STAGE TERMINUS .- Division Superintendent Carll of the O. & C. Stage Co., informs us that it is not probable that any more changes will be made in the terminus of the stage line from Myrtle Creek this winter. They could change to Riddleburg soon, but as there is not much difference in distance between Canyonville and the other points they can make closer connection on the old road than on the one just established between Canyonville speak. and Riddle.

AN UGLY ACCIDENT, -S. B. Grubb, says the "Tidings," met with a painful and serious accident last Thursday. He was coming down the mountain from Deal Indian with a load of timorses, and by some accident to the brake the horses were started on the run. Mr. Grubb kept his place on the wagon for sometime, but was finally thrown off in front, and two wheels ran over him, just across the pit of the stomach. His internal injuries are of a serious character, and have kept him in great pain, but at last reports from the doctor he was resting much better, es and mules. with prospects favorable for improve-

NEW COURT HOUSE - During the session of the county court this week we had the pleasure of viewing the design for the Court House as submitted by the architect, G. E. Payne, of Ashland. The structure is to be brick, two stories high, 62 feet in length and 90 feet wide and is to cost $30,000. It is to be located in the court house square on the site where the old building now stands and work will be commenced on the foundation immediately after the contracts are let next Saturday. The court room will be 68x40 feet and will be located in the second story of the building. The lower story will be used as offices by our county officia's, the Clerk and Sheriff taking the two front during which time the store of E. Jarooms. Next Saturday's bids will only be for the excavation and construction of the foundation and the sale and the removal of the old building and contracts for the remainder of the building will be let at the November term. The drawing shows that it will make a fine appearance.
