siskiyou in California. A railroad is already projected from this place to tap the fertile counties of Oregon above mentioned. When the railroad is built the commerce of this port, which is now quite large, will be greatly increased."

As soon as the articles of incorporation are perfected, stock will be issued, which should meet a ready sale, for it will certainly prove a profitable and safe investment, and if we are not greatly mistaken opportunities will be afforded to transfer it to a railroad company inside of five years at good round figures, for if the building of this wagon road is only a key to unlock a vast and extensive country, which will eventually demand a greater and more speedy thoroughfare than a wagon road.—[Crescent City Courier.]

From the National Surgical Institute, Indianapolis, Indiana, will visit Portland, Oregon, at St. Charles Hotel, September 7th, 8th and 9th, provided with a complete and expensive outfit of apparatus designed to treat every form of Spinal Diseases, Hip and Knee Diseases, Crooked Limbs, Club Feet, Paralysis, &c. Piles and Fistula certainly cured. This institution has an unequalled reputation in the successful treatment of all of above diseases. Interested parties should not fail to see these Surgeons. Returning home, overland, they will stop off September 11th and 13th at Eugene City, 15th at Roseburg, and 18th and 20th at Jacksonville, Oregon.

Mr. Editor: I understand there will be an effort made by the Medical Profession of this State, at the next session of the legislature, to pass an act regulating the practice of medicine; and I think every intelligent citizen will wish them God-speed in their work. It will not be asked in the interest of any clique, school, or "pathy," but for the people, as a protection against quackery and crime.

Some may be ignorant of, and others doubt it, but the truly honorable, educated physician is capable of rising above all prejudice, and purely selfish aggrandizement, and in a sincere, christian spirit, strive not only to relieve suffering humanity of their physical ills, but also advance their material and spiritual interests. It is in this spirit of advance and reform that the Medical Profession of this State will labor.

We claim, that the State is morally bound to protect the health and life of its citizens, under all circumstances. In most matters she acts wisely and is judiciously consistent. She recognizes the necessity of enacting sanitary laws, such as "State Board of Health," "Vital Statistics," "Quarantine," the sale of poisons and all measures affecting the public health. This is as it should be, just and right!

It is a well known fact, however, that it is a very difficult matter to procure State Legislation prohibiting the practice of medicine by incompetent and unscrupulous men. The State says, You must not neglect to register the births and deaths, yet does not even require the pretender Brown who is the guardian of the most sacred earthly trust, to record his name or produce the least proof of his fitness for this responsible position.

The State says to the pharmacist, "You shall not dispense drugs and poisons until having passed a thorough examination, proving you to be competent to fill the duties devolving upon you;" yet "Quack Jones" may, through blunder or ignorance of the nature and compatibility of medicine, poison and kill "Mr. Clark." The State forbids that you shall take your own life with either the pistol, knife or poison—yet you are welcome to call in the first quack who comes in your way to assist you in "shuffling off this mortal coil."

If it is just and humane to prevent disease, it is equally important to save life. We claim, it is as necessary—yes more so—that the physician shall have as thorough a knowledge of the science which he professes to practice as the pharmacist—as important to know how, and when, to administer remedies as to compound them. What we ask, and what the people have a right to know, is, that every one practicing medicine, and claiming to be a physician, shall prove to the people and State, that they are fully qualified to treat disease; and as the people cannot know whether those claiming to be such, have sufficient knowledge to practice medicine and surgery with safety to their patients, the State should guarantee this protection, and designate under its Seal such as are worthy of their confidence. We do not care what he may call himself, so long as he shall have received a thorough education in the fundamental principles of medicine. The knowledge of these principles is the groundwork or foundation on which rests the successful practice in any department of medicine; and no matter what the "school" or "pathy," these fundamental principles are the same, and a thorough knowledge of them is the least, that should be required of every one with whom the public entrust their lives.

This is a matter of vital importance to every citizen, a protection which the people have a right to demand; a moral and legal obligation, which should be enforced by the State, and it is a wise and humane provision, which every honorable, intelligent physician earnestly hopes for.
