

OREGON SENTINEL.

JACKSONVILLE: SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1882.

THE ELECTION.

The recent election has announced the political complexion of this State with an emphasis that cannot be misunderstood. We expected a victory. We looked confidently to the increasing intelligence of our hopeful young State for an emphatic endorsement of Republican principles and the honest and efficient service of Republican officials. But we were not prepared for the sweeping and triumphant victory that has rewarded the Republican efforts in this campaign. Oregon can no longer be classed among the doubtful States. She is unmistakably Republican, and that too by a majority that puts it beyond the pale of mere political accident. We congratulate our friends throughout the State upon this signal and important victory—important not only in its immediate results, but as indicating the active operation of that progressive spirit of intelligent development which is destined to place us upon a higher plane of improvement and enable us, as a State, to assume our proper place as a factor in the great problem of Republican government. With Republican Representatives at Washington, and a Republican Executive, backed by a Republican Legislature at home, we may confidently look forward to an honest, efficient and economical administration of our State Government, and a vigorous and watchful representation at the National Capital.

Meanwhile, our Democratic friends in this county may crow themselves hoarse over what they delight to call a victory here. To witness their extravagant manifestations of joy one would be led to suppose that they had successfully overcome a majority against them, rather than that they had performed the wonderful feat of carrying a county which has been between three and four hundred majority in their favor. Let us not be disheartened or discouraged. Let no Republican say or think that Jackson county is hopelessly Democratic, for whoever has carefully observed the course of events during the past very brief campaign cannot have failed to observe ominous signs of restlessness and uneasiness in the Democratic ranks. Those, whom the habit of years has accustomed to vote at the crack of the party whip, cannot easily be brought to think and act for themselves. The Democratic party never grows, never improves, never advances, but individual Democrats do; and it is just in proportion to this growth that the party becomes weaker, the crack of its ever ready whip grows louder and the efforts of its leaders more desperate. The unusual exertion of the Democratic ring masters on election day here, and elsewhere in this county, indicates the existence of an effort feeble as yet to be sure—but still an effort—on the part of some of the faithful to shift the party harness and to air the scars and sores received in a long service in the cause of their thankless masters, and betokens the approach of time when the vest pockets of a half dozen leaders will be deemed too small a breathing place for an American voter. Besides other influences are marshalling themselves upon our side, influences, potent, commanding, irresistible. With the railroad will come a new population, increase of property, development of our natural resources, the elevator of our society, increase of intelligence a wider liberality of thought, a higher standard of culture—in a word progress, and progress means the disintegration and decay of the Democratic party in Jackson county.

In an editorial in a late issue of the Portland "Standard" it is charged that in Multnomah county at the recent election Republicans bought votes at from two to four dollars each. This statement we believe to be absolutely and unqualifiedly false and we believe moreover that the editor either knew nothing about it or knew it to be false when he wrote it. If he knows of bribery being practiced at the polls it is his duty as a citizen of this State and Government to see that the guilty parties are brought to the punishment provided by law and if he fails to do this duty he should renounce a government whose laws he will not assist to enforce and betake himself to some community where the political significance of such a crime is more on a par with his peculiar idea of moral responsibility. Bribery at the polls is one of the greatest dangers that can threaten any Republic and the man who knows of and conceals those guilty of it is almost as base as he who commits the crime and only one grade better than the man who would publish such a charge without absolute and indisputable evidence of its truth. Name the man.

RAILROAD NEWS.

While in Roseburg last week we enjoyed an interview with Mr. J. B. Harris Supt. of construction and the information given by him is most interesting to our people. He has now nearly 3,500 Chinese at work and is adding to the number daily. In addition to this force of laborers there are about 500 white men employed and the Supt. is anxious for as many more as will offer themselves; provided they are working men, the wages be in $2 per day without board, which costs $4.50 per week. Track laying is well under way and it is expected that trains will run to Myrtle Creek positively by the 10th of July and perhaps sooner. Between Roseburg and Myrtle Creek there has been some very heavy grading and rock cutting and quite a number of heavy fills besides considerable trestle work. A large number of Chinese have been transferred across the Umpqua south of Myrtle Creek and are making good progress. The bridge at that point has not been commenced, high water having delayed the work on the foundations but it will no doubt, be finished by the last of August. Mr. Harris is confident that by Nov. 1st trains will be running to Redfield's on Cow creek to the north end of the long tunnel and that point will necessarily be the terminus for many months. As soon as the trains can run to Myrtle Creek, freight will be landed there, making a saving of 18 miles of hauling to our people, and it is quite probable that considerable fall freight will be landed at Redfield. Everything is booming along the line of the road and large numbers of teams are constantly employed in transportation of laborers, tools, camp equipment, supplies, timbers etc. Our people must wake up and make bacon, flour and everything needed as there is, and will be, a market for a long time and produce of all kinds are wanted along the line of the work. The company is evidently in earnest and almost before the people of Jackson county know it the workforce will be among them. To illustrate the difficulties they are laboring under we will state that they have a large force of Chinese building a wagon road down Cow creek from Redfield for the purpose of hauling supplies etc. over, and they will be obliged to build nearly 20 miles for their own accommodation. TURNER.

NEW WAGON ROAD.

We made brief mention in our last issue, says Crescent City Record, of the fact that W. J. Wimer from Waldo, Oregon, was in town on business connected with the new wagon road project. We had a conversation with the gentleman after the issue of the Record, and learned more of the matter and the plan proposed for the construction of the road. The new survey which Mr. W. has made at his own expense cuts off the heavy grade of the McGrew and Red mountains, being 1100 feet lower than the old wagon road, and will strike the old road somewhere near Rockland. He proposes to bridge the North Fork of Smith river near the above named place, and make several changes in the old road from that place, to cut off the heavy grades and, for the present at least, to strike the coast at Smith river. The distance from Waldo to the North Fork is five miles shorter than the old road, and the distance from the North Fork to Smith river will be somewhat shortened. Josephine county proposes to build six miles of the road, using money in the County Treasury for the purpose, and Mr. Wimer is assured that from two thousand to twenty-five hundred dollars will be taken in toll certificates in Josephine county. The plan to issue toll certificates, although something new and rather a novel way of building the much needed road from Waldo to the coast seems to be feasible, and meets with general approbation among the citizens of Del Norte county, and many will buy stock in this way, who would not subscribe to any of the former roads. In fact, this is no stock at all, but if the road is built the certificates are like bank notes, and Mr. Wimer & Co. will bind themselves before a cent is collected to build the road, and build a good one. The subscription lists at this place are in the hands of Judge Murphy, F. Burtchell, J. K. Johnson, Jos. Clark, and John Miller, and the field notes of the survey can be seen at this office. We think every man woman, and child, who can should buy some of these toll certificates, and if the parties holding them do not wish to travel the road the certificates can be sold to those who do.

The S. F. "Examiner," and some of the Oregon Democratic papers, cannot realize the fact that Oregon has been carried by the Republicans, and stubbornly refuse to concede anything except the Congressman. It is a surprise not anticipated, to be followed by a similar one in California next November. So thinks the Yreka "Journal."
