

OREGON SENTINEL.

JACKSONVILLE
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1884.

Democratic Tribute to Blaine.

THE BRILLIANCY OF THE FIGHT HE MADE FRANKLY ACKNOWLEDGED.

There is but one comment on Mr. Blaine's defeat—"He made a gallant and a brilliant fight!" Millions of freemen voted against him. Hundreds of thousands labored and schemed and contrived to compass his overthrow. A score of the most distinguished and influential Republican journals in the country and many scores of Republican leaders succeeded from their party and lent their efforts and their influence to the cause of the Democracy. Never before in this history of our politics was there a Presidential candidate so terribly handicapped by his race. Handicapped by his personal and official record; by the bitter animosities of powerful men within his party; by the Independent movement; by the mischievous folly of such friends as Rev. Barstow; by every conceivable element of weakness Mr. Blaine yet made a contest which was picturesque in its exterior aspects, bewildering in its brilliancy and startling in its narrow approach of success. The campaign is over and the result is known. Mr. Blaine is beaten. There is no longer any doubt as to the facts of the case. But he lost by the thinnest margin ever developed in a national struggle, and the winner may be pardoned for his labored breathing and his reactionary tremor.

Looking back on it all, one can see how small a thing would have turned the scale the other way. Suppose Mr. Beecher had remained neutral or continued his adherence to the Republican party, and Mr. Beecher's ward had given its usual vote; suppose Mr. Barstow had not made that silly speech which insulted and alarmed thousands of honest citizens! Suppose Mr. Blaine had not antagonized the stalwarts of New York in 1881 and made sullen neutrals of Arthur, and Platt! Suppose Mr. Conkling had exerted himself even in his own county (Oneida), which gave Garfield 1,906 majority in 1880, and gave Cleveland 28 majority in 1884. Suppose any of these contingencies, and the result would have been the effect upon the result.

The fact that Mr. Blaine handicapped as he was, weighted as he was with his record, antagonized as he was by the best and most respectable elements of his own party, hampered by injudicious friends and desperately opposed by implacable enemies—Mr. Blaine surrounded and embarrassed by such frightful disadvantages, lost the race by the narrowest margin. The wonder is not that he was beaten, but that he came so near winning. Any other man similarly circumstanced would have been hopelessly distanced. Mr. Blaine lost by a neck. His bitterest opponent freely recognizes that he made a superb fight. They know and they acknowledge that his magnificent intelligence, his matchless address, his dazzling eloquence, his immeasurable courage, brought him within a hair's breadth of achieving the victory.—New Orleans Times-Democrat, (Dem.)

The Right Kind of an Accident Company.

Seven years ago when THE UNITED STATES MUTUAL ACCIDENT ASSOCIATION of the City of New York was organized it promised an aggressive campaign against extortionate rates for accident insurance, and the rejection of just claims for indemnity and death losses upon strictly technical grounds. It has kept its promise, and by furnishing sound accident insurance at extremely low rates and adjusting its losses on a basis of fairness and justice, has built up a membership of twenty thousand, and carries to day an insurance of One Hundred Millions of Dollars.

THE UNITED STATES MUTUAL ACCIDENT ASSOCIATION has adjusted and paid honorably and promptly over four thousand claims amounting to nearly half a million dollars, at a cost to its members of only one-half the rates charged by stock accident companies, and invites all who appreciate honesty, economy and fair dealing to join its ranks. $5000 policy with $25 weekly indemnity costs members of preferred occupations only $13 a year, which may be paid at one time or by assessments as they are made.

To become a member write for Circular and Application Blank, and when received fill out your application, inclose $5, and forward it to JAMES R. PITCHELL, the Secretary, at 320 Broadway, New York, on receipt of which a policy will be promptly forwarded to you.

Run on a Bank.

Reames Bros. are receiving a fine assortment of Fancy and Dry Goods, Hats, Clothing, Boots and Shoes, and finest assortment of LADIES CLOAKS that has ever been brought to this market. All of which they are selling at prices that defy competition.

The Griswold Case Again.

Under the above head there is an article in the "Oregonian" of the 5th instant which requires a little correction. It is untrue that the government ever received $31,000 or even $14,000. It is untrue that Dowell desires or ever desired "the last pound of flesh." But it is true Dowell, from the beginning of this controversy to the present time, was and is willing for Griswold to pay back into the treasury the amount he took out of it against the affidavit and protest of Dowell, fraudulently. A little upwards of $31,800 has been made out of Griswold's property, but only a little upwards of $13,000 has ever been returned to the treasury.

Dowell proposed for Griswold to pay back the amount he had fraudulently abstracted from the treasury before the action was commenced against him. Dowell believed then and now believes Griswold received upwards of $20,000 fraudulently from the treasury. During the pendency of the action at law and before the last trial, the testimony was so strong of the fraudulent character of these claims, that the attorneys for Griswold in his presence and hearing, filed in writing in the case an admission that $16,614 of the claims were fraudulent, but denied Griswold knew of it at the time he received the money. Two juries have found him guilty of knowing they were fraudulent at the time he received the money from the government, yet up to this time only a little upwards of $13,000 has ever been returned to the treasury. The balance of the $31,000 it took to pay the expenses to compel him to retain any part of it. When Griswold returns to the treasury the amount his attorneys admit was taken fraudulently from the treasury, without any interest, and the costs of the litigation Dowell is willing for a compromise. He had a chance to return the money before these suits were instituted. He still has a chance to do it. In the judgment of Dowell he could do it and then have $50,000 to support him in his old age.

Dowell never intends to present any claim to congress, but he protests against the government making any compromise until Griswold pays the costs of the litigation and the amount fraudulently abstracted from the government against his affidavit and protest. Such is an encouragement for more thieves to buy up a clerk or clerk and rob the treasury, like Griswold did, of thousands of dollars.

Republican papers all over the country are more convinced than ever of the treachery of St. John, and make no bones of accusing him of selling out body and soul to the Democracy. The price was $35,000 and $50 for every speech. It seems, however, that he didn't get all his money, as the campaign fund gave out, leaving the apostle of temperance among the creditors.
