Business College.

While in Portland last week we visited the Portland Business College, ing to free trade in the unsatisfactory conducted by Prof. A. P. Armstrong as principal, with J. A. Wescoe as pen man and secretary. The College is situated on the corner of S-cond and for a "tariff exclusively for public Yambill streets, and occupies the third story of the building, affording the students entire freedom from noise, and securing to them letter light and more perfect ventilation than it would be possible to obtain nearer the street. while it is convenient to all the leading hotels in the city. The first large room on the landing is occupied by the Prof. and secretary as an office. and is handsomely and elegantly for nished with all the conveniences and appliances of modern art, and most conspicuous among the decorations Republican standard. It was, no are the specimens of penmanship by doubt, a clear comprehension of this Prot. But the people will school room, and also the writing department, communicate directly with the office, enabling the Prof. to give it with success, as they have always bis personal attention to the students done since the war .- "News." while attending to the business of the College, which in its self is assuming such proportions, as to require the constant supervision of an experienced person. During a short vacation last year Prof. Armstrong visited Heald's Business College and other prominent institutions of learning on the coast, in order to obtain the most improved methods and plans, and has had the furniture designed and manufactured under his own supervision, for the purpose of making the Portland Business College in every way especially adapted to the comfort, and necessities, of the students. The gentlemens' dement communicates with fite back ing and exchange department, the sadies department and writing department and are so arranged as to give each the advantage of perfect light and careful ventilation, and are the neatest and most convenient suit of school rooms on the coast. The Prot. gives his assistance when re quired in procuring suitable boarding places for students from abroad, and sends semi-monthly reports to parents and guardians of the progress and depart. ment of students. The school term continues throughout the year with day and evening ressions. The evening sessions are largely attended many students following a regular business during the day and improving the opportunity to obtain a splendid business education without any loss of time. The enterprise and energy of Prof. Armstrong are meeting with deserved success financially although it seems to be his sole aim to secure to the patrons of the college the best eduestional facilities regardless of expense, Prof. Armstrong was born in Jackson county and by the most patient perseverance and industry has reached having served an 8 years apprentice ship as a teacher in the common schools the corner stone upon which must rest The moral sentiment of the Business College is second to none and we heartily recommend it under the careful and capable management of Prof. Armstrong and his efficient corps of assistants to those desiring to avail

IRISH AMERICAN DEMOCRATS WHO WILL VOTE FOR BLAINE.

NEW YORK, July 21 .- The second gun in the war of Irish American Democrats against Cleveland was fired at Clarendon Hall yesterday afternoon. Elward J. Rowe, a member of the Tammany General Committee, was chosen President. After congratulating the assemblage on the increased attendance, Rowe called upon the members for expressions of sentiment. Patrick Logau, President of way Association, and a Democrat of thirty years' standing reponded, saying THE STAFF OF LIFE! that he voted for Cieveland for Gov enor, believing he was an anti-meno olist. Cleveland's record, said the speaker, proved that he was anything ut a friend of the honest workingman and struggling business man. He ad vised every man having the good of he nation at heart to vote for Biainc. Other speakers followed in the same ein. There were present 198 Dem perats, thirty one Republicans and nine laboring mea. During the past week the following Irish papers came out for Blaine and Logan: The "Irish World," the 'Irish Nation," the "Tablet," the "Freeman's Journal," all of New York; the 'American Celt" of St. Louis and the Celt" of D. nver, Col.

The lies regarding Mr. Blaine do not diminish in number or virulence. The latest is that he was mixed up with the Star-route frauds. And this in the face of the fact that while be was Secretary of State the most vigorous prosecution of the Star-route swindlers was made by the Adminis tration. It will be remembered, too, that the journals supporting the Star routers were constant in their assaults upon Mr. B'aine.
