

OREGON SENTINEL.

JACKSONVILLE: SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1881. THE NEW PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL.

President Arthur, after taking the oath as successor to our deceased President, delivered his inaugural address, which is a model State paper, brief and pointed, as follows:

For the fourth time in the history of the Republic its Chief Magistrate has been removed by death. All hearts are filled with grief and horror at the hideous crime which has darkened our land, and the memory of the murdered President; his protracted sufferings, his unyielding fortitude, the example and achievements of his life and the patience of his death, will forever illumine the pages of our history. For the fourth time the officer elected by the people and ordained by the Constitution to fill the vacancy so created is called to assume the Executive chair. The wisdom of our fathers, foreseeing even most dire possibilities, made sure that the Government should never be imperiled because of the uncertainty of human life. Men may die but the fabrics of our free institution, remain unshaken. No higher or more assuring proof could exist of the strength and permanency of the popular government than that after the one chosen by the people be struck down, his constitutional successor is peacefully and without shock or stain except the sorrow which mourns the bereavement. All the noble aspirations of my lamented predecessor, which found expression in his life, the brief administration to correct abuses and enforce economy, to advance prosperity and promote the general welfare, to insure domestic security and maintain friendly and honorable relations with the nations of the earth, will be garnered in the hearts of the people, and it will be my earnest endeavor to profit and to see that the Nation shall profit by his example and experience. Prosperity blesses our country, our fiscal policy is fixed by law, is well grounded and generally approved. No threatening issue mars our foreign intercourse. The wisdom, integrity and the right of our people may be trusted to continue undisturbed the present assured career of peace, tranquility and welfare. The gloom and anxiety which have enshrouded the country must make repose especially welcome now. No demand for speedy legislation has been heard; no adequate occasion is apparent for an unusual session of Congress. The Constitution defines the functions and powers of the Executive as clearly as those of either of the other departments of the Government, and he must answer for the just exercises of discretion, of permits and performance of the duties it imposes. Summoned to these high duties and responsibilities, and profoundly conscious of their magnitude and gravity, I assume that trust imposed by the Constitution, relying for aid on divine guidance and the virtue, patriotism and intelligence of the American people.

The Guiteau Case.

Scoville of Chicago has not answered Guiteau as to whether he will act as counsel in his trial. Scoville was not in Chicago, but the message has been forwarded. The grand jury next week will doubtless find a true bill on the indictment for murder, but immediate trial is improbable. Corkhill having treated Guiteau as a condemned man by stopping his letters and giving their contents to the press, refusal to let him see newspapers, etc., will give his counsel greater privileges. However no change of venue can be granted in the District of Columbia, and no appeal in the criminal cases list to any other court, and the Supreme Court can not review criminal cases. His counsel will only be able to secure greater time to prepare the defense. The court still treats the prisoner anomalously, Guiteau only knowing by inference even now that he killed the President. It is believed the trial will be deferred until the first Monday in December. Guiteau desires delay, and says he can not have a fair trial until there is a cooling down in the community which has applauded and never arrested the two men who have attempted his life in the cell. How the transfer can be safely made between the jail and court will be a troublesome question. The court room holds only 400 persons, and admission will be by card issued by the Judge or U. S. Marshal Henry. A mob is not unlikely to form. The general opinion is, such a disgrace should not happen.

The case of the State of Oregon against Wm. H. Watkins and his bondsmen that has been on trial in the Marion county Circuit Court has been decided by Judge Boise in favor of the State of Oregon and judgement given against Watkins for $202.08.

THE LAST TRIBUTE.

Monday morning, the day appointed for the obsequies of our late President, dawned beautifully, and at an early hour people gathered from every portion of the county to assist in paying the last tribute to a man whose public and private life was so exceptionally good. The attendance from Ashland and Phoenix was quite large, considering the lack of conveyance, and quite a number of the most prominent citizens of Josephine county were present. It is said to have been the largest concourse ever assembled in Jacksonville, and had it not been for the unfortunate blunder of the Governor, in appointing Tuesday, the attendance would, undoubtedly, have been much larger. The whole programme of the committee was well observed. At 10:30 A. M. a large procession was in motion. The Odd Fellows, Red Men, Order of Workmen, Rebekahs, and Champions of Honor, all with their beautiful regalia, turned out in large numbers and together with citizens on foot and two hundred children from the public school, made a most creditable appearance. It was the universal remark that this little town has never seen a day so sadly clouded, and when so large a number of persons behaved with such quiet decorum. Indeed all seemed to feel the solemnity of the occasion and to understand that they stood in the grandest presence save that of the Almighty—the presence of Death and that they were paying a sacred tribute to the memory of a man whose life had been lived so well. In the morning a solemn Requiem Mass was said in the Catholic Church, which was very beautifully decked with flowers and tastefully draped in mourning, after which a touching and eloquent oration was delivered by the Rev. Father Blanchet, on the christian life and public services of the late President. The exercises at the Court House Park were very interesting and impressive. After a dirge by the band and the sweetest music by the choir a prayer, earnest and eloquent was offered by the Rev. LaDru Royal at the conclusion of which Hon. E. B. Watson of the Supreme bench read the following resolutions:

Mr. President—We, your committee, instructed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of this community regarding the shocking death of President Garfield, beg to submit the following:

WHEREAS: On the 2d of July, 1881, James Abram Garfield, President of these United States, was mortally wounded by the hand of an assassin at the National Capital; and WHEREAS: After eighty days of bitter agony and heroic struggle against death, it pleased God to end his sufferings by taking him from us on the 19th day of the present month; therefore,

Be it Resolved: That this day, when the cold clods of clay are hiding all that is mortal of our beloved Chief Magistrate, we deem it fitting that we join the millions of our countrymen in a solemn tribute to the memory of a Christian, whose daily life shed lustre on his Master's cause—a warrior, whose courage was sublime—a statesman, clothed with wisdom—a ruler, whose guiding reins were the silken cords of love and sympathy—a patriot, whose devotion to his country was his proudest plume.

Resolved: That the name of James A. Garfield will be hallowed as that of a soldier who died in the fierce conflict with organized political corruption that was sapping the Nation's life, stricken down just as he had won the battle, and in the beginning of an administration so full of wisdom and promise. That, while bowing with submission to the inscrutable will of the Almighty, we feel that our country has lost its wisest statesman—one who embodied all that is true and worthy in human nature—and a chosen ruler whose gentleness and simplicity had endeared his name to every American home.

Resolved: That in common with the peoples of all tongues, of every creed and every nationality, we join our voice in condemnation of the dastardly crime of assassination as a remedy for grievances, public or private; in this instance so wholly without justification—always abhorrent as the resort of cowardice and political fanaticism—and we deplore in its possibilities a new danger that threatens the Republic.

Resolved: That in this sad moment of National sorrow, when all, save the illustrious dead, is fittingly forgotten, we ask the poor privilege of weeping with those nearer and dearer to him than his people, and whose hearts this hour are wrung with anguish.

Resolved: That our earnest condolence and profound sympathy be offered to the stricken mother who bore so noble a son; to the wife who clung to him with womanly tenderness, even to the edge of the valley of the shadow, and to the disconsolate children who listen in vain for the voice they will hear—nevermore; with the prayer, that He, who alone can, will heal their wounds in His own good time.

Resolved: That it is the duty of the commonwealth to hold the name of James A. Garfield, who nobly murdered at his post of duty, in sacred reverence and to recognize the eminent services and patriotism of the martyred dead by appropriate honor to the living who worthily bear his name. Let the true national sympathy flow for those whose dearest earthly tie was so cruelly rended. Let it never again be said that "Republicans are ungrateful," and may the will of Him, who knoweth best, be done.

Prof. J. W. Merritt was then introduced by Judge Hanna and delivered an oration sparkling with gems of thought and which, by its earnest and pathetic delivery drew tears from many an eye. The speaker felt said that "the great man, whom we mourned today, was a type of every phase of American social life—laborer—student, teacher, soldier, statesman—President; that he had received his soul in the lowly depths of the valley and rendered it to the giver from the height of the mountain." It was universally conceded to be Mr. Merritt's best effort and it is to be hoped that he will never be called on again under like circumstances. While Monday last was a sad day for Jacksonville it is with pride we record the entire unanimity of sentiment, unbroken by a single disagreeable incident or a single expression of disapproval, which showed that after all the American heart is in the right place in a day of national calamity. The large crowd dispersed quietly and mournfully every one apparently feeling that a sacred duty had been discharged, and if every haughty throughout our broad domain paid the same tribute to the Nation's dead then will his memory live forever. Effort will heart so tender, yet so brave, so sorely tried and yet so true, that has found a shrine with Washington and Lincoln and with them—eternal rest.

The Insane Asylum.

The following is the return made to the Secretary of State by the Acting Superintendent of the Insane Asylum, S. E. Josephi, under date of August 31, 1881: Number of patients on hand June 1st, 304; admitted during the quarter, 33; returned, 3; discharged during the quarter, 23; died, 6; number of patients in hospital August 31, 1881, 311. It will be seen by referring to other reports that during the quarter just ended the admissions were larger than ever before, and the State paid for their treatment and care during the quarter the neat sum of $26,282 85.

Bankrupt Institution.

The following will be bad news, if true, for the citizens of Southern Oregon, who had been looking forward with great anticipations to the completion of this road: "The Oregon & Nevada Railroad Company is reported to be in trouble. Reno is filled with lawyers, says the Virginia 'Chronicle,' all having attachments in their pockets, ready to plaster the same on the right of way and track of that company. It is reported that the company is bankrupt, and that its property is liable to pass into the hands of the Virginia & Truckee Railroad.

The Pacific division of the W. U. Telegraph Company since the resignation of Mr. Gamble has been abolished, and this coast made a part of the Central division, under the general superintendency of R. C. Clowry at Chicago. The general offices at Reno and Los Angeles have been dispensed with. F. H. Lamb, of San Francisco, and D. F. Leahy, of Portland, have been made the assistant superintendents to Mr. Clowry.

Gen. Garfield once wrote the following eloquent sentence: "When 250,000 brave spirits passed from the field of honor through that thin veil to the presence of God, and when at last its parting folds admitted the martyr President to the company of the Republic, the Nation stood so near the veil that the whispers of God were heard by the children of men.

JOHN L. BESS, Agent.

TO THE TRADE.—Practical experience has demonstrated to us that the trade requires a choice old Bourbon for immediate use. For it is well known that straight whisky that is absolutely pure requires age, great care and attention, and our old Davenport whisky possesses all the above qualities. The grain used in the distillation of our J. H. Davenport whisky is carefully selected from the finest, richest and very best grown in the state of Kentucky. The water is drawn from one of the finest limestone springs in the state, the peculiar properties of which have gained for Kentucky whiskies such world-wide celebrity. This process makes our J. H. Davenport a pure, hand made, sour mash "highly" and we claim that for delicacy of flavor, purity and medicinal qualities, it stands unequalled.

Yours truly, SCHULTZ & VON BARON. From and after this date J. P. McDaniel & Co. Jacksonville, will keep the justly celebrated Davenport, pure straight whisky exclusively.

for the justly Celebrated Fish Bro's

Wagon,

The best Wagon on Wheels

for the following reasons:

- 1. More care is taken in the selection of stock; only good, solid, butt-cut timber being used. 2. The Wheels are all soaked in Boiling Linseed Oil. 3. Every part is strongly braced; and instead of being bolted, is clipped, so that the full strength of the wood is secured. 4. The Tires are securely bolted, after being thoroughly and carefully set. 5. The Skins are heated before driven on, and set in White Lead; consequently, when cooled, contract, making a perfect fit and impossible to work loose.

It is the only Wagon on which "Holmes' Patent Self-tilting Skins" are used, the whole right and title having been purchased. The principal points of superiority over all other Skins, are: 1st. Bearings are perfectly straight, which does away with side draught. 2d. Has a perfect fitting and Band. 3d. Unnecessary to remove the wheel to oil. 4th. Will retain oil longer, having an oil-chamber, and so constructed that oil cannot run out at the point. 5th. Round Brace is clipped on, bringing the purchase nearer the wheels. And many others, too numerous to mention, but which can be readily seen upon examination; and we cordially invite our many customers and all others who contemplate purchasing a first-class Wagon, to call and get prices before going elsewhere.
