He wanted him to look upon girls as the noblest affairs that ever lived, but he added, "If a girl ever wants to have her ear bit, and you feel as though you could do the subject jus nce, and I hear of your going around he block to get away from her, I will tan you with a boot leg." The bad boy had lots of fun with the girls, and could tell the difference between a good one and a bad one a block off, while the good boy would blush and tremble in the knees at the sight of a piece of calico. The bad boy's father told the bad boy that there was such a thing as whisky, which was good enough in as place, but a mighty poor thing to tie to, and told him not to feel as though he was liable to become a drunkard if he smelled of a bottle, but to let it alone on general principles. The bad boy tasted of whisky and it burned his inwards, so he said he agement, is furnishing the best brands guessed he didn't want any more of bottle without apologizing.

What is a "Dude?" Now and then a new word thrusts tself into the Eog ish language, without bringing credentials of good character or honest parentage. Such a word is "dude." No one knows whence it came, or how it got where it is; but it has come to stay, on this side of the Atlantic. The word is not, strictly speaking, a slang word, but eems to have been manufactured to designate those American dandies whose peculiarities may be summed up in the one word, "passivity." The "dude" is an eye-glassing wear ing animal, addicted to tight fitting clothes, flashy neckties and banged hair. He gets his nourishment through the head of a cane, and ejaculates feebly, at certain intervals, "Aw," "Yaas," and "Gwacious?' Two specimens of the dude family met in Centrai Park, New York, and somebody overhearing their conversation reported t verbatim: "Good mawning?" "Good mawning?"

Bangs on a girl give her an unruly look, like a cow with a board over her face. You take the gentlest cow in the world and put a board over her face, and turn her out in a pasture and she gets the reputation of being unruly, fences and raise merry Hades, and you wouldn't give so much for by $10 only for beef. It is so with a girl. If she wears her hair high on her forehead, or brushed back, or, even has frizzes, and has a good look, you will go your she is as good as gold, and that when him, there is no discount on it, and no with her front hair banged, and when could exist without his making a fool she looks at you, you feel just as though she would hook, and you can't trust her. She has a fence jumping look that makes a young man feel as though he wouldn't feel safe unless she was tred hand and foot, so she couldn't get out of the pasture. A girl with bangs may try to be good and true, but it is awful hard work. When she looks at herself in the glass and sees the quarter of an inch of forehead sha says to herself; "I am dangerous; they want to look out for me." She thinks she is all right, but she is constantly doing that which a girl who wears her hair brushed back would never think of doing. The bang girl may belong to the church, and may try to put on a pious look while the hyun is being read. But she will look out from behind those bangs sidewise at some meek and lowly young Christian who is trying to get his mind fixed on the hymn, and he will get his mind on her, and it will break him all up, and he won't know whether he is singing "A Charge to Keep I Have" or "She's a Daisy." The bang girl may place her bangs down on the back of the pew ahead of her during the morn prayer, and try to be good, but her corset will be to tight, and as she buches around to ease the pain one eye-will rise like the morning sun over the back of the pew, and that eve will catch the eye of the young man two eats to the right, who is trying to cover his face with one hand while he tries to keep the flies off the pomade on his hair with the other and his interest in the prayer is knocked into a hat. The banging of a girl's hair

> The Western Union Company has low over 130,000 miles of telegraph ines, and over 375,000 miles of wire. In other words, its wires is long nough to go fifteen times around the world and to tie a good knot in the ad of it. It has more than 12,000 ffices, and it sent last year over 35,-000,000 messages. Its receipts in 1882 were $17,114,66, and its profits more than $7,000,000. Ten years ago it had only in round numbers 65,000 miles of line, and its profits were less than $2,700,000. Then it made 15 cents profit on every message it sent, now it makes 18. The capital stock of the Western Union is $80,000,000 and it has exclusive contracts with the international cable companies, o_i crating eight Atlantic cables. In comparison with it the other companies are nothing. The Mutual Union Company has only $10,000,000 stock, and only 8,000 miles of line. The American Rapid has $4,000,000 stock and 800 miles of line; the Baltimore and Ohio 2,800 miles of line; the Postal felegraph Company 1,000 miles, and the Banker's and Merchants telegraph has only 280 miles of line, and its stock is only $1,000,000.
