of that party had never been trailed in the dust. The States of Illinois and the present, was neminated in response to the popular demand. He then requestion, the tariff and the persecution of the Jews in Russia and declared that when elected he would make the American citizen respected abroad while he received protection at home. W. W. Bishop was next introduced and devoted himself almost entirely to the tariff, introducing a great number of figures taken from the last census and declaring that the census of the Democratic party would result in throwing 17,000,000 of people out of employment.

He was followed by H. K. MeJunkin, ex-District Attorney who also addressed his remarks chiefly to the tarif, which he said was the great issue of American politics at the present only been temporarily overshadowed by thequestion of slavery and the war. Every attempt of Congress to tinker the tariff had been followed by a financial crash and the success of the Democratic party would be fatal to the industries of the country. It was useeas to shut out Chinese immigration and let in the goods which Chinese elsewhere, and the opposition to Blaine led by Curtis of New York, was only move in the interest of importers who desired to drive out American

This will vastly more than make up for the loss in Boston.

General Logan.

A Washington dispatch says Gen. Logan appeared in the senate on the morning of the 9th, promptly at the opening hour, healthy and good natured. He received congratulations on his nomination for vice-president, and replied to all joking comments with vigor, laughing at the others' jokes as his own. He was shaken firmly by the hand by Democratic members, and received their jocular predictions of his defeat with smiles. Logan has recovered entirely from the nervousness which overcame him last week; that was due, it is said, to an day, as it had been since 1789, having alleged understanding between Blaine and Logan, or between Logan and Wm. Walter Phelps, which is the same thing, looking to his nomination for president. The truth is, Blaine didn't want the nomination, and if Logan had developed sufficient strength in Republican states to give him a substantial following, the Blaine men at Chicago would have combined with the could be employed to manufacture Illinois de egation and nominated Legan. It was the consciousness that he was almost at the realization of his greatest ambition that caused the black warrior to become so nervous last week. > Work on the Oregon Short Line bridge across Snake river is progressing as rabidly as high water will permit. The distance from the bridge to Huntington, the intended point of junction with the O. R. & N. is about four and a half miles. The track will follow along Burnt river, which will be crossed four times. These smaller bridges are now in process of construction. Trains over this great transcontinental line will be running into Portland, it is anticipated, about the first of October.
