

OREGON SENTINEL.

JACKSONVILLE, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1880.

FOR PRESIDENT, JAS. A. GARFIELD, of Ohio.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, CHESTER A. ARTHUR, of New York.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, GEO. B. CURRY, of Grant, E. L. APPELGATE, of Linn, C. B. WATSON, of Lake.

VICTORY! VICTORY!!

Indiana Wheels into the Republican Column!

Ohio Increases her Majority!

Nine Congressmen and a United States Senator Gained!

The election which took place in Ohio and Indiana on Tuesday the 12th of October resulted in a splendid victory to the Republican party.

In Indiana we elect Porter Governor, and the entire State ticket by majorities ranging from 5,000 to 7,000. The Republicans also elect 8 Congressmen out of 13, which is a gain of 2.

The returns from West Virginia indicate the election of the Democratic ticket by a greatly reduced majority.

Late at night on the 14th instant, Chairman J. A. Hubbell, of the Republican Congressional Committee, issued the following ringing address to the Republican voters of the United States:

We have met the enemy and they are ours. From Oregon, from Rhode Island, from Vermont, from Connecticut, have come recent voices bearing no uncertain sound, but booming and ringing with notes of Republican victory; and now Ohio, giving us at least 25,000 popular majority and 15 of her 20 Congressional districts, and Indiana giving us from 5,000 to 10,000 majority, probably 9 of her 13 Congressmen and her Legislature, with its certain promise of a Republican United States Senator, join their swelling voices with those shouts of triumph and seem to make our coming victory sure.

The vote of yesterday is due to the fear of Democratic ascendancy, of a solid Southern domination, of the ruin of our industries which would follow Democratic free trade experiments, of the disasters to business and laboring and other interests which would follow a change of government when all is prosperous now.

As Indiana goes to-morrow, so will the election go in November. Democratic papers, October 11. The elections on Tuesday were mere skirmishes, and will not affect the result in November. Democratic papers, October 14.

The place for every Republican now is at the front.

THE PRESIDENTIAL VOTE.

The October elections in Indiana and Ohio having resulted largely in favor of the Republicans, the Democratic chance for carrying any of the so-called "doubtful" States in November is very slim indeed.

Table with columns for REPUBLICAN and DEMOCRATIC votes in various states. Total Republican: 232, Total Democratic: 138.

OUR FOREIGN BORN CITIZENS.

Our cotem, with his usual disregard for truth and fact, in his issue of Oct. 8th says: "The German, Irish and French population of the country are nearly solid for Hancock and English."

Hancock writes a letter about rebel claims to a man of Ohio, in order to save votes in that State, and before the ink was dry upon it, Senator Vance made a speech in North Carolina, in which he said:

"The South asks no bold and unfair thing when she demands her rightful compensation for homes destroyed, farms laid waste and pillaged, property stolen, and slaves released by the Yankee plunderers who lived upon us and then refused us bounty. And it is time that the whole North should understand that it must atone as far as it can, for all the South has suffered in body, pocket and soul. Our time is coming, boys, and the long purgatory we have gone through will only make our paradises the brighter when we get there."

Who represents the Democratic party in this matter of claims? Is it Hancock, with his "persons" or "rebels," which words do not describe such claims to the amount of a cent in a thousand dollars, or is it Zebulon Vance, the Senator from North Carolina? Wise people know very well which.—[S. F. Chronicle.]

One of the salient points in Hancock's career as Andy Johnson's deputy in the South to nullify the reconstruction laws was his inauguration by military order (not No. 40) of the infamous Louisiana Penitentiary ring, by which order he arbitrarily suspended the State laws that have remained suspended ever since.

The result in Indiana, where the campaign was personally conducted by William H. English, furnishes the strongest possible proof of that gentleman's unpopularity, and settles the fate of the party which nominated him.

Nothing succeeds like success. All the efforts of Democratic orators and newspaper editors cannot explain away the great Republican victory, nor detract from its influence on the undecided voters.

EDITORIAL MISCELLANY.

Hancock will not send any congratulatory letters to the Democrats of Indiana.

Had not the Confederate Brigadiers better abandon their policy of Southern solidarity?

Colorado expects to poll 35,000 votes this Fall, and to give 3,500 Republican majority.

General Simon Cameron predicts that the Republicans of Pennsylvania will sweep everything this year.

Indiana has gained two Republican Congressmen, making the delegation stand eight Republicans to five Democrats.

The Boston "Journal" says: "In Massachusetts the number of Republicans who voted for Butler and are now supporting Garfield will exceed ten to one the number of Republicans who will 'flop' into the Democracy with General Butler."

Hancock has tackled the tariff, and has shown in a short talk that he is densely ignorant of the subject. He regards this question which has vexed the honest statesman as a purely "local question," and declares that a change of administration will have no effect upon it.

Already we have trustworthy reports from various parts of the country of numerous ruffianism attempts by Democrats to break up Republican meetings. But the first case of any similar aggression by Republicans to interfere with the Democrats is yet to be reported.

Irish and German Democrats ought to read that passage in the standard Southern "History of the Civil War," used as a text-book in the schools and colleges, in which the Southern "young men" is instructed that the Confederacy was conquered by the aid of the "off-scourings of Ireland and Germany."

Hancock must be awarded the credit of disinterested magnanimity. He declares strongly in favor of a free ballot and a fair count everywhere. And yet he knows perfectly that with a free ballot and a fair count in South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi he would not stand the ghost of a chance of being elected.

Hancock's pronouncement against rebel claims seems to be regarded by his Southern constituents very much as they regarded Tilden's pledge on the same subject. They said down in Dixie that the pledge was "judicious." But all the same they went on filing their claims and introducing bills for their payment.

Recent statistics show that the number of homicides in the Southern States, is proportionately greater than in any country on earth which is rated as civilized; and that the number of homicides in the South since the war reaches the enormous aggregate of at least 40,000, a rate which, if continued through a generation, would equal the destruction of life in a great war. In the States of Texas, Kentucky and South Carolina, in the year 1878 for example—a fair one for comparison, because there were no unusual disturbances—there were 834 homicides.

The Cincinnati "Gazette" says: "Uncertainly always disturbs capital and clogs the wheels of business. The election of Hancock may not result in an utter demoralization of the financial interests of the country. Still, if the mere announcement of a Democratic victory in Maine is disastrously felt in New York and London, what must be the result of a general triumph of the party! All know that things will continue safe under Republican control, but should a change occur, there must be months of stagnation and uneasiness, even under the most favorable circumstances."

Ingersoll on Hancock.

Bob Ingersoll said a great deal in a few words the other day, as follows: "He (Hancock) has had no training but that of a soldier. If he fought for doctrines that he did not believe in, he was a murderer. Hancock does not believe in the profession of a soldier in time of peace, professed peace. The man who, in time of peace, prefers to devote himself to peace, and when war comes buckles on his sword in defence of his country, is at least as good. What does Hancock represent! Nobody knows. Finance! No. According to the Democratic platform he is for hard money. Why did he congratulate Pleisted! Because he has no convictions, and don't care who beats the Republicans. Has he principles of free trade? I don't know. Of the tariff? He don't know. As a party is, so is the President which it will control. Who will elect Hancock? The Solid South. Who will control him? The Solid South. If the South was right, put it in power; if wrong, keep it out until it acknowledges it was wrong."
