

PROVIDENCE IN OREGON.

"I never advise a man to leave his own town," he said to a small crowd surrounding him at the Union Depot the other day; "but if any of you are bound to change locations, Oregon is the country to go to. I am on my way back there, and there is nothing you can ask about Oregon that I can't tell you."

"How's the climate?" "Superb. It's never too hot nor cold. Providence watches the weather out there like a hawk."

"Lots of injuries?" "Yes, but they can't do any damage. Providence always gives the settlers ample warning, or else leads the red men into a trap."

"Some hard cases out there, aren't there?" "Not very hard. When a man gets too bad Providence kills him off."

"How did you lose your leg?" "The back driver, as the conversation flagged."

"I'll tell you about it. I've mentioned Providence and Oregon in the same breath, and I want to prove that there is a special dispensation out there. I was going up the Delros road to a grist mill one day last September, when I found a four ounce bottle of chloroform on the road. About a mile further on I met a grizzly bear as large as a steer. I had no weapon, and I knew I was boxed up. To run was useless, and no living man ever looked a grizzly out of countenance. I have always tried to make the best of every situation, and when I found myself cornered I opened the bottle of chloroform and inhaled sufficient to make me unconscious. While in this state the bear made a breakfast of my left leg, and I never felt one single twinge of pain."

"There was a sensation in the crowd, and they pressed nearer."

"When I came to, the bear had disappeared, and just at that time the Red Valley coach drove up. Presently two of the passengers had fallen over a precipice, so that there was room made. When we got to Brown's Hill we found a surgeon there who had been chased in by the Indians that very morning, and he fixed me up in an hour. I saw the hand of Providence all through it as plain as I see that hotel over there."

"Did Providence get that cork leg for you?" inquired a hoodlum near the door.

"Certainly it did; I lay in bed two months, and when I took the stage coach for Portland we came across the body of a poor stranger who had been murdered by highwaymen. He had a cork leg and it was my fit. This is the identical leg, and let me add in conclusion that I have not begun to give Providence and Oregon half their just dues."—"Free Press."

The Last Spike.

The report that the day had been appointed and a gold spike and a silver hammer prepared for laying the last rail on the Northern Pacific is stated at the company's office to be premature. Invitations have been issued so far only to the leading stockholders and friends in England and Germany, and the day will be appointed when Vice President Oakes returns, who is now eastward bound. It will be about the 1st of September, as only one hundred miles remain of uncompleted rail communication. The opening ceremonies will be interesting and imposing. The guests will include representatives from England, Germany, federal states and territorial governors, prominent members of the bar, judiciary, railroad, banking, commercial and newspaper fraternities; also London and Amsterdam capitalists and Wall street men. The distinguished company are expected to go through the Pacific. Rufus Hatch's Yellowstone excursion, via the Northern Pacific, it is stated, will be no part of the opening exercises, but a separate affair in the interests of his Yellowstone park scheme and will occur about the 1st of August, at which time the Yellowstone branch of the Northern Pacific will be opened.

Exchanges.

We sat together, discussing the "Tidings," from Ashland, and the "People's Cause" in general, when a "Courier" from Shasta arrived, bringing the news that a "Redding Independent" had raised the "Democratic Standard," and, assisted by a "Redding Democrat," had silenced the "Republican Free Press;" a "Scientific American," who was present, remarked that the editor of the "Tribune Journal" was a good collector; that subscriptions were dunned and bills "sent-in-el" to be collected. Our "Examiner" from Lakeview concurred, and, knowing that in Union there is strength, and bias being closed we proceeded to "Post" our "Journal."—"Yreka Tribune."

NOTICE.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: STATE OF OREGON: OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE, Salem, Oregon, April 30, 1888.

The following act of Congress is published for the information of all persons in this state interested therein: "AN ACT to extend the time of filing claims for horses and equipments lost by officers and enlisted men in the service of the United States, and for other purposes: Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the time for filing claims for horses and equipments lost by officers and enlisted men in the military service of the United States, which expired by limitation on the thirty-first day of December, eighteen hundred and seventy-five, be, and the same is hereby, extended to one year from after the passage of this act; and that all such claims filed in this state interested therein: Sec. 2. That all claims arising under the act approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-nine, entitled 'An act to provide for the payment of horses and other property lost or destroyed in the military service of the United States,' and all claims amendatory thereof, which shall not be filed in the proper department within one year from and after the passage of this act, shall be forever barred, and shall not be received, considered or audited by any department of the government."

Approved, January 9th 1888. It is known that many persons resident in this state, who served in the various Indian wars, as well as in the war of 1861 '63, lost their private horses and equipments in such service. The act above quoted gives all such persons one year within which to file their claims for such losses. Attention is called to the following provisions of this law:

1. Losses in any of the Indian wars in this or any other states or territories will be paid, as well as losses in the war of 1861 to 1865. 2d. Losses by officers, enlisted men, scouts guides all other persons actually engaged in the military service are within the provisions of this law. 3d. This law extends to all losses in any manner, not the result of the soldier's own fault or negligence, and includes losses in battle, by capture, for want of forage, by over heating, hard usage, accidents of all sorts, disease, theft by deserters, from forced marches, or from any other cause arising in the line of military duty. 4th. The time for filing these claims expires on January 31st, 1888, and all such claims not presented to the proper departments of the United States by that date, will be barred; but if the application is filed prior to January 8, 1884, the proof necessary to comp the claim may be filed at any date thereafter.

I have received from Washington a supply of the necessary blanks to be used in making applications, which will be furnished without charge to anyone desiring them.
