

OREGON SENTINEL

JACKSONVILLE

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1885.

GRAND JURY.—The following is a list of the grand jurors empanelled for the February term of the circuit court: Robt. A. Cook, foreman, G. W. Isaacs, Austin Bink, C. B. Matney, W. W. Erb, H. G. Myer, Benj. Beall. The jury is making excellent progress, but will be in session days yet, as a great deal of business has presented itself. A number of indictments have already been found, to-wit: Against John Crimmon; assault with a dangerous weapon. Against Geo. Waller; assault with a dangerous weapon. Against Lee Grigby; assault with intent to kill. State vs. Richard Kingsley; indictment for an assault with a dangerous weapon.

THE SILVER CORNET BAND.—The Silver Cornet Band under the leadership of Prof. Schmitt is making rapid improvement. It is composed entirely of young men, some of them school boys, and their quiet gentlemanly deportment reflects credit on their leader as well as themselves. One of the governing principles of their organization is, that they shall never drink any intoxicating beverages while on duty and although they are frequently offered liquid refreshments this rule is strictly adhered to. The band furnish music for all beneficiary entertainments gratuitously, and play frequently at private houses, always leaving the most favorable impression by their uniform courteous and dignified course of conduct, and Jacksonville is justly proud of the Silver Cornet Band.

SOLD THEIR PORK TOO SOON.—Southern Oregon hogs in great numbers came to the packing establishments in Portland and East Portland during the early part of the winter, says the "Oregonian," although the price was not high when the deduction of freight charges was made, and now the farmers of that section, who were so anxious to dispose of their pork in the first place, begin to realize that they have made a slight mistake. The cry comes up from Roseburg that there is a dearth of hams, at which the packers of Portland are convulsed with an overpowering joy. Hams and sides of bacon had accumulated in the packeries here, and there was no hesitancy in announcing that the supply would be equal to the demand. The farmers of that section are now engaged in figuring up how much they could have made if they had waited a little longer and sold their hogs to home dealers, who are now paying profits to packing establishments here, as well as freight both ways over the O. & C. And a paper down there sees once more in all this the grinding hand of the Portland monopolists, without ever stepping to think that a little more enterprise at home would have remedied the whole matter.

SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED.—Several days since parties at Eagle Point made complaint against Frank Bills for selling liquor without a license and also for keeping open on Sunday. On the first charge Bills was bound over to appear before the grand jury when defendant furnished bonds and was discharged from custody. A second charge was brought against him—that of keeping open on Sunday—to which defendant pled not guilty. After preliminary steps had been taken in the case Bills concluded that he could get out cheaper by pleading guilty to the charge and did so by offering to pay the costs in the case and also to settle up any fine the court might impose. Our informants—of which there are three—say that Justice Foley refused to accept the plea of guilty, saying that the case had gone too far and nothing remained but to try it. Defendant had no other recourse, the trial went on and the result was that he was acquitted and discharged. At the next term of county court a bill will of course be presented for the costs in the case but we enter our protest right here against its payment. Our information comes from good men, residents of the section named, and their names will be furnished on application.

May you live 48 years more, Tip, and may they all be as happy as the birthday just spent.
We have been informed that Mr. Nickel, of the "Times," has been indulging in some rather uncomplimentary remarks concerning the editorial staff of the SENTINEL, being probably aware that this court can't convict him on hearsay evidence. We do not choose to resort to his questionable method of private attack, but if he will in future make his epigrammatic assertions through the columns of the "Times" we will be most happy to pay our respects to him and as there are two sides to the question Bro. Nickel can be safe for once in taking both or either and be sure he will get his money's worth. Sabr.

The man who distributes the mail on the cars, between San Francisco and Reading, had better never make a trip through this part of the world. All mail for Lake county is sent around by the way of Ashland, and is from four to six days longer getting through than it would be were it to be sent direct by Bieberg. Our southern mail lines might just as well be discontinued entirely, for we never get any mail matter by that route. A petition to cut the Pacific coast stage line down to one trip per week would be in order, and also another petition to increase the western to a daily mail.—"Lakeview Examiner."

Petrified better in the latest novelty in town. One of our better looking physicians started home with a roll of the Jersey product the other day, but on the way stopped at Matthews & Chitwood's drug store and left the better lying on the counter for a time. Starting home in a hurry after his waiting dinner, he snatched up the roll and carried it home to his wife with the boast that he had some of the best butter made in Rogue River valley. The lady soon placed the article upon the table, but to the M. D.'s astonishment it had been transformed into the exact semblance of a brick bat. The chemicals in the drug store effected the change, it is supposed.—"Tidings."

George Schumpff and Miss Ella Berry were married at the Catholic Church last Wednesday morning by Rev. F. X. Blanchet. They were attended at the altar by Mr. James Little and Miss Celia Orib as bridesmaid and groomsmen, and many of the friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the marriage ceremony. A reception took place at their residence in the evening, where the many friends of the newly married pair extended their congratulations. The Silver Cornet Band serenaded them and all were invited to partake of choice refreshments. We join with Mr. and Mrs. Schumpff's many friends in wishing them long life and happiness in their new relation of husband and wife.

Secretary Carlisle, of the Portland immigration bureau, of the 9th inst., "ticked eleven people, all intending settlers, to various points in Southern Oregon. Two of these were Mr. R. A. Stannard and wife, recently from Texas. For a number of years Mr. Stannard has been engaged in the experimental as well as the practical culture of rice and cotton, and believes that these will thrive best in what might be called semi southern climates. Of late he has been studying the climate of Southern Oregon, and he believes that around Medford is land exceedingly suited to the growth of rice, especially of a certain variety, which he had great success in raising in Texas. Mr. Stannard is a quiet, pleasant and intelligent man who asks no aid from any one in his plans, but with money enough to carry them out proposes to give both rice and cotton a fair trial near Medford.

Upon petition of R. Koehler, Judge Deady made an order in the case of Lawrence Harrison and Lawrence Baker vs. the Oregon and California Railroad Company, modifying the order appointing him receiver of the O. & C. R. R. The receiver is authorized to borrow the sum of $106,000 for six months at not to exceed 10 per cent, to pay for 2,200 tons of steel rails and other railroad material which was heretofore contracted for with W. H. Starbuck, by said O. & C. R. R. Co, said receiver to issue certificates to the lenders, paramount to the mortgages in plaintiff's bill of complaint. The receiver is also authorized to sell such old iron and condemned material as is proper. And it is further ordered that all sums advanced by said receiver since his appointment for payment of wages and supplies for said railroad previous to his appointment shall constitute a lien paramount to all other liens.
