> RAILROAD BUSINESS. -There are now 115,000 miles of railway in the United States, which, reduced to fair values and excluding "watered stocks" have cost, with the equipment, more than $5,000,000,000. This sum is more than one-tenth of the value of the plied with. whole property of the people of the United States, including private lands, and more than one fifth of the whole capital which the products of labor have placed upon the land. In 1881 If we publish telegraph reports, folks the railroads employed in operating the roads and in construction 1,600,000 persons, equal to a seventh part of the male adult population of the United States. In the same year they paid out $450,000,000 for wages and material. These figures show the very great importance of railway property in this country, and the vast demand for labor which its service creates. In 1881 the railroads of the United States moved 350,000,000 tons of freight.
