They seemed to confine themselves entirely to the foliage of the ash, stripping every tree completly and leaving them as stark and bare as in December. After feasting for a while on the ash foliage they have disappeared as mysteriously as they came.

LIGHT OAT PROSPECTS .- The crop reports from different portions of the valley are not as favorable as we were led to believe in a previous issue. The want of the usual soaking spring rains has kept the growing wheat, oat and barley very short and much of it which is now heading out is only from four to six inches from the ground. Many of the best farmers are of the opinion that the oats will not more than average a one fourth crop. Some of the parties who have agreed to furnish oats to the Fort may find it difficult to fill their contracts.
